The great old Irish houses, the proud old Irish names.
Like stars upon the midnight, today their luster gleams;
Gone are the great old houses, the proud old names are low
That shed a glory o'er the land a thousand years ago;
But wheresoe'er a scion of these old houses be
In the country of his father, or the land beyond the sea,
In city, or in hamlet, by the valley, on the hill
The spirits of his brave old sires are watching o'er him still!

PREFACE

The recorded history of Ireland stretches over six thousand years during which the great events of Irish history affected the people in a profound way. The early history of the Irish people and the living conditions imposed on them by invaders had a great impact on our ancestors and therefore on us. Where we live now and how we live now was influenced by the thoughts and actions of those who came before us.

This story only covers the last two hundred years (1800-2005). The paper trail that they left us gives us some idea as to who these folks were, how they lived, and how their environment shaped their characteristics, thoughts and lives.

It is interesting to follow the evolution of our family, which started as an agricultural group. The ability of family members to engage in manufacturing, medicine and the law was enhanced by their chances to get an education. Their opportunities to make a better living had an impact on our lives today.

In 1993, I attended a wedding, during which I was asked to write the history of our family. My second cousin, David M. Foley, Ph.D., gathered much of the data on our early family history while studying for his doctorate in England in 1955. He shared his research with me and it is included in this story with his permission. Another second cousin, Harriet Fealy Foley, also encouraged me to tell the story of our side of the family. She and her husband, Thomas Foley, have written a book on "The Foleys of Clare County" and have done extensive research on the Fealy family. Harriet and Tom Foley are leaders in the Warren County Ohio Genealogical Society and have assisted me in research in their area. Also, they helped direct me where to write to find data and how to interpret it.

A third source of genealogical data is the Fort Wayne Public Library's genealogical research center. It is fascinating to explore the data they have on our families and their activities over the years.

I have been fortunate to have known many of the people included in this story that have lived since 1900. Some of my encounters with them were brief but rewarding. As one dear aunt expressed it, "We come from good stock." I hope that you who read this agree.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

No story of the family could be told without the help of many individuals who shared their data and pictures. A profound thanks to the Foley Clan who gave me help. Support was given by David M. Foley, Donald W. Foley, Harriet Fealy Foley, Marilyn Stanley Evans, Robert E. Foley and Ella Mae Sherwood Wollert.

Credit for Ancestry and Lineage of Hannah Ann Greely, The Foley Coat of Arms, Descendants of John C. Foley, The Foley Sept and Heraldry, and other research goes to "A Genealogy of The Foley Family" compiled by David M. Foley, Ph.D of Charlotte, North Carolina.

I did employ these professional researchers: Adrain Roberts of Wilmington, Ohio; Dwight Radford of Salt Lake City, Utah; Lee Dickenson of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. The following family members contributed information: Kimberly Kippax of Hagar, Ontario, Canada, Pat Borden of Brighton, Michigan and Louise Lawarre of Cincinnati, Ohio. All provided me with family research data which was not available locally. To all I express my gratitude for making this story possible.

Thanks to Roselyn Wells, the current President of the DeKalb County Indiana Genealogy Society for her editing, typing and organizational help.

I also express my thanks to my wife, Jane, for her encouragement and to Carolyn S. Foley, Patricia Foley Schon, Carol W. Foley, Mary Foley Hemperly, Cecilia Hemperly and Alison Hemperly for their typing and organizational skills.

EARLY IRISH HISTORY

EARLY IRISH HISTORY

Earliest records of Irish history are lost in antiquity. The Island is thought to have been inhabited for more than 7000 years. The first Irishmen were tall, broad-shouldered men with red hair and fair complexions. These characteristics are clearly discernible to this day. The first inhabitants were fishermen and farmers. By 2000 B. C., the first metal workers arrived in Ireland where they found deposits of copper and tin, of which they made bronze tools and utensils. They lived in relative peace until 500 B. C. when the Celts from Germany invaded the island. They changed the life style of the people for many centuries by forcing changes in language, religion, and customs. By the fifth century A. D., Christianity had arrived and again changes occurred. The country was ruled by area chieftains and they were often at war with each other. By the second century, the chieftains had divided Ireland into five kingdoms or "fifths." They were Connacht, Leinster, Munster, Ulster and Meath. With the exception of Meath, all survive as districts to this day. The last of the high kings or "Ard Ri" is recorded as follows:

1. Hermon, First King of all Ireland
2. Ugane More, 300 B.C.
3. Laogare Lord
4. Eocha Feliogh, 14 B.C.
5. Lugha Riadearg

12. Art Feliogh, A.D. 220
13. Cormac Ulfada, A.D. 248
14. Carbi Luficir, A.D. 264
15. Fiacha Srabrhini, A.D. 298
16. Muiedach Tireach, A.D. 320
17. Eocha Moy Beagon, A.D. 353
18. Brian, King of Connaught A.D. 941-1014 founder of the Clan O'Foghladha (later anglicized into Foley)

During the seventh and eighth centuries, Ireland was free from outside invaders, but during this time, the various kings warred among themselves. This weakened Ireland and made it vulnerable to the Vikings who raided the country from 795 A. D. to the middle of the tenth century. These Norsemen ruled Ireland until the later half of the tenth century. Several Irish Kings, led by Mathgamain and Brian, his brother, raised an army and defeated the Vikings in critical battles. King Mathgamain was killed in 976 A. D. and was succeeded by Brian who was considered the greatest of all Irish kings. He was called Brian Boru which designated his birthplace. He rebuilt old monasteries and established new ones. Manuscripts and other Church artifacts were traced and restored to their rightful owners. Brian had one last battle with the Norsemen on Good Friday in 1014. His forces routed the Norsemen of the Dublin-Leinster Alliances. Brian himself, too old to fight by this time, was left inexplicably unguarded in a tent behind the lines and was slain by a fleeing Norseman. His death was mourned throughout Ireland and he was buried with great ceremony beside the high cross of Armagh Monastery. The two centuries of Viking domination in Ireland had not been without good points. The most significant benefit to future generations of Irishmen was the building of major cities such as Dublin, Limerick, and Cork, which were all established as flourishing ports by the Norsemen.

One of Brian's most important contributions to the Irish was the establishment of hereditary surnames. Brian made the use of surnames compulsory. He introduced patronymics, (i.e. Mac, meaning "Son of" and O, meaning "Descendent of." Because of this ruling, it is possible to trace Irish names today.

Barely 150 years after Brian Boru had put an end to the Viking dominance in Ireland, the country was invaded by the Normans. The Normans ruled Ireland until 1172 when King Henry II of England conquered Ireland and forced all the smaller kingdoms to submit to his rule. Due to poor rule by the English, the Normans again invaded and by 1250 controlled nearly all of Ireland. The Normans learned something about their Irish neighbors, the Irish loved to fight among themselves. The main weaknesses of the Irish attempts at defense were a backward attitude towards military tactics, inadequate weaponry and armor. Initially, the Irish believed that, although on foot, their fighting spirit plus wooden sticks, clubs, and spears would carry the day against armored sword-wielding men on horseback. They lost quite a number of battles before learning to work together and to adopt the more modern ways of their invaders. Mercenaries from Scotland arrived around 1250 and helped defeat the Normans. In 1317, the English again invaded and subdued the Normans and the Irish. 1541, King Henry VIII had convinced the Irish rulers that, by accepting English style titles, peace could be had by all, and Henry became King of Ireland. When Queen Mary I became sovereign in 1553, the Irish rejoiced that Papal authority was again restored. Seven years later, when Elizabeth I became Queen, the Protestant religion again became the rule and Ireland was once again torn by religious conflict. A long list of English-appointed rulers tried to rule the Irish and nearly all failed. By 1700, the English supported Presbyterians had control of the Irish Parliament. Over a period of thirteen years, they issued a series of laws that rendered the Irish majority powerless to control their own destiny. The majority Catholic population of the South and the Episcopalians of the North were forced to conform to the English church or were impoverished by subdivision. The Catholics in general were barred from trades and professions, education, office, (great or small), juries, the electoral vote, the right to bear arms and a horse. These laws were designed to reduce systematically the Catholic land holdings and power. Ireland was now governed by a despotic government in Dublin, but controlled from Westminster. These crippling conditions fostered a deep and bitter hatred by the Catholics for the English rule which endures to the present day. These penal laws forced many Irish to seek a better place to live and work. Between 1680 and 1730, more than 120,000 Irishmen enlisted in foreign armies looking for a better life. Living conditions for the average Irishman were appalling. By 1827, many were suffering from living in filth and nastiness, from their miserable dress, lacking shoes or stockings for their feet, from a poor diet, consisting of buttermilk and potatoes and from housing so poor that an English hog-sty was more convenient. These conditions imposed by high rents and the cruel treatment by the English made the Irish look like a defeated people who had given up hope. By 1800, concessions were made and the penal laws were finally repealed. The increasing Catholic middle class had achieved some prosperity and wanted full emancipation. The next step for Ireland was inspired by the American Revolution, and the Irish sought to establish Ireland as a republic. Younger Irishmen rallied and formed organizations to promote the Irish independence movement. This continued for the balance of the 1800's.

The population of Ireland had doubled between 1800 and 1840.

Famine-scarred Irish care about all hunger.

Potatoes have been a staple of the diet of the masses since it was brought to Ireland at the end of the 16th century. A crisis hit Western Ireland in 1845 when the potato crop, upon which the Irish had become dependant for the very existence, failed due to blight. More than half of the crop was lost. The blight lasted for several years and it was estimated that starvation and disease was responsible for more than one million deaths. The winter of 1846 to 1847 was the worst winter ever recorded. "Black 47," was the worst year of the Irish potato famine. "The Great Hunger" was the most searing event in Ireland's long and sad history.

Both the Irish and English governments' slow attempts at famine relief were disastrous. These conditions led to the greatest exodus of the Irish to countries like the United States, Canada, Australia, and England. Nearly four million Irish died or emigrated between 1840 and 1850.

It was the last big famine in Western Europe and the greatest loss of life in the century between the Napoleonic wars and World War I. When a wind-borne fungus wiped out the potato crop, the Irish began to die of yellow fever, dysentery, typhus, and starvation. They ate dogs and rats, often dog and rats that had already eaten human corpses. The roadways were littered with bodies of people with green stains around the mouth, from eating grass as a desperate last meal.

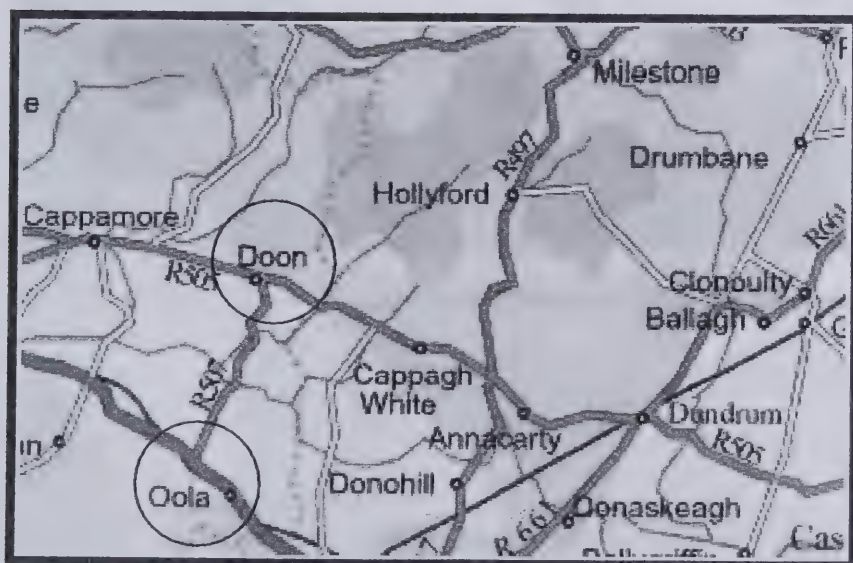

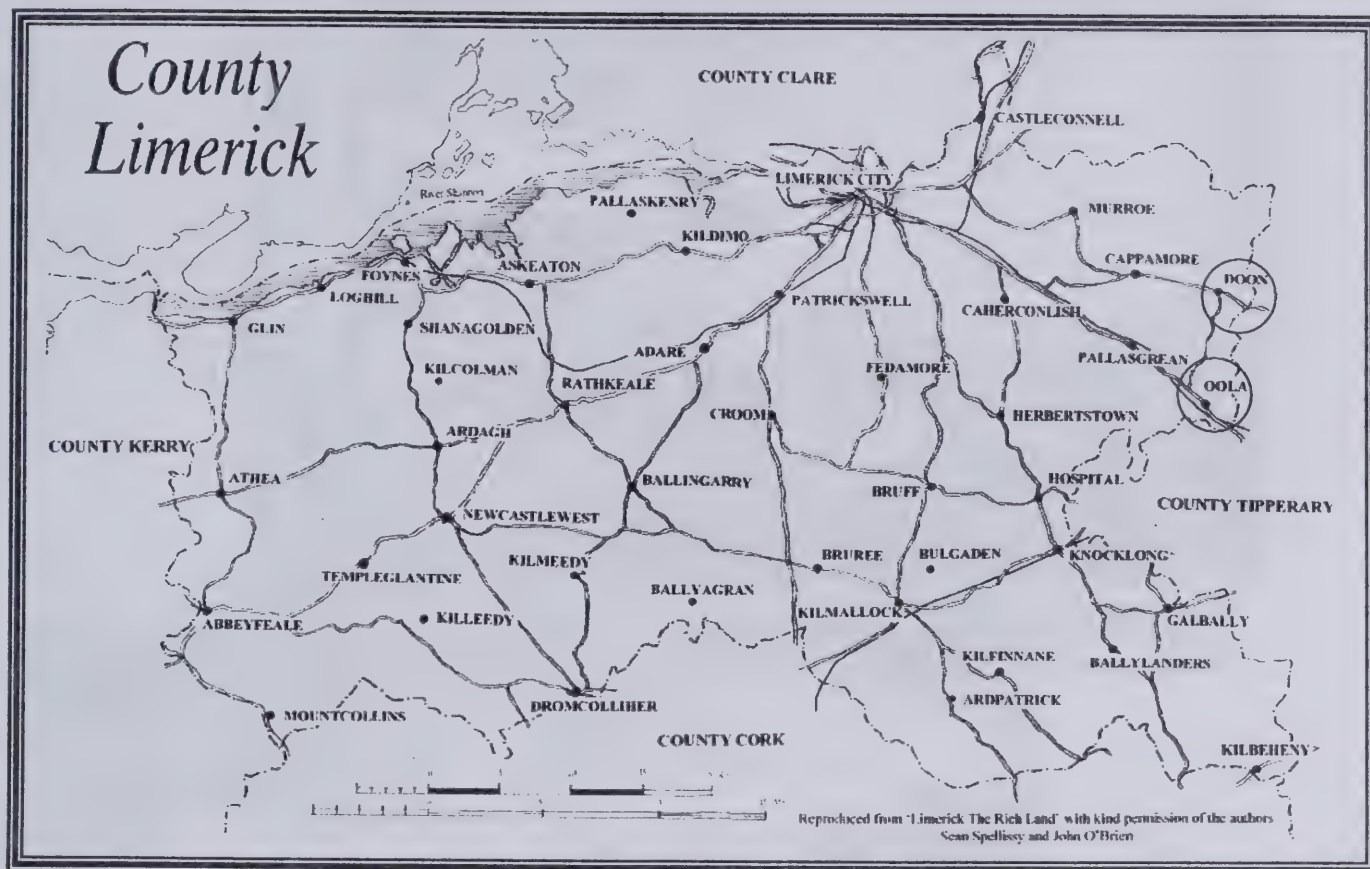

In the beginning, the British made many honest attempts to help stop the famine. Later, politics and what we would today call "compassion fatigue" sealed the fate of the Irish. New York State has just passed a law requiring public schools to teach about the famine, and some of those who lobbied for it wanted the teachers to say that the British intentionally tried to kill off as many Irish as possible. It's fairer to say that rescue efforts, often halting and grudging, were colored by a hands-off free-market philosophy and the fact that the Irish were a despised people in a captive society, semi-enslaved for 600 years, and therefore regarded as primitive, stupid, and hopeless.

The voyage that brought the dazed and starving Irish to America was a cross between the scramble of the Haitian boat people and the middle passage of African slaves. Fever broke out, but there were no medicines. The stench of excrement filled the holes. The Irish were jammed in like cordwood, gaining a bit more room as dead bodies were heaved overboard. During one storm, 178 immigrants were shoved down among the cattle, where half of them quickly suffocated. If crosses and tombs could have been placed on the water, an American official said at one time, the Atlantic would look like a huge cemetery stretching from Ireland to America.

It was during this period of famine that over 1,000,000 Irish men and women immigrated to the United States. Most of these immigrants were young energetic men, the very life-blood of Ireland. It was in these conditions that our family fled. They looked towards America as the closest thing to heaven on earth. Among those who left home, parents, and loved ones was the progenitor of our family, John C. Foley.

Oola, anciently Ulla, or more correctly Ubbla, means an orchard. The name comes from the word Abhall, which is nearly identical with the English word Apple, and is also a distant relation, so to speak, of the Latin Pomum and its French derivative Pomme.

Coat of Arms

Sine Labe, Nota

Granted to John Foley, Esquire
By Fortescue of Ulster, 1793

The Foley Sept and Heraldry

A coat of arms is a shield, or escutcheon, marked in such a manner so that it distinctively represents an individual or family. Badges and emblems were displayed on the shields of knights as a mark of identification, for their faces were, of course, completely hidden from view when clad in armor. During the reign of Henry V of England, a proclamation was promulgated which forbade the assumption of armorial devices by individuals without the consent of the royal herald. Prior to this time, custom alone was the regulator of these symbols. No doubt this action by King Henry was motivated by a desire to prevent confusion, for without this central authority, it was possible for two men to assume identical badges.

Heraldry was not in general use in Europe until the period of the Crusades. It must be remembered that heraldry was a by-product of the feudal system. Feudalism was never dominant in Ireland, and therefore only those Irish families which came under Anglo-Norman feudalistic influence assumed a "coat of arms." No doubt the O'Foghladha sept, far away in the West of Ireland, used an emblem of some type, probably changeable at the whim of the current chieftain. The Irish Foley family never possessed a "coat of arms" in the sense that we understand that term.

Mention should be made that many commercial firms that supply paintings of coats of arms frequently submit as the arms of the Gaelic Foley family, arms which were originally granted to the English Foley family, or the arms which were assumed by members of this English family who had moved into Ireland. The arms of the English Foleys are blazoned: "Argent a fess engrailed between cinquefoils sable all within a bordure of the last. Crest: A lion rampant argent, holding between the forepaws an escutcheon charged with the arms. Supporters: Two lions argent, semee of cinquefoils sable. Motto: 'Ut Prosim'." The members of the English Foley family who had moved to Ireland bore an adaptation of these arms but assumed a different crest. They did not record a motto. Their arms are blazoned: "Argent a fess engrailed between three cinquefoils sable. Crest: A griffin rampant gules, winged, beaked, and legged or." This blazon is recorded by Burke as "Foley of Ireland," yet it must be remembered that these are not the Gaelic Foleys. A drawing of the above blazon frequently accompanies sketches of the O'Foghladha Clan. This is, of course incorrect.

Another coat of arms sometimes encountered is that granted to John Foley, Esq. by Fortescue of Ulster in 1793. It is blazoned: "Gules a chevron between three pheons points downward, argent a bordure of the last charged with eight roses of the first. Crest: A demi lion rampant gules holding in the dexter paw a pheon point upward argent. Motto: 'Sine Nota Labe' ." This coat of arms may be used only by the descendants of the man to whom it was granted.

Our Lineage

Charlemagne
Portrait by Albrecht Dürer.

Charlemagne
King of the Franks and Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire
742-814

“He was six feet four inches tall, and built to scale. He had beautiful white hair, animated eyes, a powerful nose... a presence always stately and dignified.” He was temperate in eating and drinking, abominated drunkenness, and kept in good health despite every exposure and hardship.”

--Eginhardt (The King's secretary) describing Charlemagne

Charlemagne (Charles the Great) was born on April 2, 742 in Northern Europe. “By the sword and the cross,” he became master of Western Europe. Through his enlightened leadership the roots of learning and order were restored to Medieval Europe.

In 768, when Charlemagne was 26, he and his brother Carloman inherited the kingdom of the Franks. In 771 Carloman died, and Charlemagne became sole ruler of the kingdom. At that time the Franks were falling back into barbarian ways, neglecting their education and religion. The Saxons of northern Europe were still pagans. In the south, the Roman Catholic church was asserting its power to recover land confiscated by the Lombard kingdom of Italy. Europe was in turmoil.

Charlemagne was determined to strengthen his realm and to bring order to Europe. In 772 he launched a 30-year military campaign to accomplish this objective. By 800 Charlemagne was the undisputed ruler of Western Europe. His vast realm encompassed what is now France, Switzerland, Belgium, and The Netherlands. It included half of present-day Italy Germany, and parts of Austria and Spain. By establishing a central government over Western Europe, Charlemagne restored much of the unity of the old Roman Empire and paved the way for the development of modern Europe.

On Christmas Day in 800, while Charlemagne knelt in prayer in Saint Peter's in Rome, Pope Leo III placed a golden crown on the bowed head of the king. Charlemagne is said to have been surprised by the coronation, declaring that he would not have come into the church had he known the pope's plan. However, some historians say the pope would not have dared to act without Charlemagne's knowledge.

Charlemagne learned to read Latin and some Greek but apparently did not master writing. At meals, instead of having jesters perform, he listened to visiting scholars read from learned works. Charlemagne believed that government should be for the benefit of the governed. He was a tireless reformer who tried to improve his people's lives. He set up money standards to encourage commerce, urged better farming methods and worked to spread education and Christianity.

Thomas Dudley came to New England in 1630, sailing from Yarmouth, April 8, 1630, in the ship 'Arbella' three hundred and fifty tons, carrying 28 guns and 52 men, and arriving in Salem on June 12, 1630. He was deputy governor for 13 years, governor in 1634, 1640, 1645 and 1650, and assistant five years. He served 4 years as major-general, under appointment by the general court in 1644. As member of a special committee of 12 men appointed by the general court, he favored establishing a college at Cambridge, and as governor signed the charter of Harvard College in 1650.

Governor Dudley vigorously opposed the doctrine preached by Rev. John Cotton that the secular government should be subservient to the priesthood. Cotton Mather said of him: "He was a man of sincere piety, exact justice, gave hospitality to strangers and liberality to the poor."

Bay Colony

Biography of Thomas Dudley

Thomas Dudley was the colonial governor of Massachusetts, was born in Northampton, England, in 1576, possibly a member of the elder branch of the family to which Robert Dudley, earl of Leicester, belonged. He was the son of a country gentleman of some means and was captain of an English company in a French expedition of 1597. He eventually became the steward of the earl of Lincoln's estates, which he managed with great success for many years. Having been converted to Puritanism, he associated himself with other Lincolnshire gentlemen who in 1629 entered into an agreement to settle in New England provided they were allowed to take a charter with them. This proposal the general court of the Massachusetts Bay Company agreed to, and in April 1630, Dudley sailed to America in the same ship with John Winthrop, the newly appointed governor. Dudley himself at the last moment had been chosen deputy governor in place of John Humphrey (or Humfrey), the earl of Lincoln's son-in-law, whose departure was delayed.

Dudley was for many years the most influential man in the Massachusetts Bay colony, save Winthrop, with whose policy he was more often opposed than in agreement. He was deputy governor in 1629-34, in 1637-40, in 1646-50, and in 1651-53, and was governor four times, in 1634, 1640, 1645 and 1650. Soon after his arrival in the colony he settled at Newton (later Cambridge), of which he was one of the founders. He was also one of the earliest promoters of the plan for establishment of Harvard College. Winthrop's decision to make Boston instead of Newton the capital precipitated the first of the many quarrels between the two, Dudley's sterner and harsher Puritanism being in strong contrast to Winthrop's more tolerant and liberal views. He was an earnest and persistent heresy hunter. Not only the Antinomians, but even such a good Puritan as John Cotton, against whom he brought charges, felt the weight of his stern and remorseless hand. Dudley was an able man with business and managerial ability, and was devoted to the public interest. It was from him that New England Puritanism derived some of its harshest aspects. He was a strong believer in aristocracy and thought that the state should enforce religious conformity. He was dogmatic, prejudiced, austere and unlovable; he dominated the community by sheer strength of will. He died at Roxbury, Mass., on July 31, 1653.

Biography of Anne Dudley Bradstreet

Anne Dudley Bradstreet (1612-1672), was the first important American poet. She is best known for The Tenth Muse Lately Sprung Up in America, a collection of her poems. This work was the first volume of original poetry written in the American Colonies. It was published in London in 1650.

The poems in The Tenth Muse deal with science and with Bradstreet's moral and religious ideas. However, her best poems describe home life in colonial New England. They include "Contemplations" and "On the Burning of Her House." Bradstreet also wrote sensitive poetry to her husband and children, including "To My Dear and Loving Husband" and "Meditations Divine and Moral."

Anne Dudley probably was born in Northampton, England. She married Simon Bradstreet when she was 16 years old. They settled in the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1630.

Biography of John Winthrop

John Winthrop (1608-1682) was a Puritan governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. He was born in Edwardstone, Suffolk, England, of well-to-do country people. In 1602, he went to Cambridge University. He married at 17, practiced law, and became devoutly religious. In 1629, he became governor of Massachusetts Bay Company, and in 1630, he sailed to Salem on the Arbella. About a thousand settlers followed him. Taking over the government from John Endecott, Winthrop soon settled Boston. He helped establish a Congregational church, and led the colony through the first hard winter. He was governor almost continuously until his death.

Winthrop's principles were high, and he tended to be aristocratic. In any community, he said, "the best part is always the least, and of that part the wiser part is always the lesser." Yet he knew how to be lenient, as where he "cured" a thief of stealing from his woodpile during a cold winter by telling him to help himself. He took part in all the major affairs of the colony, such as forming the New England Confederation. A statue of him represents Massachusetts in the U. S. Capitol.

Through the line of his mother, MILDRED WARNER, CAPTAIN WASHINGTON was the 14th generation in descent from KING EDWARD III, of England, and a descendant of the EMPEROR CHARLEMAGNE.

The Descendants of Hannah Ann and John Conway Foley

John and Hannah had four children, Mary, George, William, and Jenny. Mary Foley married Charles Sherwood and they remained in Warren County. George married Catherine Fealy and removed to Springfield, Ohio. Their son, William, died at the age of 18. Jenny married John Mellor and moved to Green County, Ohio. Jenny died in 1883, after only a few years of marriage. It is interesting to note that she is not mentioned in her father's will, written in August, 1899.

John Conway Foley died at the home of his daughter, Mary at 9:00 p.m., December 24, 1903, aged 76 years 10 months, and 22 days. His wife had already passed away on October 11, 1897, and his eldest son, George, had died unexpectedly three years later in 1900. Since Jenny had also died (in 1883), John was survived only by his daughter, Mary.

John Foley had become a well known and respected member of the community. This is documented in the newspaper accounts following his death. One article states, "He was a man of keen perception, accurate judgment, and powerful decisions. A most energetic and persistent worker, with executive ability which assured success, he was very intelligent, improving such advantages of education, as his age and condition offered, he became well informed and was interesting and instructive in conversation. He inherited from a very pious mother a tendency to morality and religion. He was prompt in all business transactions and strictly honest. He was of charitable disposition, answering the needs of the unfortunate.

Our Progenitor, John Conway Foley

On February 2, 1827, a son was born to William and Honora Conway Foley in their home in the village of Oola in County Kerry, Ireland. Oola is a village on the County Limerick! County Tipperary border. Baptized John, he was the eldest son of his parents. William and Honora were blessed with six other children, Edward, William, Thomas *, Catherine, and Margaret.

Although nothing is known of his early life in Ireland, there is reason to believe that his parents left Oola when John was still a small child and settled in County Tipperary, for an old newspaper account of his younger brother states that Edward Foley was a "Tipperary boy." We may surmise that the family had slowly become impoverished under English rule. John probably had little or no formal education, for the penal laws did not permit Catholics to become teachers. What little education Catholic children received was snatched in bits from the famous "hedge schools" conducted by priests and educated laity at the risk of their lives. Instead of classrooms, these children had only the fields of Ireland.

The occupation of Ireland by the English for so many years and the enforcement of the penal laws saw the proud and happy Irish become desolate and poverty stricken. Many families were driven from their lands, and those who retained their farms as tenants

* The younger boys also left their birthplace. All three settled in Toronto, Canada. Edward became First Superintendent of Construction for the city waterworks. William also worked at the Toronto waterworks as a foreman. Thomas formed a plaster construction firm. Their descendants live today in Canada and the United States.

Stephen and Margaret came to Clinton County, Ohio from South Carolina about 1810. They established a farm southeast of Blanchester, Ohio and raised their family. References to Stephen are found in 1825 and 1827 when he gave consent to daughter, Nancy, to marry Joseph Taylor and to his son, John, to marry Mary Mulford. He is listed in the 1840 census also. After Stephen's death in 1847, the farm was bought by daughter Jane and her husband, Gustavis Greeley. As part of the sales agreement, Margaret continued to live with Gus and Jane Greeley's family until her death in 1863 at the age of 85. She was unable to read or write and listed her birthplace as South Carolina.

GREAT GREAT GREAT GRANDPARENT: Andrew Greeley

MARRIED: October 10, 1828 at Morrow, Ohio, to Jane Osborne, daughter of Stephen and Margaret (Harkness) Osborne. Jane was born Jan. 10, 1803 at Morrow, Ohio and died April 20, 1876 at Blanchester, Ohio.

CHILDREN: Hannah Ann (b. Nov. 23, 1829 d. Oct. 11, 1897), Elizabeth (b. Feb. 21, 1832 d. Jan. 13, 1855), Gilman (b. Sept. 1, 1834 d. Oct. 9, 1851), Mary Jane (b. March 10, 1837), Morris Osborne (b. March 21, 1839), Stephen (Jan 3, 1842 d. 1863), Margaret (b. Feb. 8, 1844 d. Sept. 7, 1851), Daniel (b. April 22, 1848 d. April 29, 1848)

Gustavis Adolphus was born at Gilmanton, New Hampshire to Gilman Greeley and Hannah (Sanborn) Greeley. He was the oldest child and had six brothers and three sisters. He was seven years of age when his mother died in 1814. His father was married a second time in 1815 to Betsey V. Thompson, the daughter of James and Hannah (Carter) Thompson. The Greeley family is able to trace their family history back to King Charlemagne of France. (Ref. Genealogy of the Greeley-Greeley Family by George H. Greeley; published by Frank Wood in 1905 at Boston.) Gilman Greeley's family came to Morrow, Warren County, Ohio about 1818. They raised their last five children there. Gilman and Betsey Greeley moved to Hazelton, Iowa about 1840. Gilman died on December 12, 1859 in Hazelton and Betsey died on March 6, 1862. Both are buried in Hazelton.

Gustavis courted Jane Osborn of Blanchester, Ohio and married her on October 10, 1828. She was the oldest daughter of Stephen and Margaret (Harkness) Osborn. The Osborns owned an eighty acre farm southwest of Blanchester. Gustavis probably worked on the farm after his marriage. When Stephen Osborn died in 1847, Jane and Gustavis started to buy the farm.

Records of Gustavis and Jane Greeley are found in the 1850, 1860 and 1870 Census of Clinton County, Ohio. The 1876 atlas of Clinton County records that Gustavis Greeley taught the first school in a log house built on a hill southeast of Blanchester. The school, built around 1850, was two miles south of his farm.

Court records from 1847 to 1854 show Gustavis and Jane Greeley bought out the shares of Jane's brothers and sisters in the estate of Stephen Osborn. The farm consisted of seventy-nine and three-quarters acres divided between the widow and seven children. Jonas Osborn and Elizabeth Osborn sold their interest for $50.00 on May 13, 1847. James and Ester (Osborn) Bryant sold their interest for $66.00 on March 9, 1848. Joseph and Nancy (Osborn) Taylor sold their interest for $50.00 on May 8, 1848. John and Mary Osborn sold their interest for $66.00 on April 21, 1849. Morris and Elizabeth Osborn sold their interest for $68.29 on December 14, 1853 and Gideon and Mary (Osborn) Disbrough sold their interest for $50.00 on February 11, 1854. The total cost was $350.29 for the seventy-nine and three-quarters acres, an average of $4.39 per acre. The Greeleys agreed to provide care for Jane's mother, Margaret, for the balance of her life. Gustavis and Jane purchased additional land until they had eight-four acres, as shown on an 1876 atlas map of Marion Township.

Gustavis and Jane had a large family, consisting of four girls and four boys. Regrettably, only Hannah Ann and Mary Jane lived past thirty years, married and had children.

Gustavis and Jane's first child, Hannah Ann, was born on November 23, 1829. The family continued to grow with the additions of Elizabeth on February 21, 1832, Gilman on September 1, 1834, Mary Jane on March 10, 1837, Morris Osborn on March 21, 1839, Stephen on January 3, 1842, Margaret on December 4, 1844 and Daniel on April 22, 1848. Tragedy followed the birth of Daniel as he died on April 29, 1848 at the age of seven days. He is buried in Second Creek Cemetery in Clinton County. It is about a mile north of the Greeley farm. Margaret died on September 7, 1851 at the age of seven years. Gilman died the following month on October 9, 1851 at the age of seventeen years, four months and eight days. Both are buried with their brother at Second Creek Cemetery, along west fence line.

Hannah Ann was married to John Conway Foley by the Reverend James E. Johnson on October 23, 1854 at the home of her parents. A copy of the marriage license was found.

Elizabeth died on January 13, 1855 at the age of twenty-three years. She is also buried at Second Creek Cemetery.

Mary Jane was married to John F. Patton by the Reverend Asahel Gribby on July 21, 1858 at the home of her parents.

Grandmother Margaret H. Osborn died on September 28, 1863 at the age of eight-five years and twenty days.

With the Civil War being fought, the sons Stephen and Morris were caught up in the cause. Stephen enlisted as a private on February 26, 1864 for three years in the 79th Infantry Regiment Company I at the age of twenty-two. He was wounded on May 14, 1864 in the Battle of Resaca, Georgia and died on May 21, 1864 in the General Hospital at Lookout, Maryland. He is buried there.

Morris enlisted as a private in the 175th Infantry Regiment Company G of the Ohio Volunteers. This unit was organized on October 11, 1864 under Captain William P. Wolf. They fought in the Battle of Franklin, Tennessee on November 30, 1864. Morris was captured and taken south to Andersonville Confederate prison and died as a result of disease. He was never heard from again.

The 1870 Census lists Gustavis Greeley, age 62, farmer with real estate value of $5040.00, personal property of $540.00. Jane Greeley, age 66, housewife, unable to read or write, and with them was Angus Dewese, a hired farm hand. He probably was the son of M. Dewese who owned a thirty acre farm west of the Greeley's.

With both surviving daughters married, the Greeleys lived on the farm until Jane Osborn Greeley died at the age of seventy-three years, three months and ten days on April 20, 1876. She died of lung fever. Gustavis lived exactly three years longer and died on April 20, 1879 at the age of seventy-two years, seven months and twenty days. Both Gustavis and Jane are buried in the IOOF Cemetery west of Blanchester, Ohio.

Gustavis died intestate and, as his only living heirs, Hannah A. (Greeley) Foley and Mary Jane (Greeley) Patton divided the estate. The eight-four acre farm was sold on December 2, 1879 for $2,750.00, an average of $32.73 an acre. Gustavis had paid $4.39 per acre in 1853.

John F. Patton was the son of Robert and Rachel (Kelly) Patton of Level, Ohio. He married Mary Jane Greeley on July 21, 1858 at the home of her parents, Gustavis A. Greeley and Jane (Osborn) Greeley. Their family lived at Mainville, Ohio in 1859 and by 1874, the family had moved to Washington, Ohio. He was a farmer. They had three children: Emma (b. August 4, 1859); Albert (b. January 28, 1863); and Minnie (b. November 24, 1874).

Emma married William Barr on October 21, 1881. She died on March 27, 1883. Albert married Alice B. Carnes (b. March 19, 1863), the daughter of Robert and Margaret J. (King) Carnes of Springfield, Ohio, on May 19, 1887. Minnie lived in Washington, Ohio, until her death on July 28, 1897 at the age of 23.

Mary Jane (Greeley) Patton died on July 5, 1901 at the age of 64. John F. Patton died on August 22, 1924 at the age of 92. Albert Patton died on August 23, 1924 at the age of 37. All are buried on the IOOF Cemetery at Blanchester, Ohio. Greeleys and Pattons are in Lot 30. Osborns are in Lot 47.

DESCENDANTS of THOMAS + JANE FOLEY

WILLIAM FOLEY

DOB: 1795

DOD: 1850

AGE: 55

OCCUPATION: Farmer

SPOUSE: Hannorah Conway Foley (b. 1792 Doon, County Limerick Ireland d. January 20, 1879 at Toronto, Canada)

MARRIED: 1821

CHILDREN: Catherine (b. 1823), John Conway (b. 1826 d. 1903), Edward (b. 1831 d. 1906), Thomas (b. 1833 d. 1902), William (b. 1835 d. 1892), Margaret (b. 1837)

Records of family activities 1800 to 1850 in Ireland are very difficult to locate. Most records start at 1864. The baptismal records of the Parish of Solohead/Oola list William and Honora as parents of six children from 1823 to 1837. Oola is a very small village in County Limerick approximately 10 miles North-west of the city of Tipperary County, Ireland. Farming, sheep and cattle raising seem to be the main activities there. We suppose William engaged in farming. In looking for data on the Foley family, we secured the services of a professional genealogist who specialized in Irish research. He was Dwight Radford of Salt Lake City, Utah. He reported that according to Griffith's Primary Valuation, the 1851 tax records of the Civil Parish of Oola, Honora Foley rented 26 perches with a house and garden from the Earl of Portarlington. Twenty-six perches would equal a lot 50 feet by 140 feet. Since Honora's name appeared without her husband, he was probably deceased by then. Also of interest was the name of James Foley on the 1851 tax rolls. James was listed on the tax rolls until 1883. James Foley (1789-1879) died at age 90 in the district of Tipperary. He could have been a brother to William. Griffith's tax records for Oola show the names of the neighbors and friends of the Foley family who also served as baptismal sponsors. There were several Kirby families, Quinnlesk, and Gubbins on the list. The records of Oola show James Foley lived at #2a; John Quinnlesk at #11. Bridget Quinnlesk at #16 and Honora Foley at #19. The landowner of all of Oola was the Earl of Portarlington.

If the death of William Foley occurred about 1850, the Hannah lived at Oola until 1857. At the urging of her sons, she immigrated to Toronto, Canada in 1857. "Nora" lived with her sons and helped care for them. She lived at 32 Lombard Street, Toronto, which was the home of son Edward (Ned). In early January of 1879, she suffered a fall and died January 20, 1879. Her death certificate listed the cause of death as old age and hastened by a fall, the two weeks before. She is buried in the Edward Foley plot #P138a in St. Michael's Cemetery, Toronto, Canada. She was 87 years old at the time of her death.

JOHN CONWAY FOLEY

DOB: Feb. 2, 1826, Oola, County Limerick, Ireland

DOD: December 23, 1903, Warren County, Ohio

AGE: 77

BAPTISM: January 22, 1826 Sponsors were Dermot Kirby and Ellen Kirby

PARENTS: William Foley and Honorah Conway

MARRIED: Hannah Ann Greeley; October 23, 1854. She is the daughter of Gustavas A. Greeley and Jane Osborne.

CHILDREN: Mary Hannah (b. 1855 d. 1948), William Gustavis (b. 1857 d. 1873), George Greeley (b. 1860 d. 1900), Jane Ann (b. 1861 d. 1883)

SIBLINGS: Catherine (b. 1823), Edward "Ned" (b. 1832), Thomas (b. 1833), William (b. 1835), Margaret (b. 1837)

John was the oldest son and probably had little or no education. What little education Catholic children received was snatched in bits from the famous "hedge schools" conducted by a priest and educated largely at the risk of their lives. Due to the English penal law, Catholics were not permitted to become teachers and their children thus received no formal education. John was able to read and write and was considered a bright young man. He left Ireland in 1849 at age 23. He immigrated from Galloway to Boston, Massachusetts arriving there on May 1, 1849 on the ship of Washington Irving.

John and Hannah had four children, Mary, George, William, and Jenny. Mary Foley married Charles Sherwood and remained in Warren County. William died at the age of 18. Jenny married John Mellor and moved to Greene County, Ohio. George married Catherine Fealy and established his residence in Springfield, Ohio.

After 1900, John C. Foley suffered a series of mini strokes and became unable to care for himself. Mary H. took charge of him and Charles and the boys operated the farm. John C. Foley died as a result of a major stroke at the home of his daughter, Mary Foley Sherwood, at 9:00 p.m., December 24, 1903, age 76 years, 10 months, and 22 days. Hannah had passed away on October 11, 1897, his eldest son George had died unexpectedly in 1900, and Jenny had died after the birth of her second child in 1883. John was survived only by his daughter, Mary, of his four children.

The Sherwood family continued to live on the farm until 1907 when it was sold.

MORE INFORMATION ON JOHN FOLEY AND HANNAH ANN GREELY FOLEY

John C. Foley was a small man, but his quick wit and fiery temper more than compensated him for his lack of stature. It was this fiery temper that led to his breach with his religious faith of his youth. Some of the Irish missionary priests, who served so faithfully in the Ohio Valley, were unfamiliar with the conditions which surrounded them. They could not countenance marriage between individuals of different religious faiths, although the actual law of the Church permitted these marriages. A discussion of this problem between one of these priests, whose Irish temper probably equaled John's, led to an argument, which, because of stubbornness between both parties, was never healed. John attended the Methodist, and later the Baptist church with his wife and joined the local lodge of the I.O.O.F.

General Morgan and his Confederate troops invaded Ohio on July 2, 1863. The militia and home-guard units were called into action by Governor Brough. John, in response to his summons, purchased a Colt .44 and set out for Cincinnati to assist in the struggle. John had suffered an injury to one of his legs while working on his farm. This injury caused him to limp, and he rode one of his fine horses to Cincinnati, he was advised to return home since it was felt that he would be unable to participate in a long march.

John became an accomplished farmer and the land which he purchased became a showplace. It was improved to such a state of beauty and fertility and it was known throughout the county. He corresponded with professors of botany and agriculture at Ohio State University for many years, and became a recognized authority on weeds and plant blights. His interests in botany led him to experimentation in grafting fruit trees, with which he was very successful.

John Foley had become a well known and respected member of the community. This is documented in the newspaper accounts following his death and interment. One article states, "He was a man of keen perceptions, accurate judgment, and powerful decisions. A most energetic and persistent worker, with executive ability which assured success. He was very intelligent, improving such advantages of education, as his age and condition offered, he became well informed and was interesting and instructive in conversation. He inherited from a very pious mother a tendency to morality and religion. He was prompt in all business transactions and strictly honest. He was of charitable disposition answering the needs of the unfortunate. He was a wise counselor, and his judgment was often sought by his neighbors. He filled various offices of trust and financial responsibility. He was an honor to his community, a helpful neighbor, a faithful husband, a good father, and a worth citizen."

John Foley allied with one of America's oldest families when he married Hannah Ann Greely on October 23, 1854. The progenitor of the Greely-Greeley family in the United States was Andrew Greele, born in England in 1617. Andrew was one of the founders of the town of Salisbury, Massachusetts, and was named as one of the Prudential Men to govern Salisbury on December 21, 1642. Andrew Greele was one of the first in America to assert the right of the people to petition the court for redress of wrongs. In 1653 he was reported to the General Court for insisting on this right while his case was never called to trial, this action antedates the right of petition in England, and marks him as one of the leaders in the fight for civil liberty in the English colonies.

Another patriot in our ancestral line of the Greely family was Samuel Greely, who, as one of the patriots of Gilmanton, New Hampshire, signed the Association Test of August, 1776. This Act read:

"We, the subscribers, do hereby solemnly engage and promise that we will, to the utmost of our power, at the risk of our lives and fortunes, with arms oppose the hostile proceedings of the British Fleets and Armies against the United States."

Through Hannah Ann Greely Foley the descendants of John and Hannah are descended from many other colonists who settled New England prior to 1650. Among these forefathers were three governors of Massachusetts, John Winthrop, Thomas Dudley, and Simon Bradstreet. Reference to any encyclopedia will disclose their biographies. Hannah Greely is descended from Governor Dudley through four lines.

Other early colonial ancestors of Hannah Ann Greely were:

Tristram Coffin (1605-1681), founder of Natucket Island
John Sanborn (1620-1692)
Robert Tucke (came from Eng., 1636)
Edmund Greenleaf

JOHN C. FOLEY.

Was born in Lemerick Co. Ireland, Feb. 2d, 1827, and died in Warren Co. Ohio Dec. 24th. 1903. being 76 years, 10 months and 22 days old. He learned the shoemakers trade in Ireland, and practiced said trade at night and during stormy weather, long after he adopted farm life in this country. He came to New York when he was about 20 years old, and shortly afterward came West stopping a time in Blanchester Clinton Co. O. thence into Warren County, where he spent the remainder of his years. He was married to Hannah Ann Greely, Oct. 23d 1854, and they settled first with Benjamin Lukins on a farm in Flat-fork neighborhood in which he soon purchased an interest. Selling this interest, he came to the farm where he died, buying and improving it to a state of beauty and fertility, which is known throughout the County. He was the father of two sons and two daughters, three of whom with their mother have gone before him to the Eternal Home. One daughter, Mary Sherwood, and six grandchildren survive to mourn his death. He was a man of keen perception, accurate judgment and powerful decisions. A most energetic and persistent worker, with executive ability which assured success. He was very intelligent, improving such advantages of education, as his age and condition offered, he became well informed, and was interesting and instructive in conversation. He inherited from a very pious mother, a tendency to morality and religion. He joined with his wife and daughter, the Olive Branch Methodist Church about 30 years ago, and attended Flat-fork and Harveysburg Churches after moving into that neighborhood. He was prompt in all business transactions and strictly honest. He was of charitable disposition answering the needs of the unfortunate. He was a wise counselor, and his judgment was often sought by his neighbors. He filled various offices of trust and financial responsibility. He was an honor to his community, A helpful neighbor, A faithful Husband, A good Father and worthy Citizen. He was an honored member of the L. O. O. F. Enjoyed their meetings, practiced their teachings of morality and truth and was every way worthy of these funeral rites, which his brethren have come to perform today

Died

At her home near Harveysburg, Hannah Ann Foley, wife of John Foley, Oct. 11th in her sixty-eighth year. The deceased was the eldest born of Gustavus and Jane Greely and was born in Warren county, O., Nov. 23rd 1829. She was married to John Foley Oct. 23, 1854, and settled in Washington township and moved from there to the more beautiful farm south of Harveysburg, where she lived a happy life and had a peaceful death. She was first a member of Olive Branch M. E. church and afterward the Beech Grove Baptist church. She died a Christian. She was a faithful wife in every particular, a devoted mother, and a most kind and obliging neighbor. She was industrious and thrifty, highly respected, and her death is lamented by a multitude of friends. Mrs. Foley leaves a husband, daughter, son and sister to mourn a heavy loss, and with these the whole community mingle their tears. Her funeral services were conducted Oct. 13 by Rev. A. K. Sargent at the Miami cemetery where interment was made.

JOHN FOLEY.

JOHN FOLEY is dead. Last Saturday they laid him to rest in the beautiful Miami Cemetery. He was not great according to the interpretation of that word, but was a man of staunch character, integrity and fixed purposes.

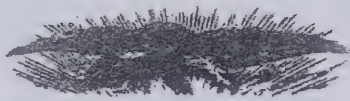

From our acquaintance with him, we would say his educational advantages were extremely limited. When we take this into account, he accomplished much. No one so far as our observation extends knew the whys of farming, as he. He knew the names of the obnoxious weeds which torment and injure the farmers as well as you or I know the names of our brothers and sisters, and was as familiar with their habits and manner of growth in maturing, as he was with the other plants of the farm. The common as well as the scientific name of these were at his tongues end. He had a high standard with his work and affairs, and his farm was always a good object lesson. The sight of a weed filled him with an intense desire to destroy it, because he believed it was wrong for it to be there.

Suppose that he could have had the advantages that you and I have had, and with his bent of mind, look at the possibilities.

He died without fame. But who would not say that his life was a most eminent success.

MARY HANNAH FOLEY

DOB: July 23, 1855

DOD: December 22, 1948

AGE: 93

PARENTS: John Conley Foley and Hannah Ann Greeley Foley

OCCUPATION: Housewife

EDUCATION: 8th Grade Rural Schools

MARRIED: Charles Henry Sherwood, November 12, 1891 at the home of her parents by Rev. John Hisey

CHILDREN: John Foley Sherwood (1893-1959). She also had eight step-children.

SIBLINGS: William, George, Jane Ann

Mary Hannah was the oldest child of John C. and Hannah Greeley Foley. The 1860 census lists Mary as age 5, William as age 3, and George as age 1. In the 1870 census Mary Hannah is 15 and helps mother at home. William is 13 and works on the farm. George is 11 and also works on the farm. Jane is 9 and helps mother at home. Her family life seems to go fine until brother, William, contracts scarlet fever in 1873 and died. The 1880 census lists Mary H. as age 24, daughter and single. George is 21 and a farm laborer. Her sister, Jane, had married in 1879 and moved away.

Mary met and married Charles Henry Sherwood on November 12, 1891. She was living with her parents on a farm south of Harveysburg. Charles was a neighboring farmer and a widower. He had eight children of which four still lived at home. Consequently, Mary started married life with a large family. She seemed to manage well as the family grew. Mary and Charles had a son, John Foley Sherwood, born April 20, 1893. Mary was called upon to help when her mother, Hannah A. Greeley became ill in September of 1897. Hannah died October 12, 1897 as a result of dysentery. Mary and Charles then made arrangements to move into her father's home with their family. Her father, John C. was not in the best of health. He had a series of mini strokes after 1900 and was unable to care for himself. Mary H. took charge of him and Charles and the boys operated the farm. He died December 24, 1903 as a result of a major stroke. After John C. Foley's death, the Sherwood family operated the farm until it was sold in 1907. They then moved into Lebanon, Ohio, where Charles worked as a clerk in a coal yard office. At age 80, Charles was not able to take care of himself and Mary chose to sell out in 1935 and moved in the IOOF retirement home in Springfield, Ohio. Mary was remembered as a small, very talkative woman who was a good story teller. She told Angela Lawarre that Angela's great-great-great grandmother, Virginia Austin, at the age of 6-12 marched with a group of girls who held streamers while carriages passed between the streamers in George Washington's second inaugural parade on March 4, 1793 at Congress Ball in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Charles died in 1936 and Mary continued to live at the Springfield home until her death from cancer, on December 22, 1948 at age 93. Both are buried in Miami Cemetery near Harveysburg, Ohio.

Everett T., 87, a lifetime Warren County resident, died Wednesday, January 15, 1997, at Bethesda North. Born on December 28, 1909 to Roy M. and Ida B. (Nee Haynes) Sherwood, he graduated from Lebanon High School in 1928 and became the owner and operator of Sherwood's Market in Lebanon for 26 years. He was the oldest Past Exalted Ruler of Lebanon Elks Lodge #422, a life member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, a member of the Lebanon F. & A. M. and Lebanon Eagles and enjoyed bowling and fishing. His wife, Katherine, preceded him in death, survivors include daughter Janet Maines of Euclid, grandsons, Kelly and Craig Mains and brother Harold Dean Sherwood and sister Ella Mae Woollard, both of Lebanon, Visitation Sunday, January 19, 2-4 P.M. with Elks service at 3:30 P.M. and funeral Monday, January 20, 2 P.M. all of Oswald-Hoskins Funeral Home, Lebanon. Interment will follow in Lebanon Cemetery. Obituary is from the Cincinnati Enquirer, January 17, 1997.

Ella Mae was the second child of Roy and Ida Sherwood and married Wilbur Woollard (he died 1961). She had lived all her life around the Lebanon, Ohio area. She was worked at the Sunshine Bakery, various show factories, R.C.A. in Cincinnati, Auto-Lite in Sheranville and clerked at several retail stores. At this time, she is a widow and lives alone.

Charles Henry Sherwood was the oldest son of Jonathan and Margaret Terry Sherwood. Jonathan Sherwood was born August 25, 1815 and was married Elizabeth Jeffery on August 20, 1837. They had four children. On April 3, 1851 Elizabeth Jeffery Sherwood died at age 38. On January 23, 1853, Jonathan Sherwood married Margaret Terry. Margaret and Jonathan had four children also: Charles Henry (1855-1936), Morris E. (Feb. 10, 1857-), Anna M. (August 23, 1858-), James W. (November 18, 1860-). Jonathan followed farming for several years and also engaged in the mercantile trade in Freeport. He later sold his interest in the store to his son Francis. Jonathan had been very successful in all his pursuits and it won him friends and success. He was elected Justice of the Peace and was one of the prominent and leading men of the community.

Charles's family is amongst the earliest pioneers to settle in Warren County. His grandfather Thomas Sherwood settled in the area near Cincinnati in 1800.

Charles was raised to farm labor and worked with his father Jonathan. At age 21, he bought his father's interest in a store at Freeport. He soon tired of the store and eight months later sold his interest in the store to his brother, Francis "Frank". He then purchased a farm from Amos King. He again entered the mercantile business at Fort Ancient. He continued both farming and they ran the store for 2 years. His health failed and he sold the store and the King farm. He later purchased a 104 acre farm in Massie Township of Warren County, Ohio.

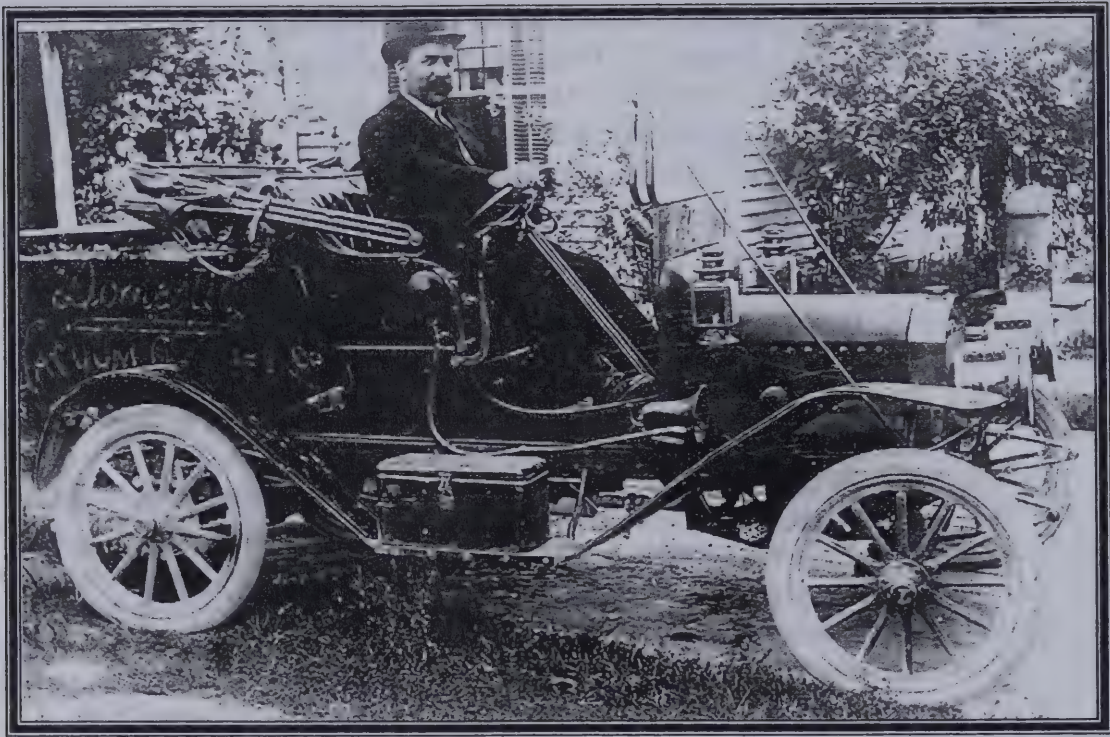

The 1900 census lists Charles H. Sherwood – age 46, farmer; Mary H. – age 44, housewife; Clarence M. – age 19; Guy – age 15; Roy – age 12; and John F. – age 7.

JOHN FOLEY SHERWOOD

DOB: April 20, 1893

PARENTS: Charles Henry Sherwood and Mary Hannah Foley Sherwood

DOD: October 7, 1959

AGE: 66

OCCUPATION: Worked at retail stores. Enlisted in the U.S. Navy during WWI.

John was the youngest of Charles H. Sherwood's children. He was the only child of Mary H. Foley Sherwood, and was only four when his grandmother, Hannah A. Foley died. The Sherwood family then moved in with his grandfather, John C. Foley where they lived until 1907, when he was 14 years olds. The grandfather had died on December 24, 1903 and the farm was left in an estate. It was settled in 1907.

It was reported that he was "spoiled" by his mother, "Mary H.", and his grandfather John C. He was raised as the son of a well-to-do farmer and never seemed to learn the value of hard work. After the farm was sold, the family moved to Lebanon, Ohio, where John found employment at various retail stores. He enlisted in the U. S. Navy during World War I. He achieved the rank of Boswains Mate 2nd Class. After the war service, he returned to Lebanon and worked as a clerk at a hardware store. He became involved with several women and was accused of paternity. He moved to Dearborn, Michigan to escape the paternity charge and worked as a clerk at the Good Housekeeping Shop in Dearborn. He was a small man about 5'5" and weighed 140 pounds with black hair and blue eyes. He died at the Veteran's Hospital in Detroit and is buried beside his mother in Miami Cemetery near Harveysburg, Ohio.

DOB: April 19, 1860

DOD: November 1, 1900

AGE: 40

EDUCATION: Rural schools & trade schools

PARENTS: John Conway Foley and Hannah Ann Greeley Foley

MARRIED: Catherine "Kate" Fealy; September 15, 1881; Waynesville, Ohio by Rev. Francis Augustine Varleyman

CHILDREN: Walter Augustine (1883-1968), John William (1886-1968), George Leo (1888-1978), Edward Joseph (1893-1921)

SIBLINGS: Mary Hannah, William Gustavas, Jane Ann

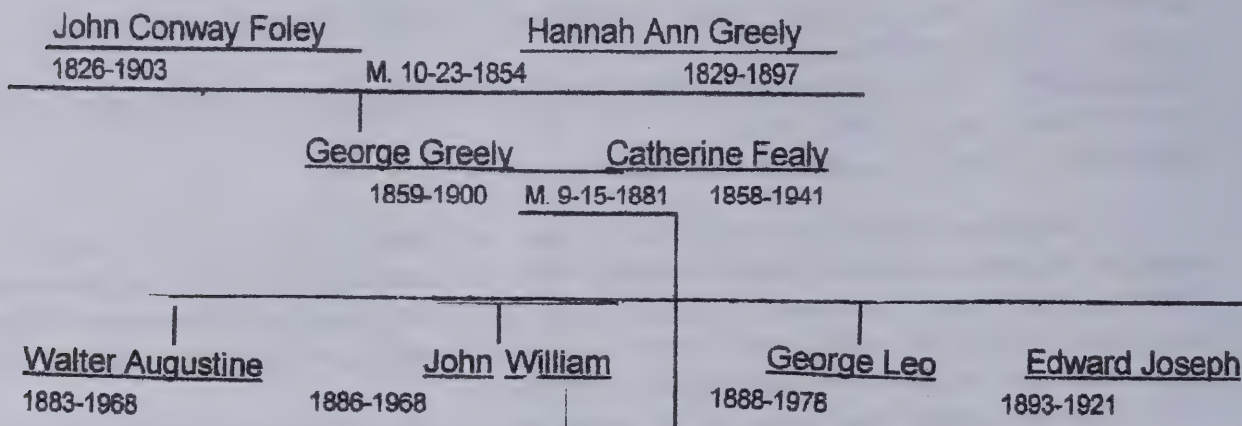

George was the second son of John C. Foley and Hannah A. Greeley. He was born and raised on his parents farms in Warren County, Ohio. He attended rural schools within walking distance of his father's farm near Flat Rock Creek. He is listed on the 1860 census as being 1 month old. The 1870 census records him as age 11 and working on his father's farm. The 1880 census lists him as age 21 and working as a farm laborer.

It was told that from the age of 18 he became very good at wrestling. He and his friends would challenge others to a wrestling contest at social gatherings and county fairs. He won many of the contests at social gatherings and county fairs. He won many of the contests he entered. He was an average sized man about 5'8" tall, 165 pounds with black hair and blue eyes. He was also very good with mechanical equipment and could repair almost anything.

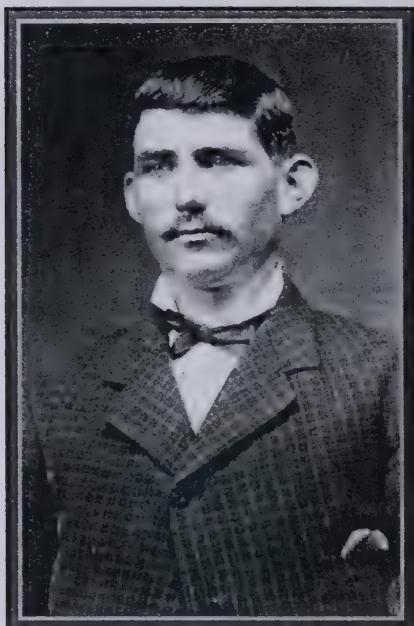

As the only living son of a well-to-do farmer, he enjoyed a good life with good horses and money. The girls of Warren County considered him a good catch. He courted and married Catherine Fealy, daughter of William and Ellen M. Fealy on September 15, 1881 at Waynesville, Ohio. After the marriage, George and Kate moved to Springfield, Ohio where George found employment in the farm implement industry. The 1883 Springfield directory lists him as a wood worker living at Edwardsville. By 1885 he and Kate had purchased a home at 246 West Southern Avenue in Springfield.

Their first son was Walter Augustine, born June 8, 1883. His middle name was chosen by his parents to remember the priest who married them, the Reverend Francis Augustine Varleyman. A second son, John William was born March 29, 1886. He was named after George's father and brother. By 1887, George was listed as a machinist working for Warner-Bushnell Farm Equipment Company in Springfield, Ohio. On June 21, 1888, a third son, George Leo, joined the family. He was named after his father and the Pope in Rome. George Senior was asked to take an additional job for his employer and began to travel to test service equipment in the field. He left Springfield in early May and followed the grain harvest from Texas to the Dakotas. He would sell, demonstrate and repair farm harvesting equipment made by his employer. He returned to Springfield by early September and then worked in the factory during the balance of the year. During the Chicago World's Fair of 1892, he spent several months there demonstrating and selling farm equipment. By 1896, George was listed as a foreman and inspector at Wardner, Bushnell & Glessner Company in Springfield. He no longer had to make the western service trips. Things went well for the Foley family until George suffered an appendix attack in the spring of 1900. The doctors were unsure of the problem and tried rest and cold compression. They finally operated on George on the family dining room table made into an operating area. His appendix had burst and caused infection. He survived the operation but could overcome the infection. He lingered until November 1, 1900 when he died. The death certificate lists the cause as Gastritis-Chronic Colitis-sometimes known as Peritonitis. He is buried at the Calvary Cemetery in Springfield, Ohio. At the time of his death Kate was 41, Walter was 17, William was 14, George was 12 and Edward was 7. His death was a great shock to his family and friends.

ORIGINS OF FEELY/FEELEY/ FEALY NAME

The Legend of the Origin of the Name FEALY

“Fial, the wife of Lewy (son of Ith, the uncle of Milesuis) gave her name to the river Feale in Co. Kerry:

“The legend says that her husband unexpectedly came in sight, while she stood naked after bathing in the stream; and that she, not recognizing him, immediately died thru fear and shame. An Abbey built later on its banks, was called in Irish “Mainistir-na-Feile” i.e. the abbey of the river Feale, which is now called Abbeyfeale, and gives name to the town.”

from Irish Names of Places, by P. W. Joyce, c1910; p. 166 of vol. 1

The Milesians were the early group of Celts from Europe or Spain who invaded and settled Ireland, about 1,000 B.C. (or the time of Solomon).

Ith was sent out first to report on Ireland, but was killed by the Tuatha De Danann, the earlier inhabitants of the Ireland. Ith was the father of Lewy.

Milesius, his nephew, married Scota and they had eight sons. Milesius died in Spain. His wife and the sons invaded Ireland. Five of the sons were killed in a storm. Son Eber landed at Bantry Bay and his followers ruled the southern half of Ireland. Son Eremon landed at the Boyne River north of Dublin and his followers ruled the northern half of Ireland. Their mother, Scota, was killed at Bantry Bay.

Harriet Fealy Foley, April 17, 1999

Know Your NAME by John C. Downing Feely, O’Feely

This Irish name, originally appearing as O Fithcheallaigh, is said to have been derived from the word Fithcheallach—“chess-player.” If so, then the meaning would be “heir, descendant of the chess-player.”

The name was first shortened to O’Fehilly, then to Fihelly, Feeley, Feely and finally to the English Field. Fehilly is pronounced with three syllables.

In earlier times, the O’Fehillys were chiefs of a district in County Cork where the name is now most numerous. Thomas O’Fihilly, alias Field, was Bishop of Leighlin from 1555 to 1567.

In County Kerry, the name is spelled Fealy and pronounced Fay lee.

THE WILLIAM FEALY FAMILY

The William Fealy Family

William Fealy was born near Ballyconry, County Kerry, Ireland, September 23, 1831. He had at least a sister, Margaret, born about 1826, a younger brother, John, born in 1837, and perhaps two other brothers – a priest and a mathematician. Their parents may have been John “Faley” and Catherine O’Connor (from searches of Bridie Flavin of Ballyconry), but this has not been proven.

County Kerry is on the west coast of Ireland, south of the Shannon River. Ballyconry is a small townland in Inagh Barony. It is near Lisselton Crossroads, east of Ballybunion, west of Listowel, and north of Tralee. The River Feale flows from the mountains of Killarney, through the market town of Abbeyfeale and Listowel, then joins with two other small rivers to form the Cashen River before it empties into the Atlantic. The Catholic church for Ballyconry is in Ballybunion, as is the cemetery for our Houlihan and Flavin families.

William immigrated about 1848 according to the 1880 census. He married Ellen Mangan March 22, 1852. Where were they married? The record is not in Warren County or Hamilton County courthouses. It is not at St. Bridget in Xenia which started in 1849. Could they have been married in Ireland, aboard ship, in New York, or elsewhere? Ellen Mangan was born in Ireland November 13, 1833 to Thomas Mangan. Her brothers who were priests – Rev. John Mangan and Rev. Patrick Mangan died at sea according to family legend. Margaret Meenan says her grandmother, Hannah Fealy Kerin said that Ellen was from an important family, and alienated herself forever by eloping in a sail boat with William Fealy, son of a village inn keeper.

William and Ellen settled on a thirteen acre farm on Jonas Run south of Harveysburg in Warren County. (The site is shown in the 1875 Warren County Atlas. In 1900, the Pioneer Village of Caesar Creek State Park is near this location.) Their first child, Hannah, was born on March 11, 1854.

They had ten children: Hannah, John William, Catherine “Kate”, Thomas “Tom” Joseph, Ellen “Ella”, William, Lawrence Augustine, James, Margaret and Mary E.

(1) Hannah Fealy (1854-1932) married John Dee Kerin (d. 1921) on January 14, 1877. They lived in Springfield, Ohio and had five children; Catherine, Walter, William, Ellen L., and Honora.

Catherine (1878-1963), married Mert Hamilton (d. 1950). They had four children.

Walter (1879-1971) married Anna B. They did not have any children.

William (1881-1963) married Mae and had six children.

Ellen L. (1883-1967) married Michael Roach (1872-195?). They had four children.

Honora (1893-1980) married Louis Hoelsche. They did not have any children.

(2) John William Fealy (1857-1929) continued to live on the family farm in Massie Township near Harveysburg. He married Belle Sarah Gray (1858-1951) and had seven children: Mary Edith, Eva Lavina, William “Glenn”, Ellen Berda, Lula Kathryn, John Christopher, Laurence Oscar.

Mary Edith (1884-1978) married Robert Shirden (1882-1980) and had 6 children.

Eva Lavina (1885-1960) married John Gilroy (1885-1941) and did not have any children.

William “Glenn” (1889-1960) married Faye Kelly (1894-1961) and did not have any children.

Ellen Berda (1891-1963) and Ellen was single.

Lula Kathryn (1892-1975) married Willard Bogan (1902-1987) and had two children.

John Christopher (1897-1952) married Sarah Poole (b. 1897). They did not have any children.

(3) Catherine "Kate" Fealy (1858-1941) married George Foley (1860-1900) on September 15, 1881. They lived in Springfield. George died when the youngest was seven. William Fealy died at Kate's house in 1914. They had four children: Walter Augustine, John William, George "Leo", Edward Joseph.

Walter Augustine (1883-1968) married Lillian O'Neill (1885-1964). They had four children. See Walter's biography.

John William (1886-1968) married Lavenia Graham and had one child.

George "Leo" (1888-1978) married Sarah Catherine Bailey. They had one child.

Edward Joseph (1893-1921) married Mary Davoran (d. 1970). They had 3 children.

(4) Thomas "Tom" Joseph Fealy (1860-May 1, 1945) worked for the Milo Hale family where he met their cousin's seamstress Elizabeth "Lizzie" Schoenhardt (1872-January 12, 1953) from Ripley, Ohio whom he married on April 28, 1896. He owned and farmed a 100 acre farm on Center Road on Dutch Creek in Union Township of Clinton County. The house burned in 1908 and Tom rebuilt. In 1916 the land was valued at $5,690, the buildings at $1,210. About 1941, they sold the farm and moved to Spring Street in Wilmington. Tom and Lizzie are buried at Sugar Grove Cemetery in Wilmington, Ohio. They had six children: Ethel Marie, Milo Augustine, Harriet, Leo Edwin, William Albert, Catherine.

Ethel Marie (1897-1973) married Daniel Gleason (1887-1974). They had four children.

Milo Augustine (1899-1983) married Nora Lucile Babb (1902-) and had three children.

Harriet Ellen (1902-1973) married Lloyd Lohrer (1903-1969) and had two children.

William Albert (1907-1984) married Vivian Oglesbee (1916-) and had two children.

Catherine (1912-1990) Sister Martha, Brown Co., OH Ursulines

(5) Ellen or Ella Fealy (1862-1918) married George Romer and they lived in Roseland, California. Ella is buried at Sugar Grove Cemetery, Wilmington, Ohio. They did not have any children.

(6) William J. Fealy, Jr., (1864-1900) married Kathern McCabe. He died of heart trouble on Sunday morning December 23, 1900. He had been a paper hanger and painter, and had worked at Hotel Fealy and in James R. West's drug store. His funeral was at St. Michael's Catholic Church, Greenfield with burial at Hillsboro. His widow took in teachers as boarders. They did not have any children.

(7) Lawrence Augustine Fealy (1865-1939) married Gertrude Wood (1884-1961) on July 11, 1900. They resided near Birmingham, Alabama. He founded the Alturian Society (a church), became their bishop, and wrote several religious books. Lawrence and Gertrude had eight children: William, Lawrence Alfred, Margaret G., Sarah P., James Wood, Grace E., Ellen Mangan, Jack Fealy.

William (1902-1971) married Sue May Anderson (d. 1941) and Barbara Vorse. He had 2 children.

Lawrence Alfred, Jr. (1904-1965) married Dorothy Darden. They did not have any children.

Margaret G. (1906-) married William Obear (1906-) and had two children.

Sarah P. (1910-) married Robert Davis (1902-) and had two children.

James Wood (1912-1951). He was single.

Grace E. (1920-) married George Reid and had two children.

Ellen Mangan (1924-) married Robert Briggs and had two children.

Jack (1926-) married Gertrude Frank . They are divorced. They had 3 children.

(8) James D. Fealy (1869- February 1937) married Marguerite "Mae" Binegar (1873-December 1937) on November 19, 1898 in New Vienna. He was a farmer, paper hanger/painter in New Martinsburg, ran the Fealy Hotel in the early 1900's, assumed his father's job at the state house in Columbus, and then moved to New Mexico for health reasons about 1920. They are buried in Denver, Colorado. James and Mae had two children: Myrtle and Gerald.

Myrtle (1899-1990) married William F. Layton (1893-1980) and had four children.

Gerald (1903-) married Kathleen Wicklin (1903-1988). They did not have any children.

(9) Margaret Fealy (1871-1936) married Fred Kelly (1870-1911), a newspaperman with the Columbus Dispatch. Both are buried in Sugar Grove Cemetery. They had two girls, Martha and Ruth.

Martha (1899-1902) died of sugar diabetes at the age of three.

Ruth (1903-1918) died of sugar diabetes at the age of fifteen.

(10) Miss Mary E. Fealy was born in 1874 and died in 1913. She is buried in Sugar Grove Cemetery. She died of cancer and was single.

On November 14, 1857, William "Feely" was granted his United States citizenship in Warren County, Ohio. He had filed his application of intent on October 14, 1852.

In 1858, William's younger brother, John emigrated and lived with him. John enlisted for three years on December 13, 1861 as a Private in Company E, 74th Regiment of the Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was discharged on December 20, 1864. He reenlisted as a Corporal in Company E, 74th Regiment OVI on June 1, 1865 and was discharged July 10, 1865. He was subsequently granted U.S. citizenship because of this service in the Civil War.

In the 1870 census, the William "Faley" family was in Massie Township of Warren County. It lists Hannah, age 15 and Catherine, age 11, as helping at home; John as working on farm; Thomas, Ellen, and William are attending school; and Lawrence and James are three and one. William's brother, John, age 31 was a laborer. Land was valued at $1,100 and personal property at $300.

In 1875, John, married Mary Maher of the Spring Hill or Mount Hall area in Warren County. They resided in Xenia in Greene County. John was born in 1837 and died in 1908. Tillie's youngest son, Edward Williams, was ordained a priest in Cincinnati on August 16, 1969. He was celebrant at Sister Martha Fealy's funeral in 1990. John Fealy and Mary Maher Fealy had seven children: Maggie, Mamie, Tillie, John Edward, William, Joseph, and Hannah.

Margaret "Maggie" Ellen (1875-1962) married William A. McIntosh (1873-1938). They had 4 children.

Mary C. (1877-1966) married Michael Rachford (1876-1950) and had 3 children.

Tille Agnes (1880-1957) married Harvey Williams (1876-1962) and had 7 children.

John "Edward" Fealy (1881-1956) married Clarice Walton and had 4 children.

William Michael (1884-1961) married Minnie Moorman and did not have any children.

Joseph (1886-1951) married Helen Thorne (1890-198?) and had two children.

Hannah (1890) married Thurman VanPelt (d. 1947) and Stanley Davis. She had 2 children.

In the 1880 census, the William "Feally" family was located at dwelling number 83 in Massie Township of Warren County. Hannah was not with them (she married in 1877), John, age 23 was a labourer, Catherine age 22, a dressmaker, and Thomas age 19, a labourer. All the children from six year old Mary to Tom had attended school that year. There is no 1890 census since most of those records burned.

In 1900 William Fealy was in Green Township of Clinton County, with his son, William there also and Tom is in Union Township. The 1910 census shows Tom in Union Township and Catherine, William Jr.'s widow, in Green Township.

About 1883, John William Fealy, William's oldest son was married to Belle Sara Gray. The family farm passed to them. They were in Massie Township, Warren Co for the 1900 and 1910 census.

William Fealy and his family owned Hotel Fealy in New Vienna, Clinton County, Ohio. It was across from the railroad on a corner of State Route 73. The building was built in 1883. There is a picture of the hotel which is supposed to have a family member in every door and window. Jim is standing in the corner doorway, John is the man with a black mustache sitting on the curb. Ellen Mangan Fealy died in 1902 and is buried in Sugar Grove Cemetery in Wilmington. The 1903 city directory for New Vienna lists William (Sr.), Mary, and Ella Fealy as landlords.

While James Cox was Governor of Ohio, William Fealy, Sr., was caretaker of the State House grounds. We have a photograph of him cutting the grass. When Milo represented Clinton County at the Ohio State Fair as a youth for growing corn, he visited his grandfather in Columbus. When William could no longer fulfill these duties, his son, James Fealy took over.

On Tuesday April 6, 1914, William Fealy died at the home of his daughter Kate Fealy Foley at 510 W. Southern Avenue in Springfield, Ohio. Burial was in section 6 of Sugar Grove Cemetery, Wilmington, Ohio.

Margaret Fealy, the sister of William and John Fealy who remained in Ireland married Martin Houlihan on February 2, 1845 at Ballybunion Catholic Church. They had four children that we know of so far: Johanna "Nan", John, Patrick (or Michael) and Mary.

Johanna "Nan" was born about 1852 and died after 1901. She married Patrick Flavin (d. 1879?). They had many children.

Joanne "Nan" Houlihan (b. 1852 d. aft. 1901) married Patrick Flavin on May 22, 1870 at Ballybunion. They lived at Ballyconry, and had many children all of whom went to St. Louis except for the baby Patrick who was born about the time that his father died in 1879. Glenn Flavin became bishop in Nebraska; Cornelius Flavin was a Monsigneur in St. Louis. Others were named Martin, Edmond, Mike, James and Johanna. Patrick Flavin was born in 1879 and died in 1963. He married Catherine who died in 1952. They had a son, James, whom Tom and Harriet Foley visited in 1970; and whose widow, Bridie, they visited in 1990. James and his parents are buried at Ballybunion. James and Bridie Flavin have three sons – Patrick, Martin and Jerry. Patrick continues the family store in Ballyconry, County Kerry and Bridie lives with him.

John Houlihan (b. abt. 1861 d. after 1901) married Mary Brandon (b. abt. 1866 d. aft. 1901). They had four children: Martin (baptized June 18, 1895), Michael (baptized November 8, 1896), Edmond (born about 1901), and Mary Ann (born after 1901 and still living in 1972). This Michael immigrated about 1917 and lived with Maggie McIntosh and Mamie Rachford's families in Xenia. He was a custodian for St. Bridget church in Xenia. Michael Houlihan died in Xenia on September 11, 1972. He was survived by his sister, Mary Ann, in Ireland.

Mary was baptized December 17, 1865 at Ballybunion.

I know nothing of the Fealy priest and mathematician. That awaits further research. It appears that our Fealy ancestors were probably from Listowell, County Kerry, Ireland.

William Fealy 1829-1914
Father of Kate Fealy

Ellen Mangan Fealy 1832-1902
Wife of William Fealy

TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1914.

FEALY--William Fealy, aged 85 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Foley, of 510 Southern avenue, Tuesday afternoon. The body will be sent to Wilmington, O., Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock for funeral and burial.

AGED MAN DIES

William Fealy Passes Away After Long Illness.

William Fealy, aged 85, years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Foley, of 510 West Southern avenue at 5:15 o'clock Tuesday evening. Mr. Fealy had been ill for several months. Mr. Fealy was for several years caretaker of the state house grounds at Columbus.

He is survived by four sons and four daughters. The sons are: James of Columbus, John of Waynesville, Thomas of Wilmington and Dr. Lawrence Fealy of Atlanta, Ga. The daughters are: Mrs. George Romer of Roseland, Cal., Mrs. Margaret Kelly of Columbus, and Mrs. John Kerrin and Mrs. Catherine Foley of this city.

The body will be taken to Wilmington, O., at 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning where the funeral and burial will take place.

William J. Fealy, jr., died at his home at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, December 23, 1900, of heart trouble, after an illness of only a few days. Mr. Fealy was a popular, energetic young man of many fine qualities, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him, and his friends were legion. He was a painter and a paper hanger by trade, but for the past year has been employed in the drug store of James R. West. He leaves a wife, besides four brothers, five sisters and his father and mother, as well as a host of friends to mourn his loss. The funeral occurred Wednesday morning, services being held in St. Michael's Catholic church, conducted by Rev. A. F. Sourd, of Greenfield. Interment at Hillsboro. His popularity was attested by the beautiful floral blanket and pillow, made of roses, hyacinths and carnations, which was given by his many friends.

LOCAL DEATHS

Ruth Ellen Kelly, 14, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Kelly, housekeeper for Rev. A. M. Leyden of St. Francis Church, died of pneumonia Monday at the rectory, 386 Buttles-av. Her father was Fred Kelly, former Columbus newspaperman. Funeral at 8:30 a. m. Thursday at St. Francis Church. Burial in Wilmington by the O'Shaughnessy Co.

JANE ANN FOLEY MELLOR

DOB: February 2, 1861

DOD: January 18, 1883

AGE: 21

PARENTS: John C. and Hannah A. Foley

SIBLINGS: Mary Hannah, William Gustavas, George Greeley

MARRIED: John B. Mellor; May 28, 1879.

CHILDREN: Lawrence (b. Feb. 22, 1880- 1913) and Willie (b. December 27, 1882 d. January 18, 1883)

OCCUPATION: Housewife

Jane (Jennie/Jennie) was the youngest child of John C. and Hannah A. Foley. The 1870 census lists her as Jane, age 9, helps Mother at home. The 1880 census did not list her with her parents, as she had married and had moved to Xenia, Ohio. She is listed in the 1880 Washington, Warren Co., OH census with her husband. She was 19, born in Ohio. John, her husband was listed as age 27, farmer, born in Ohio also. Their son Lawrence is listed as age 3 months. They have a nephew, James Mellor, living with them, age 10.

Jane and John were married by the local Baptist minister, Christopher L. Linden, at the home of her parents on May 28, 1879. Little is known of her as the records are lost. Their first child, Lawrence was born February 22, 1880. A second son, William was born December 27, 1882. He only lived 5 months and died May 8, 1883. Jennie also did not survive this last childbirth as she died January 18, 1883 in Greene County from childbirth complications. Both Jenny and Willie are buried in the Foley plot at Miami Cemetery near Harveysburg, Ohio. John and Jenny were married only 3 ½ years before her death.

DOB: Abt. 1853

MARRIED: (1) Jane "Jennie" Foley; May 28, 1879 (2) Phoebe Purdun; June 2, 1889

Married to Jane "Jennie" Foley on May 28, 1879, records on him are difficult to find. He and Jennie lived at Middletown, Ohio and in Greene County where she died. They had 2 sons, Lawrence and Willie. Willie died in 1883 and Lawrence (age 3) was sent to live with his grandparents, John and Hannah Foley. Records show John Mellor remarried on June 2, 1889 to Phoebe Purdun at Chillicothe, Ohio. They later moved to Middletown where they raised an additional family of 5 children. In 1936, Marie Mellor Stanley, a granddaughter of John B. and Jennie Foley Mellor, made contact with the second Mrs. John B. Mellor. They met in a park in Chillicothe and had a picnic. It was reported all had a good time.

LAWRENCE MELLOR

Lawrence Mellor
1880-1913

DOB: Feb. 22, 1880

DOD: August 25, 1913

AGE: 33

MARRIED: (1) Florence Cashlin; July 25, 1900; St. Raphael's rectory in Springfield, OH (divorced 1905);

(2) Lutitia L. Hullinger (b. July 13, 1874); November 28, 1911; Fort Wayne, IN (she remarried after Lawrence died to Gordon Patton)

CHILDREN: Marie Collette (b. Nov. 15, 1900) and Cecilia (b. Jan. 6, 1903)

There are very few records of Lawrence Mellor's early years. He came to live with his grandparents, John C. and Hannah A. Foley at age 3 when his mother, Jane "Jennie" Foley Mellor, died in 1883. He attended the local rural schools near Harveysburg, Ohio, and enjoyed life as the grandson of a well-to-do farmer. His grandfather gave him a fine horse and buggy during the time he lived with them. He was 17, when his grandmother, Hannah, died. He probably left the farm after she died in 1897 and went to live with his father's family in Middletown, Ohio. The Springfield directory of 1899 lists him as living with his Uncle

George Foley at 246 West Southern Avenue in Springfield. At age 19, he worked as a lunch hand. By 1900, he had become a foundry molder and board at 637 Lagonde Avenue in Springfield. He met and married Florence Cashlin, daughter of John E. and Ellen Cashlin, on July 25, 1900. They were married at St. Raphael's rectory in Springfield, Ohio. John E. was a policeman and laborer who resided at 287 North Florence Street in Springfield. They lived at 69 West Mulberry street in Springfield and he is listed as a molder. They had two daughters, Marie Collette, born November 15, 1900 in Springfield and Cecilia, born January 6, 1903 in Middletown, Ohio. On March 17, 1904 Lawrence is listed in the will of his grandfather, John C. Foley, who had died December 24, 1903. He was 24 years old then. Lawrence and Florence were divorced in 1905 and he moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana. Florence and the daughters lived in Springfield and later Richmond, Indiana, with relatives.

Lawrence went to work as a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Fort Wayne in 1905. He is listed in the Fort Wayne directories of 1906, 1907, and 1908 as living at 133 Douglas Street. In 1909 he went to work in the Wayne Steel Mills at Fort Wayne and worked there until 1912 when he returned to the Pennsylvania Railroad as a switchman. He met and married Lutitia L. Hullinger of Fort Wayne on November 28, 1911. They resided at 133 Douglas Street. On their marriage license application, Lawrence lists his birth date as February 22, 1879 and Lutitia gives her birth date as July 13, 1874. In 1912 Lawrence's health started to fail. He died August 24, 1913. His obituary, which appeared in the Sunday morning issue, August 25, 1913, is as follows:

"Lawrence Mellor, age 33 years – steel worker employed at the rolling mills died yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock at his residence, 133 Douglas Avenue. Death was due to complications. HE had been in failing health for the past year, but his condition did not become serious until several weeks ago.

Mr. Mellor formerly resided at Middletown, Ohio coming to Fort Wayne about eight years ago. For a time, he was employed as a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was married to Mrs. Hullinger two years ago. Surviving besides the widow, are two children by a former marriage, who are making their home with relatives at Richmond, Indiana, the mother and a brother, John Mellor of Middletown, Ohio and three half sisters, Mrs. Edgar Goray and Mrs. Flora Hannah of Richmond, Indiana and Miss Jeanette Mellor of Middletown.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the residence and at noon the body will be sent to Middletown by Getz and Cahill for burial."

The cause of death was listed as exhaustion and liver failure. The 1914 city directory lists Lutitia Miller as a widow and residing at 133 Douglas Street. On April 23, 1914 she married Gordon Patton and moved away from Fort Wayne.

SIBLING: Cecilia

Marie C. Mellor has lived in Middletown Ohio, Richmond Indiana and Dayton Ohio. She was about two years old when her parents divorced. She and her sister were raised by their mother, Florence. She married Harry Palmer Stanley October 1, 1921 and lived in Dayton, Ohio.

They had children Marilyn Jean, Lowell Edward, Mary Catherine, and David Palmer.

Marilyn Jean Stanley married Parker D. Evans, Jr. (d. 1973). As World War II was starting, Parker was caught up in the military buildup. He was in the Army Signal Corps. Parker was sent to the Pacific area for 30 months. After the war, he returned to Dayton, Ohio where they lived. He worked for Ohio Bell Telephone Company as a cable line foreman. They had three children: Linda Jeanne (b. May 16, 1947), David Parker (b. July 5, 1951) and Susan Jane (b. March 9, 1959). Linda J. Evans has a PhD in history and works for the Chicago Historical Society in Chicago, Illinois. David is the Fire and Police Chief of Randolph Township near Dayton. Susan is an engineer.

Lowell Edward Stanley married Mary Jean Redburn on October 1, 1948. Lowell and Mary have 3 daughters: Barbara (married, lives in Huntsville, Alabama and has 5 children), Donna Marie (is married and does not have any children, Laurie (is married and has one daughter and lives in Colorado).

Mary Catherine Stanley was an air traffic controller in the U.S. Navy. Mary Catherine married George Hafner (d. 1980) on April 1969. They had two children: Christie Hafner and Melissa Hafner. She and her family live in New Jersey.

David Palmer Stanley was a pilot and map maker. He married Sharon. They have two children: Del Allen (he is married to Jennifer and has two daughters) and Steve (is unmarried). David and Sharon live in Colorado.

SIBLINGS: Catherine (b. 1823), John Conway (b. 1826), Thomas (b. 1833), William (b. 1835), Margaret (b. 1837)

MARRIED: Margaret Doherty on October 25, 1858 at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, Canada by Reverend J. M. Burger. Witnesses: William Corbett and Mary O'Mara

CHILDREN: William John (b. 1859), John Joseph (b. 1861), Edward (b. 1864), Thomas (b. 1866), James Patrick (b. 1868), Joseph (b. 1870), Mary (b. 1874), Honorah (b. 1877), Margaret Isobel (b. 1878), Five other children died in infancy, names unknown.

Edward "Ned" Foley was the third child of William and Nora Foley. He had three brothers and two sisters. His early life was spent at Oola, County Limerick, Ireland. He had no formal schooling and was taught at home and in the Catholic "hedge" schools of that time. From early reports, Ned was a very strong person, both physically and mentally, and was a born leader. Due to the difficult living conditions imposed on the Irish by the English landowners in the 1840's, most ambitious Irish lads looked at America at the land of opportunity.

When Ned's older brother John Conway Foley left for America in 1848, Ned and his younger brothers Tom and Will soon followed in 1852. They landed in New York City and soon found work. Ned joined the Furniss Pipes Company and quickly became a leader. He was sent to Toronto in 1855 to help lay water pipes for the city of Toronto. He worked for the Furniss Pipe Company and established the Toronto Waterworks. Ned was offered the position as Superintendent of Construction for the Toronto Waterworks Department. He held this job until his death in 1906. The story of his career appeared in the Toronto newspaper in 1905 when he was given an award for 50 years of service by the city of Toronto. The water department gave him a handsome rosewood chiming clock and the Toronto City Mayor, James Coatsworth and city council presented him with an engraved illuminated address testifying to his length of service and merits.

When Ned Foley moved to Toronto in 1855, he joined St. Michael's Church where he met Margaret Doherty. She was the daughter of John and Mary Doherty of Toronto. Ned and Margaret were married in 1858. He was 26 and she was 17 years old. They were married 48 years when he was killed. They had 13 children, 5 died as infants and their names could not be found.

The Toronto City directory listed the Edward Foley family in 1864-1865 at living at 167 Yonge Street, and working as a Laborer-Foreman for the Furniss Company. In 1866-67, he lived at 26 Richard Street. From 1871-1878, they lived at 30 Stanley Street. From 1878-1900, they lived at 11 Lombard Street and in 1900-1906, they lived at 80 Bond Street.

Ned was well known and respected in Toronto as the news articles of his death attest. He was killed July 16, 1906 when a horse he was driving panicked and ran wild. He was thrown from his buggy into a telephone pole. He was 75 years old at the time. He left an estate of $6846.31 to his wife Margaret. His will dated February 14, 1906 was witnessed by Thomas C. Foley and Cornelius H. Greene.

To Give A Banquet

Mr. Edward Foley Will Entertain His Friends this Evening.

About two weeks ago a number of the friends of Mr. Edward Foley, of the Waterworks department organized a surprise party and invading Mr. Foley's home at 80 Bond Street presented him with a handsome clock and held an Inpromptu banquet in celebration of his completion of half a century in the waterworks service. Tonight Mr. Foley reciprocates by banqueting the surprise party at his home.

50 YEARS IN CIVIL OFFICE

Presentation to Edward Foley, of the Waterworks Department.

SURPRISE AND A BANQUET

The First Man to Walk Under the Bay-Laid Cement Pipes for Waterworks

A half a century ago today Mr. Edward Foley, Superintendent of Construction for the Waterworks Department, entered the service. Just as Big Ben tolled midnight last night, City Engineer Rust, on behalf of the Waterworks Department, presented Mr. Foley with a handsome rosewood chiming clock, bearing a silver plate, detailing the occasion of the gift.

It was a complete surprise party. Headed by Mr. William Burton, City Paymaster, and Mr. Joseph Thompson, a party of a score of civil officials and friends descended upon Mr. Foley at his residence, 80 Bond Street and proceeded to fittingly celebrate what Mr. Burton called Mr. Foley's golden wedding to the service. Although Mr. and Mrs. Foley were totally unprepared, they made their visitors heartily welcome, and the event was properly celebrated. The invaders brought a few handy men along with them, and a banquet worthy of the occasion was soon spread.

Had a Banquet.

It was a merry party, indeed, that sat down to the long table. Mr. Burton acted as chairman and his wit kept the guests in a roar. At the table were City Engineer Rust, Mr. William Hewitt, who was for many years Mr. Foley's right-hand man in the waterworks service; Mr. Alex McRae, the chief engineer at the main pumping station; Mr. Thomas Walsh, the chief engineer at the high level station; Mr. William Black, another old-time waterworks department employee; Mr. Mathew Warnock, Mr. R. C. Harris, the new Property Commissioner, Mr. W. H. Randall, Mr. George Mitchell, H. B. Berryman, Mr. James Bannon, Mr. D. Robinson, Mr. W. E.

McCarthy, Mr. Louis Fitzgerald, Mr. John Flanagan, Mr. Patrick McEwen, and a number of other friends and relatives. Mr. Joseph Thompson was delegated to keep things stirring at the foot of the table.

In making the presentation, Mr. Rust said that he was proud to be able to assist in honoring such a faithful civic servant. He had known Mr. Foley for 28 years, and he had yet to hear a man speak disparagingly of him. He had given the best years of life to the civic service, and had proven that his heart was in his work by the hazards he assumed at the call of duty.

Although a Tipperary boy by birth, Mr. Foley's "gift o' gab," deserted him at the critical moment, and he replied very briefly, thanking Mr. Rust for his kind words of the approbation and the men of the department who has so honored him. He thoroughly appreciated the spirit with that prompted them to assemble.

"I want no more true or staunch friends that I have found about me in the city service," remarked Mr. Foley in conclusion.

The visitors lingered until the small hours, and were entertained with music by the members of Mr. Foley's family, while Miss Foley's rendition of "Killarney" and other Irish ballads won the hearts of the visitors.

Mr. Foley's Record

Mr. Foley is more than a passing figure in the city service. He was just about born and brought up with the waterworks, and his accurate knowledge is almost invaluable to the department.

He was born in Tipperary County in Ireland 75 years ago (1831). He landed in New York City in 1852, three years later he came to Toronto for the Furniss Pipes Company to lay the water mains for the Furness Company which owned the city water service. Mr. Furness persuaded him to leave the service of the American Company and enter his employment as superintendent of construction.

"I did, but I did not think in those says that I would live here," said Mr. Foley last night. "Now I wouldn't leave it."

In the following eighteen years he superintended the laying of cement pipes in the city.

"In John Street, from King to Queen Street, there is a lone of eight-inch cement pipe I made and laid away back in the old days," said Mr. Foley. "Every other piece of cement pipe work has been replaced by iron."

In the City's Employ

In 1873, when the city took the waterworks over, Mr. Foley was delivered over as a portion of the works, and he has been in charge of the laying of services ever since. In the old days all extensions were made under Mr. Foley's supervision, but with the advent of the contract system, Mr. Foley spent the greater portion of his time looking after the installation of house services.

Tales of Mr. Foley's pluck were rife last night. Mr. Hewitt told how, when the waterworks intake was only 300 feet out in the bay from the waterworks wharf, Mr. Foley many times drove down in the icy waters of the well in mid-winter to removed the dirt from the screens.

"When he came up men would help to rub him with alcohol to restore the circulation," said Mr. Hewitt.

Went Through the Conduit

Mr. Foley was the first man to go through the conduit across the bay and on the Island. He first explored the six-foot wooden conduit on the Island. No one else would take a chance to make the inspection. Mr. E. P. Roden then a reporter on the old Mail, followed him through that, but when Mr. Foley commenced a long dark journey under the bay in the 36-inch iron pipe, Mr. Roden, after venturing in a hundred yards or so, recollected a pressing engagement elsewhere. Mr. Foley crossed the bay, and then, because there was no outlet, turned and journeyed back again to the island.

"That pipe did not leak a drop," he says. "I could hardly repeat the trip now," he continued, as he surveyed his ample girth. "Mr. Roden might be able to, but I guess my pipe exploring days are over."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Foley are still hale and healthy. Mr. Foley looks good for another quarter of a century. He has two sons in the waterworks department – John and Joseph Foley.

Address From the City

The Board of Control today decided to present Mr. Foley with an illuminated address, testifying to his length of service and his merits.

"The oldest employee of the city," said the Mayor in introducing the matter to the Board of Control. "The Imperial Government grants such long and faithful employees medals. He was 16 years with the Furness Company and is 34 years in the employ of the city."

"An illuminated address would be more suitable," said Controller Spence.

"One of our most valued and faithful employees," was Controller Hubbard's contribution.

"He must have a deal of patience to remain so long in the city's employ," said Controller Shaw. The presentation will be made at the next council meeting.

The Toronto City Counsel Minutes, October 23, 1905

Presentation of Illuminated Address

The Board recommends that an illuminated address be presented to Mr. Edward Foley, foreman of Construction in the City Water Works Department, in recognition of his services in connection with the water works system of this City, covering a period of fifty years.

In 1855, Mr. Foley entered the employment of the Furness Co., owners of the plant which at that time furnished water to the citizens, and in 1871 when the plant of that company was purchased by the City, Mr. Foley was engaged, and has since remained and is still in the service of the City. On account of his association with water works matters in this municipality, embracing as it does a period of half a century, much information of inestimable value, relating to early construction and the location of mains etc., has been obtained from him, to the great advantage of the Department and the benefit of the City. In view of the long and faithful services rendered by Mr. Foley this recommendation is heartily submitted for the concurrence of Council.

Waterworks Foreman Injured

Edward Foley Hurt in Runaway Accident May Die

Edward Foley, the foreman of the waterworks department who recently completed 50 years in the employ of the city and was honored by the Council, was so badly injured last night in a runaway accident that it was stated that his life was in danger. Mr. Foley was driving down the Norway Hill when his horse became frightened and ran away, near Queen St. he was thrown out of the rig and his head struck a telephone pole. He was rendered unconscious and at an early hour this morning had not regained his senses. He is at St. Michael's Hospital. The injured man is 76 years of age.

Mr. Edward Foley Hurled from Rig

An Aged Civic Official Dangerously, Perhaps Fatally, Hurt in a Runaway.

Edward Foley a veteran of fifty years' service in the civic waterworks department, was very seriously injured last night in a runaway accident on the old Kingston Road.

The old gentleman, with his friend Louis Fitzgerald had driven out yesterday afternoon to visit the latter's daughter. On the way home about 7 o'clock the horse shied at something on the Norway Hill, and soon got beyond the control of Mr. Foley, approaching the Norway Hotel, the horse suddenly swerved, the rig striking a telephone pole with tremendous force. The occupants were hurled some distance to the ground, and when Sam Wilson picked Mr. Foley up he was unconscious.

Dr. Fisher of Balmy Beach was called at once, and Dr. Gulnane hurried out to the scene with an ambulance; which conveyed Mr. Foley to St. Michael's Hospital. A Hemorrhage of the brain set in, and although the doctors have not given up hope of recovery yet Mr. Foley is in a very critical state, not having regained consciousness.

Many expressions of regret and sympathy are heard throughout the city. Mr. Foley was widely and favorably known as a genial civic official. He has been in the service of the city over fifty years and less than a year ago was the recipient of a testimonial for the civic fathers.

Mr. Fitzgerald was fortunate to escape with a broken rib and cut face and hands. At noon Mr. Foley was still hovering between life and death.

DEATH OF EDWARD FOLEY INJURED ON SUNDAY IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Never Regained His Senses-Over Half a Century in the Employ of the City-Foreman of the Waterworks Construction Department

Edward Foley, the waterworks foreman, injured last Friday night while driving from his daughter's home at Norway, died a little before 10 o'clock last night in St. Michael's Hospital where he was taken after the accident. His skull was fractured, Mr. Foley being thrown out of his buggy against a telegraph pole, and from the first no hope was being held out for his recovery. He was insensible from the time of his accident.

The late Edward Foley was 75 years of age, and lived at 80 Bond Street. His widow, four sons, and three daughters survive. John and Joseph Foley of the waterworks department are sons. Deceased completed 50 years in the service of the city last October, and the City Council presented him with an address. From his fellow employees he received a clock and was tendered a banquet.

At the time when Furniss system of waterworks, which then supplied Toronto with its water, was taken over by the city, a little over 30 years ago, the services of Mr. Foley to the city were simply invaluable. Mr. Foley had been connected with the company and was practically the only man who had a complete record of where the various water mains were laid. Many of these mains were simply old wooden pipes and had to be replaced, and here Mr. Foley's knowledge was of great service to the city.

From the time he came to Toronto from Ohio he was a member of St. Michael's Cathedral. Mr. Foley was a native of Tipperary, Ireland leaving there for Ohio when a boy. The arrangements for the funeral were not completed last night.

OBITUARY

Edward Foley

Edward Foley died last night about 10 o'clock at St. Michael's Hospital, and thus the curtain was run down on a long and useful life, fifty years were spent in connection with Toronto's waterworks system.

Mr. Foley never regained consciousness after receiving a fractured skull in a runaway accident last Friday night, and from the first no hope of his recovery has been held out.

Deceased leaved a widow, four sons and three daughters. Two sons, John and Joseph are in the service of the waterworks department in which their father completed his fiftieth year last October. The occasion of the anniversary was made memorable by the City Council presenting him a clock and banqueted him.

The late Mr. Foley was born in Tipperary Ireland emigrating to the United States in 1852 and coming on to Toronto in 1855 when the Furniss people were installing a new water works system here. He remained with this company until the city took over the system thirty-four years ago, when he rendered invaluable service in superintending the laying of the new conduits and replacing the old wooden pipes, which were much used before that time. Deceased was well known throughout the city and was a regular attendant at St. Michael's Cathedral. The funeral will take place from the residence 80 Bond St., Thursday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Michael's Cathedral and thence to St. Michael's cemetery.

EDWARD FOLEY'S FUNERAL

A Very Large Attendance of Friends at the Services Today

Followed to the grave by a host of his friends and fellow employees, the late Edward Foley was borne to his final resting place this morning. The respect and esteem with which the waterworks employees regarded Mr. Foley was attested by the presence of all that could be spared from the works at the funeral this morning.

The funeral was one of the largest Toronto has ever seen for some time, the carriages being lined up on both sides of Bond street for two blocks, in the neighborhood of the house, while from the house to St. Michael's Cathedral a long line of friends stood.

The City Council sent a large wreath of white lilies: Lombard Street Fire Hall, The Soho Street Pumping Station and Mr. Eugene O'Keefe each sent floral crosses, and the Waterworks Department of the City Hall sent a broken column of white roses and ferns.

The funeral left the house, 80 Bond Street, at nine o'clock, and proceeded to St. Michael's Cathedral, where requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Rohieder, assisted by Rev. Fathers Whalen and Murray. Beside the hearse walked the pall-bearers Messrs. John Hewitt of the Waterworks Department; T. Walsh, chief engineer of the High Level Pumping Station; W. H. Randall, chief of the Soho street branch; M. Warwick, Eugene O'Keefe, and R. Bigley.

The City Council was represented by Mayor Coatsworth, Controllers Hubbard, Shaw, Jones, Ward, and Ald. Church, McMurrich, Nobel, McBride, Sheppard and Chisholm. Others present were William Dineen, J. J. McCaffery, W. J. McGuire, Hugh Kelly, J. F. Hynes, R. T. Coady, City Treasurer; Joseph Thompson, W. J. Hynes, P. Lynch, of Boston, John Melady, and Jack Toft.

After the ceremony at the church the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Michael's Cemetery where the body was buried in the family plot.

John was 25 and Margaret was 17 when they married. They had 12 children during their 39 year marriage. According to Ontario Death Registrations, their daughter, Margueritte Foley died January 20, 1896, age 5 years and 7 months from Tubercular Meningitis (Meningitis) and was sick 3 weeks. Three months later on April 23, 1896, their son Frederick died at age 13 months of Tuberculosis and he had it 4 months. Their son, William, died the next day on April 24 of Bronchial Pneumonia, complicating whooping cough and was sick two weeks. On July 13, 1909, they lost their daughter, Rose Monica who was only 1 year and 4 months old of Diphtheria (Diphtheria). In 1920, they lost their son, Laurence Raymond at age 17 years of Bronchial Pneumonia with Meningial the last 10 days. Laurence was sick for 4 months and 20 days before passing away. John followed his father, Edward, in the Toronto Waterworks and became superintendent after Edward's death in 1906. He was well liked by those he worked with and his sudden death in 1925 from a heart attack saddened all who knew him. Sarah died May 14, 1938. They are buried in the Mt. Hope cemetery.

John J. Foley

Coming from his office in apparently good health last evening John J. Foley, Superintendent of the Eastern Division Waterworks was suddenly stricken with heart failure and was dead before medical aid could be summoned.

Deceased had not been home for half an hour before he died. No one saw him stricken, and he was found face downward on the floor by members of his family.

Mr. Foley had been in the employ of the waterworks department of the city for more than 40 years, and was in his 64th year.

The late Mr. Foley was the son of Edward Foley, who installed the Toronto Waterworks system. His home is at 7 Columbine Avenue. Survivors are his wife, three sons and three daughters. These are: Edward, John, William, Marjorie, Dorothy and Kathleen all at home.

WITH CITY FORTY YEARS JOHN J. FOLEY IS DEAD

Was son of Man who built first waterworks system here.

John J. Foley for forty years with the Toronto Waterworks department died suddenly at his home yesterday afternoon. He left his office as usual at 5 o'clock, but on arriving home was taken suddenly ill and at 6 o'clock succumbed to heart trouble.

The funeral will take place on Monday, service being held at Corpus Christi Church, interment taking place at Mount Hope Cemetery.

The late Mr. Foley was the son of Edward Foley who built the first waterworks system which was later sold to the city of Toronto and who was Superintendent of the system for fifty years or more. The waterworks pioneer's son followed in his father's footsteps and carried on in the service that Edward Foley had established so that there was a continuous service given to the city by the family.

Mr. John Foley was with the department for nearly forty years.

Mr. Foley leaves three sons and four daughters, the sons being, Edward Foley of Brookside Drive, William of Highfield Road, and John at home, also four daughters Marjorie, Dorothy and Kathleen at home and J. B. Burtchaell of Atlanta Georgia. Two sisters also survive: Mrs. J. A. Pratt of Collahie Street and Mrs. Armand Franklin Heintzman of 48 Jackes Ave. Deceased was 64 years of age and was born in Toronto.

Funeral of John J. Foley Attended by Many Friends

With hundreds of his friends and employees in attendance, the funeral of the late John J. Foley Superintendent of the Eastern Waterworks division was held yesterday from his late residence 7 Columbine Avenue to Corpus Christie Church and thence to Mount Hope Cemetery.

RC Harris Commissioner of Works was present and work was shut down in the Eastern Division to allow the men to attend in a body. A large floral offering and several mass cards were received by the family.

High Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Father McGrath, and the pallbearers were: John H. Kennedy, Armand Heintzman, William Flannigan, George Conway, W. Lyal and Jack Foley.

CITY LOST GOOD SERVANT

FOLEY FAMILY'S RECORD

For More Than Half a Century the Waterworks Department Has Had Benefit of Services.

From the standpoint of service to the city there are not many men who have equalled that of John J. Foley, waterworks superintendent of the eastern district, who died suddenly last night.

The late Mr. Foley had been in the city's employ for 38 years, and his father before him, the late Edward (Ned) Foley, who died in 1906, had a record nearly as long.

The latter, according to Chief Engineer George Powell, was renowned for a most remarkable memory. He knew the location of every water pipe in the city when he was Superintendent of Waterworks. Official charts of underground works would be lost, and the department would be at a loss to know where they were located. "Ned" Foley could always be relied upon to take men to the exact spot and say, "Dig there," even though the pipe had been laid twenty years before.

Both father and son were popular. The son, according to an official who knew both, was very like his father. Both had the same cheerful disposition and the upright manliness of character. Both had a record for years of responding promptly to em-

"I did not know the father, but John J. Foley was a man whose efficiency I can pay tribute to," said Mr. Powell. "For the last twenty-one years he held a position of trust, and I don't believe there was ever an instance of fault being found with his work. Such men can hardly be replaced."

DEATH WAS SUDDEN.

G. G. Rutledge, Superintendent of Waterworks and Maintenance, said that he was discussing certain works with Mr. J. Foley only yesterday. He was then apparently in as perfect health as he ever was.

Mr. Foley had attended to his routine duties yesterday as usual, but was seized fatally shortly after reaching his home about six o'clock in the evening. He was 64 years of age, and a native of Toronto. He was a member of Corpus Christi Church and of the Holy Name Society. His widow, three sons, Edward, John and William; four daughters, Marjorie, Dorothy and Kathleen, at home, and Mrs. J. B. Burtchell, of Atlanta, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Pratt and Mrs. Armand Heintzman, of Toronto, and a brother, Thomas Foley, of Chicago, survive.

Toronto Star, Saturday, May 12, 1979

FOLEY, John Joseph — At Sunnybrook Hospital on Wednesday, May 9, 1979. John Joseph Foley (retired in 1943, after 42 years of service from the City Water Works Department, ending a one hundred year family tradition of service in the City Water Department), Husband of the late Anne May Foley, dear father of John and Ray, grandfather of Clay, Eva, Shane and Lance. Brother of Edward and Dorothy. Resting at the Sherrin Funeral Home, 873 Kingston Rd. (at Beech Ave.), Toronto, after 2 p.m. Friday. Service in the chapel on Saturday at 10 a.m. Interment Resthaven Memorial Gardens. In lieu of flowers donations to the Canadian Cancer Society would be appreciated.

100-Year Tradition Dries Up For Family

It was a family tradition for the Foleys to work in the city waterworks department.

Edward Foley started it more than 100 years ago; his son John J. Foley continued the tradition, and his grandson, John F., carried on.

But when John F. retired a month ago after 42 years as an accountant, he was the last Foley on the city's waterwagon. His eldest son, also John, is with the OPP criminal identification branch and his second son, Raymond, works with Metro roads.

z 'TOO FAST'

"This progress is going too fast," says John F. Foley, who used to pay a dime at Scarborough Beach Park to hear John Philip Sousa's band and has never learned to drive a car.

Mr. Foley has fond memories of his grandfather who came here in 1850 with a private firm and stayed to help build the city's first municipally-operated waterworks in 1855. The grandfather lived next to William Lyon Mackenzie on Bond st. and "knew where every water main and pipe in the city was."

"It was better living 40 years ago than now," says the grandson. "There was more to do."

Young people early in the century were busy going to picnics on Toronto islands, lake excursions, ball games and band concerts — too busy to get into trouble, says Mr. Foley.

Now, he says, youngsters spend their evenings in local restaurants which contribute more to juvenile delinquency than the pool halls of the past.

"They say we were the same when we were young, but we weren't the same. We were afraid of policemen but they aren't now. Maybe it's because the policemen look too young."

Mr. Foley refers to the inception of Metro as "the biggest farce they ever pulled off." The only solution is amalgamation, he says, "but then these reeves would be clamoring for a job."

Saved from boredom by a part-time job at the county registry, Mr. Foley lives with his wife and son Raymond on Victoria Park ave. His son John is married.

Among Mr. Foley's retirement projects is an attempt to stop smoking. He's also trying to convince his sons they should quit.

"But they say, 'It hasn't hurt you in 45 years. How is it going to kill us?'"

Tom was the fourth child of "Ned" and Margaret Foley. He is listed in the 1881 Toronto Census as age 15. On September 15, 1897, he married Agnes Finn of Toronto. She was the daughter of John Finn and Catherine Roach. They were married at St. Paul's church in Toronto and witnessed by Charles Hynes and Adeline Finn. Records show he was a plasterer and probably worked for his uncle, Tom C. Foley. He moved to Chicago, Illinois and joined the Chicago Fire Department. He died there in 1923. The 1901 Toronto census lists Tom and Agnes as Boarders with the William Byron family in East Toronto. Tom was 32 and Agnes 27. Agnes listed her birthday as Dec. 24, 1873. She died August 5, 1932 in Toronto. They are buried in St. Michael's Cemetery, Plot 138A.

The Misses Annie and Bella Foley of Bond Street left yesterday for Detroit, Dayton, Ohio and Cincinnati.

Pupils of the intermediate grade at the Toronto College of Music gave a recital last evening. Notwithstanding the stormy night the audience was large, showing the deep interest taken in the young students, many of whom displayed talent which is being developed by careful study and training. Miss Sharpe played an organ solo, Festival March, Calkins. The piano numbers were:—Sonata, No. 1, Kullian, Miss Mary Woods; Danse Humoresque, Dennee, Miss Lizzie Rogers; Polish Danse, Scharwenka, Miss Abby Pearson; Pas des Echarpes, Chammade, Miss Evangelina Odery; Souvenir, Mendelssohn, Miss Alice Weisman; Valse Legero, Wachs, Miss May Humphreys; Spinning Song, Mendelssohn, Miss Lillian McCracken; Arabesque, Lack, Miss Florence Nauflts; Hunting Song, Mendelssohn, Miss Kate Rodgers; Allegro from Sonata, Haydn, Mazurka, Moskowski, Miss Edith Leeson; Mazurka, Chopin, Gegne Chammade, Miss Helen Snider; Variations in A, Beethoven, Mr. P. S. Battle; Clair de Lune, Thorne, second valse, Godard, Miss E. B. Milla. The violin number was fifth air Marie Dancie, Miss St. Croix. The playing throughout showed good technique and taste, evidencing the results of the efficiency of the teachers and the excellent educational methods used in the college. The vocal numbers, "Good-Bye to the Leaves," DeKoven, Miss Westacott; "The Gallant Salamander," Barnard, Mr. Lytle; "Answers," Robyn, Miss Foley, were given most acceptably, and made a pleasant variety in the programme. The teachers represented were Mr. Torrington, Mr. H. M. Field, Mr. W. J. McNally, Signor Tesserman, Mr. Jeffers, Miss Sullivan, Mrs. Lee, Miss Graham, Mr. Burt, Mr. Leigh, Miss Topping and Miss Taylor.

One of the most interesting recitals of the season was given last evening in the hall of the College of Music by pupils of Miss Sullivan. The piano numbers were Waldesrauschen, Braungardt, Miss Hattie Brown; Slumber song, Heller, valse Arabesque, Lack, Miss Florence Nauflts; Danse Humoresque, Dearnee, Miss Lizzie Rogers; study, Kalbrenner, Mazurka, Schumann, Miss Helena G. Mitchell; Clair de Lune, Thorne, Mon Bijou Caprice, Bohn, Miss Edith Mills; Summer Song, Mendelssohn, Air De Ballet, No. 2, Chaminade, Miss Winifred Garroch; Andante, Surprise Syphony, Haydn, Gavotte, MacDowell, Master Tom Kelly. The duets Les Berges Watteau, Gregh, Masters Tom Kelly and Charlie Eggeth, and Spanish Dances, Moskowski, Misses Grant and Blair, were the opening numbers in both parts of the programme, while one of the best of the evening was the Valse Finale, Lack, two pianos, Miss Bower and Miss Sullivan. Throughout the whole programme the pupils showed evidence in a marked degree of the careful training and method by which Miss Sullivan is so successfully developing their musical ability. Miss Richardson's elocution numbers, At a Wedding, Anstey, The Revenge, Tenneyson, were heartily encored and made a pleasant variation in the programme. Miss Peiley sang Softly Sighs (Der Freischutz), Weber, and Miss Foley He was a Prince Lynes. Both young ladies, pupils of Signor Tesserman, were received with much favor by the audience, encores being demanded.

THE GLOBE, TORONTO, THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1896.

AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

The Christmas services at St. Michael's Cathedral were impressive and appropriate. The first service was at 8 a.m., when Rev. Father McCann celebrated mass before a large congregation. The music was sung by the sanctuary boys' choir, with orchestral accompaniment. All of the services were well attended, but that at 10.30 was the most brilliant. High mass was celebrated by Rev. Father F. Ryan, Rev. J. J. McCann acting as deacon, and Mr. McGrand as sub-deacon. His Grace Archbishop Walsh delivered a genuine Christmas sermon, in which he explained the transcendent importance of the event which yesterday all Christendom joined in commemorating. His Grace took as his text the simple story of St. Luke: "And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at these things, which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart, and the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them." Christmas was, said the eloquent preacher, the centre of the Christian feasts of the year, for it commemorated the entrance of Christ into the world. From this all other Christian mysteries took their rise. The birth of Christ was the staple of our faith, it was the foundation, sound and broad, on which the Christian religion stood. Christmas was peculiarly the feast of the Catholics, for at one time it was discarded by those who had left the mother church, as one of the idolatries of a past age. One hundred years ago that day, Christmas was not celebrated in any part of the New England States. The close connection between Christ and the church was ably expounded by the learned speaker, who urged his flock to be faithful and earnest in their Christian life throughout the coming year.

The musical part of the service was magnificent. Millard's mass in B was rendered for the first, but assuredly not for the last, time in Toronto. The music is grand and impressive, and the solos are of unusual power and sweetness. Under the direction of Rev. Father Rohleder, the choir sang the mass well, ably seconded by Mr. Le Maitre, the organist. The soloists were Miss A. Elliott, Mrs. Tapscott, Miss Moses, Miss Foley, Miss Flanagan and Messrs. Christie, Elliott, Foley, Durham, Trueman, McNamara, Egan and Russell. The Adagio Fideles was well sung. The church was specially decorated.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

Miss Fanny Sullivan, one of Toronto's foremost teachers and pianists, gave a programme at the College of Music last night, in which she brought forward some dozen or more of her pupils, through whose performance could be recognized her more than ordinary ability as a teacher. In the playing of each student all the characteristic traits of good training became apparent, and we congratulate Miss Sullivan upon her work at the College of Music. The vocalists were Miss Min and Miss Anna, the teachers represented being Miss Lulu Dundas and Signor Tesseman. Miss Tessie McCallum's clever reading made a pleasant change. The charm of her naturalness and dramatic power will place her among our best public readers. The following is the programme:—Piano Lament, Air de Danse, duet, Miss Hattie Brown and Master Charlie Eggett; Bohm, La Coquette, Master Norman Stark; Boraski, Valse, Miss Fannie Fogler; Wachs, Pendant La Mazurka, Miss Carrie A. Blair; (a) Stavenhagen, Pastorale, No. 3, op. 3; (b) Kuhlman, Theme and Variations, Miss Victoria Gilday. Durand, Valse, A-flat, Master Alex. Kelly; (a) Kuhlman, Sonatina, op. 55; (b) Massenet, Aragonaise, Miss Mary Woods. Lack, Valse Finale, Duo, Misses Celia Sparrow and Frances Bower. (a) Kuhlman, Rondo, op. 55; (b) Lack, Alette in F, Miss Hattie Brown. (a) Schytte, Berceuse Sonatina; (b) Haydn, Andante; (c) McDowell, Gavotte, Master Tom Kelly; Marchener, Rondo, Scherzando, duet, Miss Lizzie Blackhall and Alice Thompson. Greig, Norwegian Bridal March, Miss Frances Bower. (a) Jodasohn Albumblatt; (b) Scherwenka, Polish Dance, Miss Celia Sparrow. Vocal, De Koven, Japanese Lullaby, Miss Min. Lazzi, Ave Maria, Miss Foley. Reading, "On the Wrong Train," Miss Tessie McCallum.

MISS ANNIE FOLEY KILLED AT DIXIE

Well-Known Singer, Who Lived in Bond Street, Toronto, Met Death.

HORSE RAN DOWN A HILL

Mrs. John O'Gorman, Who Jump-
row Escape.

A fatal runaway accident occurred between Dixie and Streetville last evening about 8 o'clock, by which Miss Annie Foley of 39 Bond Street, daughter of the late Edward Foley, who for many years was an employe of the Toronto waterworks, was almost instantly killed.

Arrangements had been made to hold a celebration in connection with the re-opening of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church at Dixie, which has recently been undergoing alterations and repairs, and Miss Foley, who was an accomplished soprano vocalist, had been asked to lend the singing at the choral service, which was to have been held at 8 o'clock this morning.

Was Visiting in Streetville.

She was stopping at the residence of Mr. John O'Gorman, Streetville, and in company with Mrs. O'Gorman and Miss Kathleen O'Gorman had driven in to the church early in the evening to take a last look at the decorations, of which Mrs. O'Gorman had charge.

On leaving the church Miss Foley took the reins. The horse, a somewhat spirited one, traveled fairly steadily until going down the hill to the Credit River. It increased its speed, and on reaching the bridge over the Credit got beyond control. Mrs. O'Gorman and Miss Foley jumped from the rig shortly after crossing the bridge. The former, although bruised, was not seriously hurt, but Miss Foley struck her head against some obstruction with tremendous force and remained unconscious until she died.

Dr. Smith was at once summoned, but could do nothing for her, as her injury was of too serious a nature, and death ensued within a very short time.

The horse was stopped within a short distance, and Miss Kathleen O'Gorman, who remained in the rig, escaped uninjured.

Well Known as a Singer.

Miss Foley was soprano soloist in St. Michael's Cathedral for years, although she had not sung there since the death of her grandfather. She sang at the anniversary of the Catholic Order of Foresters held in Massey Hall about a month ago.

Miss Foley was in low spirits when she left the city yesterday afternoon, although accompanied by her sister Beth, and stated that she wished that the anniversary services were over and that she were at home again. Miss Beth Foley was not in the carriage at the time of the accident. The two sisters were to leave next Tuesday for Pittsford, Ohio, where they intended to spend the rest of the summer.

Her Father Was Killed.

Two years ago Miss Foley's father, Edward Foley, who was superintendent of the Water Works, met his death in a similar accident. On July 12th, 1906, he was driving on the Kingston road and when near the Norway House his horse overtook. Mr. Foley was thrown from the rig and struck a telephone pole. He was knocked unconscious and was brought to Toronto and taken to St. Michael's Hospital, where he lingered for a few days and died on July 14th.

MISS FOLEY'S FUNERAL.

Service at St. Michael's Cathedral Was Largely Attended To-day.

St. Michael's Cathedral was well filled this morning with relations and friends of Miss Annie Foley, whose death occurred at Streetville Tuesday evening under sad circumstances.

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Tracy of Dixie, assisted by Fr. O'Malley, Oshawa, Deacon, and Fr. Whalen, sub-deacon. The mass was sung by the cathedral choir, and Mr. Arthur Leithner rendered an Ave Maria.

There was a wealth of floral offerings from friends of deceased and a "Gates Ajar" from the Catholic Order of Foresters.

The pall-bearers were Joseph T. Thompson, Fred Wood, C. O'Gorman, M. Costello, A. Leithner, and W. Giligan.

Among those present were: Judge Anglin, Eugene O'Keefe, Dr. Sweeney, Dr. St. Charles, W. J. McGuire, Controller Ward, Columbus Green, Philip Pitts, New York; Walter Foley, Springfield, Mass.; J. T. Flanagan, and the brothers of the dead girl Thomas, John, William, and Joseph.

Was Killed in Runaway

Miss Annie Foley Met Death Near Streetsville

Horse Ran Away and She Jumped from Rig Striking Her Head-Was to Have Led Church Singing Yesterday

Jumping from a carriage drawn by a runaway horse and unfortunately dashing her head against a stone on the road, Miss Annie Foley of 80 Bond Street, Toronto, daughter of the late Mr. Edward Foley, for over forty years an employee of the Toronto Waterworks Department was killed on the old Dundas Road near Streetsville at 8 o'clock Monday night. She was to have led the singing in the reopening exercises of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church at Dixie yesterday morning, and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Gorman of Streetsville. The body was brought to the city last evening.

The deceased young lady was an accomplished Soprano singer having at one time been a soloist at St. Michael's Cathedral; Monday afternoon she with her sister Miss Belle Foley went to Streetsville on the CPR train.

In company with Mrs. O'Gorman and Miss Kathleen O'Gorman, she drove over in the evening to the Church at Dixie to take a view of the decorations which Mrs. O'Gorman had placed in the Church. It was on their return home that the accident happened. The Horse was a somewhat spirited one and was being driven by Miss O'Gorman. He went steadily until going down the hill to the Credit River, near Streetsville.

Suddenly the occupants of the rig say that the animal was increasing his speed and was running away. All efforts to control him seemed vain and Miss Foley and Mrs. O'Gorman jumped from their seats. The latter fell without injuring herself, but Miss Foley had struck her head and was unconscious. She remained in that condition until she died a short time afterward, despite the attendance of Dr. P. Smith. Miss O'Gorman who stayed in the rig was not injured.

Miss Foley was in depressed spirits when she set out Monday afternoon for Streetsville, and expressed the wish that the service in which she was to take part were over. She and her sister were to have left for Pittsfield, Ohio, shortly to spend a Holiday. Her father's death was also attributed to a runaway accident.

Funeral of Miss Foley

The Funeral of Miss Annie Foley who was killed in a runaway accident between Streetsville and Dixie on Monday will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock to St. Michael's Cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. Fathers Whalen and O'Malley. The body was brought to her mother's home at 80 Bond Street on Tuesday night.

Funeral of Miss Annie Foley

Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated in St. Michael's Cathedral yesterday morning for the late Miss Annie Foley, whose death occurred near Streetsville on Tuesday under such sad circumstances.

The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Tracey of Dixie, assisted by Father O'Malley, Oshawa, Deacon and Father Whalen, Sub-Deacon. The Mass was sung by the Cathedral Choir. The pall bearers were: Joseph T. Thompson, Fred Wood, C. O'Gorman, M. Costello, A. Leitheiser and W. Gilligan. Among the great number of relatives and friends present were Judge Angli (?), Eugene O'Keefe, Dr. Sweeney, Dr. S. Charles, W. J. Armand N. Heintzman

Headed Piano Firm Founded by Father

Funeral services were held yesterday for Armand N. Heintzman, 81 a former president of the Gerhard Heintzman Co., who died in hospital Friday.

Mr. Heintzman was born in Toronto and educated at Upper Canada College. He was the only son of Gerhard Heintzman who established a piano manufacturing business on Queen Street Toronto in 1876 which was later bought out and merged with the business of his cousins, Heintzman and Co., Ltd.

On leaving college, Mr. Heintzman entered his father's firm working up through the various departments and eventually succeeded him as president and general manager. He retired from business activities about 30 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Isobel Foley, at his home, 22 Meadowcrest Rd., The Kingsway; three sons, Gerhard and Armand of Toronto, and William of London, Ont., a daughter Mrs. Gabriel Keogh of St. Catherines and five grandchildren.

THOMAS CONWAY FOLEY

DOB: October 21, 1832, Oola County Limerick, Ireland

DOD: May 13, 1913

AGE: 80 years

PARENTS: William and Hannorah Conway

SIBLINGS: Catherine (b. 1823), John Conway (b. 1826), Edward (b. 1832), William (b. 1835), Margaret (b. 1837)

EDUCATION: Home schooled in Ireland; Apprenticeships in Toronto, Canada

OCCUPATION: Contractor, Plasterer, Wallpaper hanger (1860-1905)

MARRIAGE: November 28, 1871 to Johnana Jane "Jane" Kennelly at St. Patrick's R. C. Church, Toronto Canada by Reverend J. M. Laurent. Witnessed by John Murphy and Mary McEhey

CHILD: Mary Katherine (b. April 12, 1873)

Born in 1832 in County Limerick, Ireland to William Foley and Hannah Conway, Thomas was educated at home and with his brothers and sisters learned to read, write and learn a living. He followed his older brothers and sisters and came to America about 1853 with his younger brother William. They found work in New York City where their brothers, John and Edward, were living. Tom learned the carpenter and plasterer trade and when Edward and William moved to Toronto in 1855, he joined them. He found work in Toronto and soon established himself as a good craftsman. About 1860, he started his own construction business specializing in interior furnishing work like plastering, lathing, paper hanging and painting. The business continued until he retired about 1905.

In 1870, he met and courted Johnana Jane Kennelly, daughter of James and Johnana Kennelly of Toronto. Reverend J. M. Laurent married Tom and Jane November 28, 1871 at St. Patrick's Church in Toronto. Tom was 39 and Jane was 29 years old at the time of their marriage. Witnesses were John Murphy and Mary McEhey. On April 12, 1873, their only child, Mary Katherine Foley was born. The Toronto directory of 1881 reports he is a laborer and they live at 41 Nelson Street in Toronto. In 1889, he is listed as a contractor living at 47 Nelson Street, Toronto. Tom is listed as a witness to his brother Edward's will dated February 14, 1898. On April 28, 1913, Tom C. Foley had a bad fall down a set of stairs and had a heart attack. At that time he was retired and living with his daughter and son-in-law at 3 Ross Street. Tom died there on May 13, 1913. His funeral was at St. Patrick's Church with burial at Mount Hope Cemetery, Toronto in section 3 – plot 43.

PARENTS: William Foley and Honorah Conway

SIBLINGS: Catherine (b. 1823); John Conway (b. 1826); Edward (b. 1832); Thomas (b. 1833); Margaret (b. 1837)

EDUCATION: No formal education. On the job apprentices.

OCCUPATION: Turnkey (Foreman-plumber) at Toronto Waterworks

MARRIAGE: January 27, 1863 to Mary Griffin at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto Canada married by Reverend George R. Northgrave. Witnessed by John Coney and Anna Dogherty.

CHILDREN: William Jr. (b. October 5, 1864); Anne (b. 1867); Mary Jane (b. October 30, 1870); Catherine (b. August 7, 1872); John Joseph (b. March 4, 1876); Edward (b. October 11, 1878)

Will Foley was the 5th child of William and Nora Foley. He was born in 1835 at Oola, County Limerick, Ireland. He was probably home schooled and could read and write. In 1853, he and his older brother, Thomas, came to America. They worked in New York until 1855 when they moved to Toronto Canada. Will had learned the plumber trade and worked with another older brother, Edward "Ned", at the Furness Company. When Ned was sent to Toronto in 1855, both Will and Tom went with him.

On January 27, 1863, he married Mary Griffin. He was 28 and she was 16 years old. Over the 29 years they were married, they had six children. William Junior was born October 5, 1864 with Anne following in 1867 in Cincinnati, Ohio. Mary Jane was born October 10, 1870, Catherine August 7, 1872, John Joseph March 4, 1876 and Edward October 11, 1878. Will Senior was a plumber-foreman at the Toronto Waterworks. His brother, Ned, was superintendent of construction for Toronto Waterworks and was Will's supervisor. Early Toronto directories list Will and Mary as living at 101 Duke Street in Toronto. In 1867, when their daughter, Annie, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, they were probably visiting Will's brother, John Conway Foley, who lived on a farm south of Harveysburg, Ohio. Harveysburg is about 30 miles north of Cincinnati. Will is listed in the 1875 annual report of the Toronto Board of Water Commissioners. According to the newspaper accounts, Will died May 24, 1892 after choking on a piece of pork and having a heart attack. He is buried in St. Michael's Cemetery in Toronto Canada, plot 138A.

William Foley, an employee of the Waterworks Department died very suddenly yesterday.

Choked to Death

Mr. William Foley, an old and respected employee of the Toronto Waterworks Department, died very suddenly last evening. The deceased had been spending the afternoon with his family at the House of Providence picnic and before returning home called on Mr. John Keough, 46 Duchess Street, an old friend.

This was about 9 o'clock and the two with other friends sat chatting over old times. After a time a luncheon was put upon the table and deceased partook with the others, but in the course of the meal he suddenly began to choke, a piece of pork having lodged in the throat, from which no efforts of those present could dislodge it.

Medical aid was at once called, but when Dr. Fox of Sherbourne street, who was quickly in attendance, arrived the sufferer was breathing his last, although the doctor did everything by means of instruments and artificial respiration to restore animation.

The body was at once removed to the deceased's late residence, 101 Duke Street, where it was received by his sorrowing widow, son and daughter. The Deceased also leaves two other daughters and a son, all married.

WALTER AUGUSTINE FOLEY

DOB: June 8, 1883

BAPTISM: August 26, 1883, St. Raphael's Church, Springfield by Rev. William H. Sidley

SPONSORS: Thomas and Mary Fealy

DOD: September 20, 1968

AGE: 85

PARENTS: George Greely Foley and Catherine Fealy

MARRIED: Nov. 9, 1909, Lillian Julia O'Neill at St. Raphael's Church by Rev. David A.

Buckley Witnesses were John William Foley and Elizabeth Burns

CHILDREN: David "Neil" (1910-1992), Mary Angela (1915-1993), George "Paul" (1920-1926), Walter "Donald" (b. 1924)

SIBLINGS: John William (1886-1968), George Leo (1888-1978), Edward Joseph (1893-1921)

Walter was the oldest child of George G. Foley and Catherine Fealy Foley. From earliest childhood he showed an interest in mechanical things and was encouraged by his father to become a skilled engineer. The 1900 Springfield directory lists Walter as a student in school 9 months. He was 17 when his father died and he helped his mother guide the family through the difficult times. The 1901-1909 directory lists Walter as living at 510 West Southern Avenue and employed as a machinist.

On November 9, 1909 Walter married Lillian Julia O'Neill, daughter of David O'Neill and Brigit Maloney of Springfield. They welcomed their first son, David "Neil" on September 26, 1910. In 1913, at age 30, Walter was listed as foreman of the tool room for the Cincinnati, St. Louis Railway in Springfield. The 1914-1915 directory lists Walter as a toolmaker. On May 14, 1915, a daughter, Mary Angela was born. In 1916 Walter went to work at Robbins and Myers Corporation as foreman of the Experimental Department. By 1919, at age 36, he is listed as a Foreman at Robbins and Myers. On June 24, 1920, a second son, George "Paul" was born. A third son, Walter "Donald" was born on November 7, 1924. Walter continued his education by taking night classes in Engineering as he assumed more duties at Robbins and Myers. Tragedy struck the family when son, Paul, died October 9, 1926 from diphtheria. The family moved into a home at 558 East Northern Avenue about 1930. By 1937, Walter was Chief Inspector at Robbins and Myers and involved in various organizations. He was a member of the McIsaac Gun Club and was a crack shot with a rifle. He won many prizes in target shooting with both pistol and rifle at the YMCA Gun Clubs. He belonged to the Robbins and Myers Foreman's Club and was President several times. He was also a member of the Robbins and Myers Engineering Club and Council and the 621 Knights of Columbus. He sang in the St. Raphael's church choir and was active in the church's Holy Name Society. By 1940, he was teaching metallurgy at the Wheelerburg College night school. He enjoyed competitive games such as checkers, Euchre, Bridge, Pinochle, Cribbage and Scrabble.

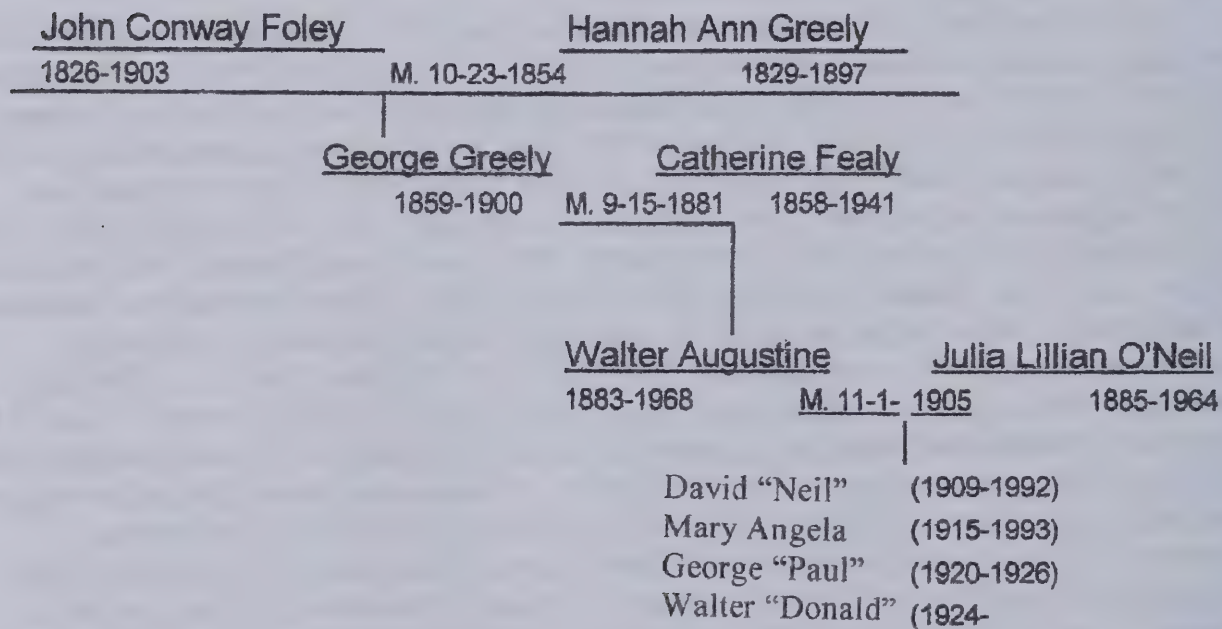

In 1937, Robbins and Myers chose Walter to head a very secret U.S. Air Force project. He and his team developed the electric motors to operate the automatic pilot for the bombers using the super secret Norden Bombsight. Robbins and Myers had plants in Springfield and Piqua, Ohio, which made the parts under Walter's supervision. Walter related how he first met bombsight inventor, Carl Norden, on a trip to Long Island, New York in 1937. He and several Robbins and Myers engineers took a train from Springfield to visit Norden's plant and to discuss ways to mass produce the bombsight. He said he and Carl got along fine. A newspaper account dated June 19, 1965 recalls Walter's part in the project. Walter's health became an issue in the late 1940's and it forced him to retire from Robbins and Myers in 1953 at age 70. He had worked at Robbins and Myers for 54 years.

Walter was a member of the Most Noble Order of the Knights of the Garter. His grandson, David M. Foley, was able to trace the family roots back to Ireland and England and establish Walter's claim to the order. Walter became interested in Our Lady of Fatima Rosary Making Club and made rosary beads after his retirement. His beloved wife, Lillie, died April 25, 1964 at age 79. After her death, he invited his granddaughter, Mary E. Lawarre Cox, and her husband, Wayne Cox, to live with him at 558 E. Northern Avenue.

Walter died September 20, 1968 at age 85. His son, Donald "Walter", remembered Walter as a patient teacher who was very interested in how mechanical things worked and how they were built. Don recalled how he, at age 3 or 4, tried to understand Walter's explanation of lightning.

Walter was an average sized man about 5'10" tall and weighed about 160 pounds. He was well liked by all who had the privilege to know him. He was buried in the Calvary Cemetery in Springfield. He left an estate of $137,000.00.

W. A. Foley Recalls Work On Norden's Bombsight

The elderly Dutchman who invented the bombsite that turned the tide of World War II in the favor of the United States died this week in Switzerland and a Springfielder who kept one of the biggest secrets of the war for six long years returned to those days to pay tribute.

Walter A. Foley of 558 East Northern Avenue was ushered into the office of Carl L. Norden in 1937, when Hitler's hordes were beginning their trample through Europe and the thought of war was only a brief flicker in the minds of the people of the United States.

"I never remember a thing that was so solemn to me as learning from Mr. Norden and those working on the bombsite that we might soon be in a war, and that the Norden bombsite must never be discussed anywhere due to its importance," Mr. Foley recalls.

At the time, Mr. Foley was chief inspector for Robbins and Myers, Inc. and was designated to head up the R&M manufacture of main parts for the automatic pilot that guided the plane while on bombing runs. Included were intricate gears of tolerances finer than had ever before been demanded of Robbins and Myers.

"I was itching to make those gears," Mr. Foley said, "I knew we could do it the first time I saw what was needed. They were beautiful pieces."

One of those men who did some of the precise work on the bombsight project was Gilbert Hagerman, the man who was sentenced this week to a one-year federal prison term for shooting at military aircraft from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base as they flew over his farm on Enon Road.

"He was the finest mechanic ever made," Mr. Foley said of Mr. Hagerman. He was in charge of the construction of the flight gyro motor, which Foley said was a real precision job. It was done on the third floor of the Robbins and Myers building which was especially climate conditioned to handle this job.

When Mr. Foley was told that Hagerman would be in charge of the work of the gyro motor, he said he was delighted and told his boss that Hagerman was the best man for the job as long "as you didn't tie his hands."

Commenting on the present situation in which Mr. Hagerman finds himself, Mr. Foley said Hagerman was an inventor and he liked to work in quiet and didn't like to be disturbed.

"Norden was the same way," Mr. Foley said, "I was told that he was attending an opera in New York with a business executive. When the executive turned to ask his guest how he was enjoying the performance, Norden was deep in thought on some type of problem and completely oblivious to the music."

The urge to make the bombsight parts was intensified that day in 1938 when Mr. Foley and Mr. Norden first met. The tall overweight Dutch inventor of the bombsight explained the delicate workings of the bombsight, pointing out a need for it in the face of an impending world war. Bombs would be dropped on vital enemy installations that, in most cases, would be surrounded by homes of innocent civilians. The installations would have to be destroyed with as little loss of civilian loss as possible.

To do the job on the bombsight, Norden had to hire German optical specialists. No one could be found in the U.S. who was able to make lenses and sights for the mechanism that were of the quality demanded by Norden.

His quality demand was that the bombsight be so perfect that a half-ton bomb could be dropped into a pickle barrel from 10,000 feet, using the bombsight. To prove the merit of his bombsight, Norden actually had this done before U.S. military officials.

Mr. Foley's men at Robbins and Myers soon learned that there was nothing to be learned about the bombsight. Most men working on the parts had no idea what they were. Those who did were sworn to total secrecy, and the master parts for the sight were locked in company safes every night after they were taken from the special room in which they were housed, to which only a handful of top officials of the company had access.

Secret Service agents were integrated into the plant staff, blending in with other workers who already had been warned not to take any of the new secret parts home, lest they meet government detectives under unfortunate circumstances.

Mr. Foley was faced with one problem so unusual it would have seemed funny had it not taken place on such a sober project as the building of the bombsight. Employees with sweaty hands were fouling up the project by leaving perspiration film on the parts, which would later rust.

"I got to the place where I would shake hands first thing with someone who wanted a job," he says. "If his hands were clammy, he unfortunately was not suited for the work. Later, when we started hiring women because the men were off to war, I got kidded a lot about hand-holding."

The first time Mr. Foley became aware that fingerprints would give the delicate bombsight all kinds of problems was when he delivered a batch of them to New York and Mr. Norden.

"The workers who went to New York with me joined me there for 35 days sitting with the parts polishing every piece until all the prints were gone," he says.

The Norden Bombsight was no overnight operation. Norden had worked at the turn of the century for the Sperry Gyroscope Company, perfecting stabilizers for ships. In 1915, he went into business for himself and in 1921 he was assigned by the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance to study precision bombing problems. The first bombsight – a far cry from the secret and perfect beauty of the World War II model – was turned out six years later.

Work to perfect it continued for the next 12 years, until the model used for World War II was perfected. It had to be secret, so the size was compressed until the bombardier was able to remove it from his plane each time he left it, carrying it in a black leather satchel that he guarded with his life. Failure to take care of the bombsight usually was grounds for court-martial.

The machine worked well. It actually took over the flying of the plane from the time the bombardier first sighted the target, miles away. From the point until the bombing run was over, the Norden Bombsight controlled the ship, stabilizing it on a perfectly straight and level flight pattern through the use of the parts manufactured at Robbins and Myers, Inc.

When the U.S. was forced into World War II, the bombsight became well known among American airmen because of its accuracy in pinpoint-bombing vital German installations.

"You could obliterate a factory next door to a church and never touch the church," Mr. Foley says.

After the early reverses in the Pacific Theater of Operations because of a lack of war materials, the U.S. surprised the Japanese with strategic bombing attacks and eventually turned the tide against Japan.

The Norden Bombsight is given credit for much of the work in winning World War II.

Robbins and Myers continued to manufacture all the stabilizing parts for the bombsight until near the end of the war, when two other plants, one in Piqua and one in Indianapolis, were put into work as a security measure.

The use of the bombsight later was discontinued, and Walter Foley's secret no longer was necessary. He had kept it for over six years, along with fellow workers at R&M.

He later headed other government projects for the firm, interrupted various times because of illness that forced his retirement 12 years ago.

The skies of the world no longer are clouded with hundreds of U.S. "Flying Fortress" bombers roaring above the ground on their way to appointments with necessary destruction.

The men who flew them have gone their own ways. Most of them are on the verge of old age, and they do a lot of sitting and remembering about the time when they flew mission after mission against an enemy they could hardly see; when the results of their work showed up thousands of feet below them in tiny silent puffs that indicated one of their bombs had exploded upon the enemy.

They remember the good times with friends who were later killed. They remember the troubled times when their life hung on the chance that anti-aircraft guns would not hit their lumbering aircraft, and the times when they wondered what it really was they were doing in the air, dropping bombs on people they had never met.

Walter Foley remembered Thursday. He remembered how he and a big Dutchman worked feverishly against the day when war might come. He remembered the somber fears that the war would come, and that this country might not be prepared enough.

That he was able to sit quietly in his living room and recall those days peacefully Thursday is answer enough that he did his job.

Tribute Is Paid to Late Inventor

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Foley to Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Foley of 558 E. Northern Ave., will observe their golden anniversary November 8th with a solemn high mass at 10:30 a.m. in St. Raphael Church. The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Martin M. Varley will celebrate the mass, assisted by the Rev. Fr. Raphael Rodgers, Chillicothe, a cousin of the couple.

The Foley's grandsons, David and Peter Foley, will serve as ushers. Among those expected to be present are Mrs. Robert Doolan, Springfield, and J. William Foley, Indianapolis, Indiana, a brother of Mr. Foley, who were bridesmaid and best man, respectively, at the couple's wedding.

A family dinner will follow in Ker-Deen Inn. Mr. and Mrs. Foley's sons, Neil and Donald Foley, and a daughter, Mrs. John Lawarre, announce plans for an open house for friends of the couple to be held for friends for the couple to be held from 2 to 4 pm. that afternoon in Ker-Deen. Hostesses will include Alice Foley, Patricia, Mary and Elaine Lawarre, granddaughters of the honored guests. Gifts are to be omitted.

Out-of-towners invited to attend the celebration include Mr. and Mrs. Neil Foley and family, Charlotte, North Carolina; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foley and family, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foley, Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Foley and Mrs. and Mrs. John Foley and family, Auburn, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foley, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Mary Foley and Mr. & Mrs. Donald Norris, Columbus; Eugene O'Neill, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Mrs. M. WALTER A. FOLEY SUCCUMBS AT 85

Retired R and M Inspector Had Hand in Developing Norden Bombsight

Walter A. Foley, instrumental in the development of the Norden Bombsight, died at 5:50 p.m. Friday in Mercy Hospital at the age of 85.

Mr. Foley, who was admitted to the hospital Friday, kept the secret of the bombsight for six years while he developed procedures for the manufacture of precision parts for the device credited by many with giving the Allies victory in World War II.

Mr. Foley, who lived at 558 E. Northern Av., learned of the bombsight development from the inventor, Carl L. Norden, when the two men met in 1937. The possibility of war with Germany seemed quite remote to most Americans then.

Mr. Foley was, at the time, chief inspector from Robbins and Myers, Inc. and had been picked to head up the manufacture of main parts for the automatic pilot that guided planes on bombing runs.

In 1965, at the time of Norden's death, Mr. Foley recalled some of his experiences while the delicate parts were being made, the problems he had when it was learned that fingerprints could affect the precision of the parts and that employees with sweaty hands could cause rust on the parts.

During his career with Robbins and Myers, Mr. Foley worked on other government projects until poor health forced his retirement in 1953.

A native of Springfield, Mr. Foley was born June 8, 1883, the son of George and Catherine Fealey Foley, and had lived in Springfield all his life.

He was a member of St. Raphael Church and a past president of the Holy Name Society of the parish. He was a lifetime member of K. of C. No. 621, Our Lady of Fatima Rosary Making Club, Society of the Descendants of the Most Noble Order of Knights of the Garter, and of the Foreman's Club and Engineers Club of R. and M.

His wife, the former Lillian Julia O'Neill, died April 25, 1964 and a son, Paul George, died in 1926.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Mary Angela Lawarre of Springfield; two sons, Neil David of Charlotte, North Carolina, and Donald Walter of Dayton; one brother, George Leo Foley of Auburn Indiana; 16 grandchildren, 5 great-grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the O'Brien-Kenney Funeral Home from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

SIBLINGS: Walter A. (b. 1883), George Leo (b. 1888), Edward J. (1893)

John W. Foley was the second son of George and Catherine "Kate" Foley. Family members in Springfield called him Will. Later in life when he lived in Indianapolis, he was called John. He was 14 when his father died and went to work to help support the family. He found employment in the printing business and rose through an apprenticeship to become an engraver. He worked at Crowell Publishing in Springfield. On November 12, 1912, he married Lavenia Graham (1889-1962). She was the daughter of Patrick and Marion Graham of Springfield. She went to St. Raphael's schools and that is how Will met her.

After they were married they lived in Springfield. Their son, William, was born in 1914. The family moved to Indianapolis in 1920 when Will got a better job with the Indianapolis News Company. Will was active in the Elks, Knights of Columbus, church organizations and a member and past president of the International Photo Engravers Union since 1908. He was a member of St. Peters & Paul Cathedral Parish in Indianapolis and the Holy Name society. He was also a strong supporter of Fr. Charles Caglin and his social justice program in 1935. About 1930, their son, William, became ill with sugar diabetes and was under medical care until his death in 1937.

Will and Lavenia moved to an apartment on North Meridian Street in Indianapolis. He retired in 1951. Lavenia was in poor health and died in 1962. Will then moved back to Springfield to live with his nephew, Bob Foley, and his family. He died in 1968 and is buried with his family in Indianapolis.

OCCUPATION: Journeyman Patternmaker 1908

SIBLINGS: Walter (1882), John William (1886), Edward Joseph (1894)

MARRIED: Sarah Catherine Bailey; June 8, 1920 in Springfield, Ohio

CHILD: John Leo Foley (b. Nov. 22, 1925)

George Leo was the third son of George and Catherine "Kate" Foley. He showed mechanical talent at an early age. He was 12 when his father died and as soon as he reached the age of 16, he left school to start working. He and a boyhood pal, Jim Sweeney, started work at Jimmy Hines Pattern Shop at seven cents per hour in 1905. Both became journeymen pattern makers. Leo, as he was called, left Springfield in 1915 and went to Toledo to work. His mother, Catherine, sold her Springfield home in 1916 and moved to Toledo with Leo. They bought a small home on Madelan Street in east Toledo. Leo worked at U. S. Malleable Foundry Company and Willys Overland Motor Company from 1915-1919. He and a co-worker started their own pattern shop in 1919 and called it National Pattern Company. Leo, who had been courting Sarah Bailey since 1914, had saved enough to allow them to be married. The Rev. Tim C. Bailey, brother of the bride, married them at St. Joseph's Church in Springfield on June 8, 1920. The couple lived with Leo's mother Kate, from 1920-1924. In 1921, a disastrous fire ended the National Pattern Company. Leo found employment at Aro Corporation in Bryan, Ohio. He and Sarah moved to Bryan in 1924. In the fall of 1925, their son, John Leo Foley was born. In 1927, G. Leo started his own pattern shop under the name of G. L. Foley Pattern Company. In 1935, he bought a building where the present Foley Pattern Co., Inc. is located. His son, John, joined the business in 1946. George or G. L., as he was now known, developed a severe asthma condition and suffered a light stroke in 1950. John took over the business, and in 1951, the partnership was incorporated. G. L. was Chairman and John was President. As the business grew, G. L. spent his time making small patterns and plaques at the shop. He continued this work as a hobby 3-4 hours a day, until a second series of strokes handicapped him at the age of 88. He died a month after his 90th birthday on July 30, 1978. He is buried in the Catholic Cemetery in Auburn, Indiana.

Sarah, known to her family as Sadie, was the youngest child of John and Brigid Bailey. She was only six years old when her father died and was raised by her mother and sister, Ell. Records show that she did well in St. Joseph's School and graduated high school in the Class of 1906. She reported she had a large group of friends that went to parties, picnics and on trips together, as was the custom of her time period. She worked as a bookkeeper at several factories around Springfield and about 1912, became office clerk and bookkeeper for People's Outfitting Company of Springfield, Ohio. It was a large furniture store. Her closest girlfriends were Cecilia Tarpey, Julia Toomey and Anne Hennessy, all girlhood neighbors. She spent her many summer vacations at the various parishes where her brother, Rev. Tim Bailey, was stationed. As Tim was a good tennis player, he taught Sadie the game. She said she enjoyed it as well.

About 1915, she met G. Leo Foley at several of the dances and parties put on by the Catholic young Irish groups in Springfield. They were both members of those groups and G. Leo was the leader of one of the groups that sponsored dances and picnics. They became engaged in 1917, and due to the start of World War I, held off being married until 1920. G. Leo worked in Toledo, Ohio by 1916, so the romance was slowed somewhat and he was subject to the Army draft. They were finally married on June 6, 1920 at St. Joseph's Church by her brother, Rev. Tim C. Bailey. The attendants were Ann Hennessy and Jake Goebel. They took a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and to New York City.

Their first home was in Toledo, Ohio where G. Leo worked, and they lived with his mother, Catherine Foley. Sadie soon made friends in the Toledo area with several former Springfielders. She said they had a great social life in Toledo. In 1922, G. Leo and a co-worker, Russ Cabel, started their own pattern shop. In the winter of 1923, the shop caught fire and they lost it all. G. Leo then found a job managing the larger pattern shop of the Aero Equipment Company of Bryan, Ohio. They moved to Bryan in 1924.

In 1925, Sadie and Leo, at the age of 37, became parents for the first time. A son, John Leo Foley, was born on November 22, 1925. Her sister, Ell, came up from Springfield to assist with the baby. Sadie also had Della Kobie and her mother, Margarita, who lived next door to assist her with the new job as mother.

In 1926, G. Leo again changed jobs and began work as pattern shop manager for Auburn Foundry, Inc. in Auburn Indiana. He drove the 35 miles to work each day until they moved to Auburn in May of 1930. During this time, Sadie had John Leo on his feet and she wanted to go to work. She had inquired about a job at a Bryan bank, but George Leo refused to allow her to work. She was frustrated about that for a long time. After their move to Auburn, she became involved with church socialization and developed a group of friends for social activities there.

In 1928, G. Leo had started his own pattern shop under the name of "G. L. Foley Pattern Company." Sadie was the bookkeeper and helped with the office work. In 1935, Sadie and G. Leo bought a factory building in which they moved their small pattern shop business. The business prospered and Sadie and G. Leo enjoyed life. During the World War II Era, the pattern shop was very busy. Their son, John Leo, graduated from Auburn High School in 1943 and was sent to St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Indiana for college training. He enlisted in the Army Air Corp. in the Fall of 1943 and was called into service in January of 1944. Sadie and Leo were proud of him, but, like all parents, worried about his safety.

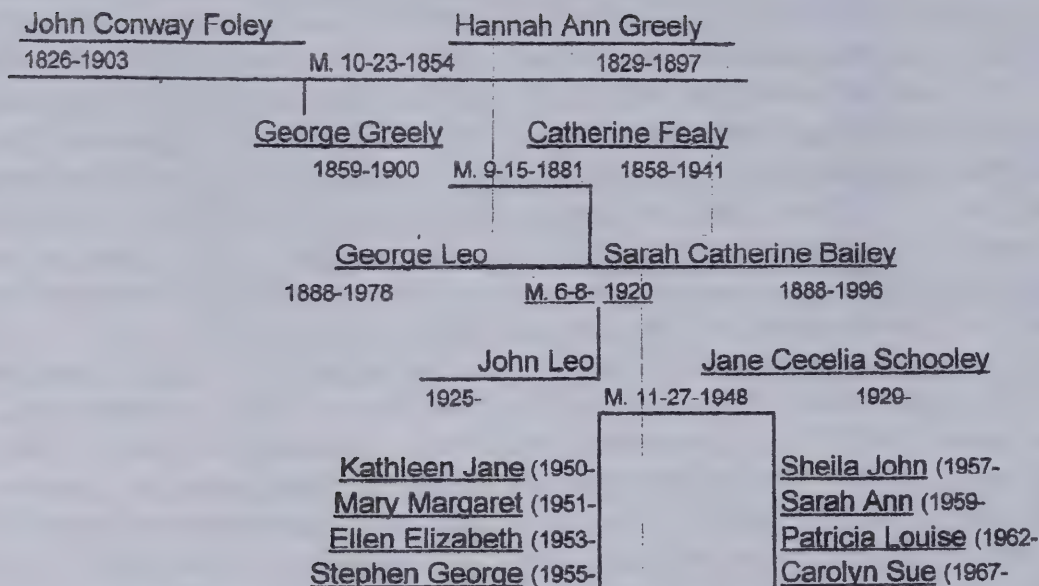

Sadie and Leo celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary in 1945. In 1946, they built a new home at 621 East Seventh Street in Auburn. In 1948, their son, John, married Jane C. Schooley in Auburn. In 1950, G. Leo suffered a mild stroke and John took charge of the Pattern Shop. Sarah and G. L., as he was called by this time, went to Colorado Springs, Colorado, for medical treatment for asthma which G. L. had developed. The doctors were able to help G. L. control the asthma with medication, and Sadie and G. L. returned to Auburn in 1951. Their first granddaughter, Kathleen Jane, was born in 1950. In 1951, granddaughter, Mary arrived, followed by Ellen in 1953, Stephen in 1955, Sheila in 1957, Sarah in 1959, Patricia in 1962, and Carolyn in 1967. With eight grandchildren, a son married to Jane and the Pattern Shop in good condition, life for Sadie and G. L. was good.

In 1940, G. L. was appointed a trustee to Immaculate Conception Catholic parish. By 1955, plans to build a new church were proposed. G. L. was very involved with these plans and the church and school were completed in 1960. The Foley grandchildren attended the Catholic grade school, which was across the street from the home of Sadie and G. L. This allowed Sadie to invite the grandchildren to lunch on Thursdays, similar to what her mother and sister, Ell, did for the Bailey grandchildren in Springfield.

With the death of Sadie's beloved sister, Ell, in 1966, and the selling of the Bailey home the next year, home ties to Springfield were lost. Sadie had dreamed of retiring to Springfield, but with the deaths of her many friends and family, this dream was lost.

In 1968, John Leo was elected to the Auburn City Council. G. L. was, by this time, semi-retired and worked half days at the Shop. This allowed them to live a slower paced life. John, involved in city activities, kept G. L. busy making patterns for city signs and projects. John was elected Mayor of Auburn in 1972. This was a busy time for all the Foleys.

In 1970, Sadie and G. L. celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a big party hosted by Jane and John. Many Bailey and Foley relatives came to the party. Life for them revolved around family, grandchildren, church and social activities. In 1975, G. L. suffered another series of small strokes that resulted in hospitalization. He got better and celebrated his 90th birthday in June 1978. He died on July 30, 1978 at the age of 91. Sadie mourned the loss of G. L. but was able to live by herself for another twelve years. She celebrated her 100th birthday with a large family party at 1988, again hosted by Jane, John and family. Many relatives were present to wish her well. She broke her ankle and leg in 1986 in a fall at her home for which she required nursing care, which was supplied, in large part, by her granddaughters. In 1990, she again fell and required full nursing home care. She lived at Sacred Heart Home in Avilla Indiana until she died on December 6, 1996, nearly 108 years old. She was the last of the John S. Bailey family and lived the longest of all.

FIREMAN HALTED BY SPECTATORS

Two Injured When Flames Sweep Factory Building

One Fireman was cut by glass, another overcome and damage estimated between $10,000 and $15,000 caused by fire at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, which swept the second floor of the two-story brick structure occupied by the Ensign Foundry Co. and National Pattern Co., Bancroft street and Michigan Central Railroad.

Thomas Riley of No. 4 Hose Wagon was cut on the hand when a window was broken from the heat. He was back on duty Wednesday. Timothy Connors, driver of No. 4 Hose Wagon was overcome by smoke. He was rescued by District Chief Wilcox. He also returned to duty on Wednesday.

When fire engines arrived the streets were choked with automobiles attracted by the smoke. It was 10 minutes before the first line of hose could be laid. Being driven over by automobiles broke three lines of hose.

Part of the roof caved in while several firemen were on top of the building, but they continued at work.

The fire started in the part of the building occupied by the National Pattern Co. on the second floor. A pedestrian saw the smoke and turned in an alarm. Fire chiefs sent in two other alarms.

R. M. Ensign, vice-president of the Ensign Foundry Co., placed the loss at $15,000. District Chief Wilcox says it is $9,000.

Fire Chief Elling was confined to his bed Wednesday as a result of directing the fighting of fires Monday night at the Mauk Lumber Co. and the Tuesday night blaze. He had been ill but left his bed to direct his men.

Note: National Pattern Co. was owned by George L. Foley and Russell Cable.

Bailey-Foley.

The wedding of Miss Sarah Bailey to G. Leo Foley will be solemnized this morning in St. Joseph church at eight o'clock. Rev. P. C. Bailey, a brother of the bride will perform the ceremony. Rev. Bailey is pastor of St. Edward church, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Miss Bailey will wear a white satin gown with chantilly lace over draperies. A picture hat of white with harmonizing accessories will complete her gown. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and white peas will be her flowers.

Miss Anna Hennessy, the bridesmaid, will form a pleasing complement to Miss Bailey's white, with a candlelight yellow georgette dress with fillet trimming. She will also carry Ophelia roses.

Mr. M. J. Goebel will be the other attendant.

Immediately following the services, a breakfast will be served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Bailey of Homeview avenue. A color decoration of yellow and white will also be carried out, large art baskets of peonies filling the rooms.

The out of town guests at the wedding will be Mrs. Catherine Foley, mother of the bridegroom of Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Kelley of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. John Foley, Indianapolis. The immediate families and a few friends will be guests at the breakfast, after which the bridal couple will leave for an eastern trip extending over ten days or two weeks. They will make their home in Toledo.

MR. AND MRS. G. LEO FOLEY

Golden anniversary to be observed by Foleys

AUBURN — Mr. and Mrs. G. Leo Foley, 621 E. Seventh St., Auburn will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, June 13, with an 11 a.m. Mass to be read by the Rev. Matthew Eange at Immaculate Conception Church followed by a family luncheon at Greenhurst Country Club.

The couple were married June 8, 1920, by Mrs. Foley's brother, the Late Rev. Timothy C. Bailey in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Springfield, Ohio.

Mr. Foley moved his family to Auburn in 1930 after establishing Foley Pattern Company, Inc., here.

They are the parents of one son, John L., who is honoring his parents with an open house at his home, 307 N. Van Buren St. from 3 to 5 p.m.

Friends and relatives are invited to help celebrate the Mass and the open house, but the couple requests that gifts be omitted.

*Poem
By Jane C. Foley*

Miss Sarah Catherine Bailey on a Tuesday morning bright,
(It was June 8, 1920 - that's the date, all right.)
They tell us that the clock was rather close to 8
As she hurried to St. Joseph's Church - 'twould be awful to be late 'Cause Leo Foley waited there to claim his bride-to-be.
Her brother would sing the High Mass - Father Timothy C. Bailey.
And, oh, the church was lovely with white peonies and all
Anna Hennessy, her bridesmaid, would later on recall.
Jake Gobel, who was best man, and Leo's real good pal
Was on hand to do all that he could for both the guy and gal.
Jimmie Bailey helped to seat the guests, and Walter Foley, too,
Served as ushers for the wedding happily uniting those two.

They remembered when they got engaged; Cedar Point was the spot
It was a vacation setting her family liked a lot.
But little did she realize as she stood beside her groom
The funny thing which happened the night before in Leo's room.
You see he had a fine old aunt - Aunt Catherine, by name
And she thought she'd play a prank and never get the blame.
She quietly nabbed the trousers that belonged to his wedding suit
And stitched the bottom pant legs shut and knotted them to boot
And hung them back up carefully so Leo'd never know;
She figured she would laugh at him for "dressing so doggone slow".
But he showed up next morning as chipper as you please!
The truth came out when Walter yelled. "Who was the awful tease*"
He came in after Leo had retired the night before
And hung his suit where Leo had, right there beside the door.
Catherine, in her stealthy haste to take them down to alter
Just took the pair which was in front, and they belonged to Walter!
But the bride was anxiously glancing and there was a little frown

Whenever her eyes left him, Leo would nearly go down.
He swears it wasn't beer or wine or any other booze
He claims he slipped and slid around because of his new shoes.
And with the marble church and blessings and such galore
She had to grab his arm at times or he'd have hit the floor.
Ah, well, let's say no more; the wedding was very nice.
The reception was at her home, complete with wine and rice
The groom had come to town by train from Toledo, quite a trip!
He put in bottles of white wine before he closed his grip.
And thoughtfully stashed it under his Mother's chair —
No conductor would ever think of looking there!

In spite of the jokes and laughter and fun
The main fact is these two were made one
And they've been through a lot together
Both good times and some stormy weather.
They look back today on fifty years
On times of joy and times of tears.
In Bryan they added John, their son,
Who brought them both anxieties and fun.
The business that brought them to this town
Has added to memories - both "up" and "down".
We look at them with love today
As models of the ideal way.
They've kept their faith and through it all
Loved each child - the big and the small.
Their many friends are with them today
(In spirit, those who are far away)
We all wish them well in their Golden Year
And say "Thank you both for just being here.
This old earth needs more like you —
Kind and generous and loyal and true.
So this is our toast and our closing prayer;
God keep you both in His loving care."

SARAH FOLEY MARKS 107TH BIRTHDAY

Not many people live to see 107 Christmases.

Sacred Heart Home resident Sarah Foley is one of a select few who has lived long enough to see that many Christmases come and go.

Sarah who observed her 107th birthday December 26, 1995, is considered "a sweetie" by those who care for her. She is native of Springfield, Ohio, and the daughter of the late John and Bridgette(Nolan) BAILEY.

Sarah a widow met her husband George Foley at a church dance. They were married in 1920.

George who died in 1978, founded Foley Pattern Co., 1926. The Foleys' only child, John Foley, and his family continue to operate Foley Pattern in Auburn.

In her younger years, Mrs. Foley enjoyed traveling and reading and was an avid bridge player. According to staff members she is still able to use her wheelchair to move about inside the Home, and she enjoys visits from family members.

Depending upon how she feels she also periodically attends Mass and participates in other activities.

Sarah is the the Home's oldest resident, and according to officials of Noble County's five other long-term nursing care facilities, she is likely the oldest resident of Noble County.

Busy at 'hobby'

G.L. FOLEY, founder of Foley Pattern Co., Inc., has never "officially retired" although his work day has gone from 14 hours daily to about three. Here, G.L. works at his "hobby," sign making. His plaques grace many local businesses, industrial buildings, and organizations. He is particularly proud of the Baron plaque he donated to the new DeKalb High School. Foley Patternfounder is actively involved

Star City Editor

Age is no barrier to activity for George Leo Foley, founder of Auburn's Foley Pattern Co., Inc., 502 W. Eleventh St. At age 83, G. L. still spends his mornings at the plant his son, Mayor-elect John Foley, manages.

A long-time Chamber of Commerce member, G. L. credits that organization with his keeping Foley Pattern Co. in Auburn. The Chamber's faith in G. L. Foley has paid off in a productive profitable business which started with five employees and has grown large enough to hire 75 Auburn area residents.

G. L. attended high school in his native Springfield, Ohio, then left to serve a four-year apprenticeship in pattern-making. He started working at seven cents an hour, and after three years had worked his way up to 15 cents an hour, and 60 hours a week.

He married Sarah Bailey in Springfield June 8, 1920, 51 years ago. They live at 621 E. Seventh St.

The Foleys stayed in Springfield until 1913, then G. L. joined U. S. Malleable Iron Co., Toledo, Ohio, after which he went to work for Willys Oberlin plant, where he worked on aluminum engine parts for the wood-winged Spitfire airplane.

G. L. and a partner started their own pattern shop in 1919, on the second floor of a foundry building, but a disastrous 1921 fire ended the business.

The Foleys moved to Bryan, Ohio, and he went to work for what is now Aro Corp. In 1927 he began to work with Auburn Foundry through Stanley Mefford, city attorney Don Mefford's father.

Foley Pattern began in the glue room at Auburn Foundry's stoker building in 1930 and incorporated in 1934. The Foundry finally got so busy they needed the glue room, which had housed a radio shop then Magnavox before Foley's move.

G. L. said he was discouraged and about ready to move away from Auburn when the Chamber helped him get the building, a big garage, where the company finally settled.

Foleys have bought adjacent property over the years to make the plant as expansive as it is at present.

When the business began here, Mrs. Foley was the official bookkeeper. Ninety per cent of the pattern-makers were wood specialists, while only 10 per cent were metal specialists. Today that figure is completely reversed.

G. L. said his company has always made patterns for foundries, and the crude methods originally used have changed considerably.

"It used to be all sand and man's ability—and production was small," he said. "Now we use brass, iron, and plastic and press the sand into place with machines. We can mass produce castings."

But the biggest change for

G. L. is hiring younger men, and breaking them in. He tells about the time he bought a machine, provided he could also have the operator. The operator turned out to be Preston Stackholist, who now serves as plant superintendent.

A good share of Foley's employees have been with the company for more than 25 years.

"But the youngsters like it, because it's a challenge and they can see it grow," he said.

"When somebody has an idea, he experiments to find a saleable product. But before he can get into production, he comes to us—the patternmakers—and we develop his product into something tangible," he said.

A 14-hour day was nothing unusual for G. L. Foley—until 1956 when he had a severe asthma attack which kept him out of commission for some time. His doctor and his wife sent him to Colorado for seven months to recuperate.

John was in college at the time, and was "forced into taking over leadership at the plant."

The Foleys discovered G. L. was allergic to the mohair in their living room furniture, to living plants, and to 75 different foods. G. L. chuckled — "And to Sarah's furs." Mrs. Foley just said "Ha!"

The Foleys are members of Immaculate Conception Church here. He also belongs to the Elks, Knights of Columbus and Chamber of Commerce.

G. L. finds it remarkable that he doesn't make patterns like he used to, but his hobby is making cast plaques—he calls it "sign-making." He is particularly proud of the plaque he donated to the new DeKalb High School which boasts a Baron's shield.

He is currently working on a new plaque for the Community Swimming Pool.

Foley Pattern founder dies

George L. Foley, 90, died Sunday at 10:08 a.m. in DeKalb Memorial Hospital. An Auburn resident for 48 years, he was founder and still chairman of the board of Foley Pattern Co. He had been hospitalized for two weeks.

Mr. Foley was born in Springfield, Ohio, June 21, 1888, to George and Catherine (Fealy) Foley. He married Sarah Bailey June 8, 1920. She survives. Mr. Foley's home was at 621 E. First St., Auburn.

Surviving in addition to Mrs. Foley are one son, John, 307 N. Van Buren St., Auburn, and eight grandchildren. Three brothers preceded Mr. Foley in death.

Mr. Foley was a member of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus chapter 1790 in Garrett, and a charter member of the Auburn Elks lodge.

His funeral will be Wednesday at 11 a.m. in Immaculate Conception Church, with Msgr. Leo Hoffmann officiating. Burial will be in the Auburn Catholic Cemetery.

Friends may call at Dilgard and Cline Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Tuesday. A rosary service will be conducted Tuesday at 8 p.m.

DAVID "NEIL" FOLEY

DOB: September 24, 1910 in Springfield, Ohio

PARENTS: Walter A. Foley and Julia Lillian O'Neill

BAPTIZED: October 2, 1910 by Reverend Francis Kennedy at St. Raphael's Church

SPONSORS: John Linus O'Neill and Catherine Fealey Foley (His uncle and grandmother)

SIBLINGS: Mary Angela (1915), George "Paul", Walter "Donald"

OCCUPATION: Sales Manager

MARRIAGE: February 22, 1936 to Alice Marie Barnhardt at St. Angus Church in Dayton, Ohio. Ceremony performed by Reverend Raphael D. Rodgers, a cousin of Neil's.

CHILDREN: David Michael (b. May 2, 1937 Springfield, Ohio), Peter Allen (b. September 1, 1940 Springfield, Ohio), Alice Theresa (b. March 8, 1945 Piqua, Ohio)

Neil was named after his maternal grandfather, David O'Neill. He grew up in Springfield, Ohio and attended St. Raphael's grade and high school. He graduated from St. Raphael's high school in 1928. He attended St. Gregory's College in Cincinnati, Ohio for two years. As this was the depression time, work was hard to find, Neil took up sales and sold insurance for several years. He worked at Robbins-Myers in Springfield where his father, Walter, was chief inspector. Neil later went to Dayton, Ohio and worked at National Cash Register Co. It was where he met Alice Marie Barnhardt. After they were married, they returned to Springfield, Ohio where Neil again worked at Robbins-Myers. When World War II started, Neil and his family moved to Piqua, Ohio. Neil worked in the Purchasing Department of the Robbins-Myers plant in Piqua. This is where they made motors and parts for the super secret Norden Bombsight for the U. S. Army Air Force. After the war was over, the Piqua Robbins-Myers Plant was closed and Neil sought a civil service job in Los Angeles, California. With financial help from Walter and Leslie, Neil and his family moved to California. Neil drove his car and a trailer to Los Angeles. Alice and the children followed later via the Super Chief Train. The civil service job did not develop and Neil found other work. The family soon came back to Springfield where Neil found work at Standard Register in Dayton in the sale department. He was sent to Charlotte, North Carolina to work as a sale representative for National Register in the southeastern states. He enjoyed sales work and later became sales manager for Indian Motorcycle Company. He also was sales representative for York Air Conditioner. He was founder of the Drug Awareness Decal Program for the North Carolina Public Schools and the Boy Scouts of America. Due to health problems, Neil retired as Vice-President of Transmark Inc., an advertising company. He became active in lung and cancer programs after he retired. He died November 6, 1992 and is buried in Charlotte, North Carolina. Hobbies included golf and tennis.

SERVICE: United States Navy Reserve 1954-1962

MARRIAGE: August 21, 1965 to Anne Taylor Gatewood in Richmond, Virginia

CHILDREN: Julia Tyler (b. July 14, 1968 Athens, Georgia), Elizabeth Skyren (b. April 19, 1972 Athens, Georgia)

SIBLINGS: Peter A. (b. 1940) and Alice T. (1945)

David, the eldest son of Neil and Alice Foley was a family leader in the academic excellence. He always got excellent grades and in college chose history as his major field. We owe him our thanks, for his early interest and research into Foley family genealogy that led to this book. David was raised in Charlotte, North Carolina and attended school there. He graduated from O'Donhue High School in 1954. He enlisted in the Navy Reserve and served 1954-1962. During this time, he attended and graduated from Abby College in 1959 with a BA in history. He compiled a genealogy of the Foley family in 1959. From 1960-1961, he taught history as a teaching assistant at Auburn University. He attended Auburn University and received his Master's Degree in U.S. Diplomatic History in 1966.

After receiving his Master's degree, David taught history at the Duval County Public Schools in Florida. In 1962, he was awarded a full scholarship by the Leopold Schepp Foundation to study in London England. He attended the University of London as a Leopold Schepp Foundation Scholar from 1962-1965.

He also became an instructor at the University of Maryland-European Division. He taught U.S. History at various Naval and Air Force installations in England. During this time, David did further research on Foley genealogy and published his research on our family. It is a book titled, "Living Descendants of Blood Royal, Volume 5." This pedigree approved and registered by the Chief Herald of Ireland showed the descent of George Greely Foley (1860-1900) from Brian Boru, King of Ireland (slain 1014 AD). On August 21, 1965, David married Anne Tyler Gatewood. In 1966, David was awarded two Post Doctorate Research Grants by the Joint Committee on African Studies of the American Council of Learned Societies, and the Social Science Council. He did his research in Monrovia, Liberia in 1966 and was guest lecturer at Fourah Bay College at University of Sierra Leone. In 1967, David returned to London to complete his research.

He then returned to the United States and worked as Assistant Professor and Coordinator of Afro-American Studies program at the University of Georgia from 1967-1977.

The David Foley family had settled in Athens, Georgia on April 19, 1968, their first daughter, Julia Tyler, was born. David continued teaching history at the University of Georgia and became active in several organizations. From 1968-1977, David was a member of the Board of Advisors and Housing Authority for the city of Athens, Georgia. In 1972, a second daughter, Elizabeth Skyren was born on July 14, 1972. David became a consultant on the Race Relations Program at the U. S. Navy Supply School in Athens, Georgia from 1972-1977. From 1975-1977, he was also a member of the University of Georgia's Staff Grievance Review Board, member of the University of Georgia's Regents Committee for Area Studies for Core Curriculum. In 1976, he was an officer and member of the University of Georgia's Search Committee for Equal Opportunities.

In 1977-1990, David became Associate Professor at Augusta College of the University System of Georgia. In 1981-1985, he was a member of the Human Relations Commission of Richmond County, Georgia. He was president of the Augusta, Georgia Genealogical Society from 1984-1985, and was named a Fulbright Scholar, 1986-1987.

Tragically, David's wife, Anne Tyler, died on November 14, 1987. David held his family together and saw daughter, Julia, graduate in 1991 from Augusta College. Daughter, Elizabeth, attended Purdue University and Loyola University and graduated in 1994. Both daughters married and David retired and moved to Charlotte, North Carolina where his family lived. He worked at various academic jobs, and enjoyed the company of his family in Charlotte. David died suddenly March 11, 2003 and is buried in Athens, Georgia.

His many honors include: listed in several editions of the Dictionary of International Biography; Directory of American Scholars; Directory of Scholars and Specialist in Third World Studies; International Directory of Scholars and Specialist in African Studies; International Who's-Who in Education; Sons of the Revolution; Society of Colonial Wars; and Baronial Order of Magna Charta.

CATCH ONE OF AUGUSTA'S RISING STARS

By Robyn Hood Black

Augusta Ballet's annual production of Tchiakovsky's "Nutcracker" is special to a lot of people. For many, the holiday season just wouldn't start without this tale of Christmas magic.

But for Julia Foley, who will dance the part of the Sugar Plum Fairy in the four matinee productions, this year's performance is even more special. The charming, pretty and very talented 22 year old recounted her tiptoe through the ranks of "Nutcracker" since joining the cast here at eight years old.

"My first year I was the Littlest Angel," she said, "Zanne Beaufort was the Sugar Plum Fairy. It's kind of ironic, because the Sugar Plum Fairy takes the hand of the Littlest Angel and from that moment I wanted to be the Sugar Plum Fairy."

Foley was born down the road in Athens, where at four she started taking tap and ballet lessons. "I really enjoyed my teachers in Athens," she recalled. "Even back then, I felt special. I got the best roles in the dinky little performances we did." Athens is also where she met Ron Colton, artistic director for Augusta Ballet along with Beaufort.

"He would come there to teach and I took classes from him," Foley said. "When I moved to Augusta, I started here at the Augusta Ballet School."

That's pretty much where she's been since. Of course she had to go to school, but the former Miss Westside High gave up many a football game or party to rehearse. Now she is finishing up her English degree at Augusta College, with an education minor. She has a 3.67 grade-point average, which earned her membership in the Phi Kappa Phi honor society. She also teaches dance at Davidson Fine Arts Magnet School.

Still she has to keep up with her relentless rehearsal schedule.

"It's a hard life, and a hard career," she said. "I have to support it with other jobs because of the pay." Also every dancer must contend with injuries and fatigue. Because behind those elegant, seemingly effortless movements on stage are blisters, bunions and a lot of perspiration.

"I had knee surgery in 1987 and was out three months," she said. "I had to miss the spring performance due to recurring dislocation. Something always hurts. There is constant bruising of the toenails, tendentious flair-ups, blisters and bunions. I've even had sore ribs because this is my first partnering experience."

"Another thing is, I'm only 22 and some days I have to wait a few minutes before I can walk. This is the hardest thing I've ever had to do."

But she thrives on it, rehearsing every day after school and work and on weekends as well. Foley is also dancing as Frau Silberhaus in the first act, and she's working with a partner, Pierre-Andre Touze, for the first time.

The Sugar Plum Fairy will not be her first solo role: she was "Beauty" in "Beauty and the Beast" here last season. She was featured as "Prayer" in "Coppelia" and in Tom Pazik's "A Dry Manhattan." She has also danced as Dewdrop in the "Nutcracker." Foley's dance work and her many other accomplishments resulted in her being honored as a local "Woman of Excellence" in the youth category last year.

Ron Cotton praised her combination of talent and insight. "She is so easy to work with," he said. "She started with me in Athens when she was a little girl, and she's always worked with such intelligence. She is sweet and delicate, but behind that is a very strong girl."

Foley has met her personal as well as career challenges. Her mother died a few years ago, and she and her 18 year old sister, Elizabeth, stay close together. "Elizabeth is my biggest fan,” Foley said. “She is a freshman at Purdue this year, so she won’t get to see ‘Nutcracker.’ I’ll really miss her.”

Elizabeth won’t be there this year to keep Foley from sleepwalking and muttering. “I’ll be late for rehearsal,” like she did last year in December. Because for these few weeks, the ballet is all she will eat, sleep, drink and dream.

“It’s not just physical,” she said. “There’s a lot of mental practice. A lot of science is involved in the steps, and you have to rely on that science when your muscles are so tired and tense that you can’t feel your toes moving.”

But she wouldn’t give it up. “I read a quote once that said being a dancer is like being an astronaut – you go to places no one’s ever been,” she said.

“There’s nothing like being on stage and feeling that surge. You practice and practice, sweat and sweat, and finally it comes together. I think that’s why I keep doing it even though there are injuries, and I have to organize my whole life around it, I couldn’t give it up.”

Foley will graduate from Augusta College in the spring, and she would like to stay in Augusta, teaching ballet at Davidson and dancing with the company.

“This is an excellent company,” she said. “Augusta Ballet is one of the only four Major Companies (designated by Regional Dance America.). It’s a wonderful learning opportunity for me, and Ron and Zanne have a lot to offer. I’d like to stay here and keep doing what I’m doing.”

That’s good news for local audiences, because Foley has a lot to offer too. She’s a rising star full of ambition and warmth.

Dear Mother and Dad; Peter and Alice; Aunt Angela, Uncle Donald;
Great Uncle Leo ("the Patriarch");
and Cousins,

Please forgive the impersonal nature of this letter. I have concluded that if I am to get the enclosure to you before autumn, I must forgo the pleasure of writing to you individually.

As most of you know, I have been interested in genealogy for some time. Several years ago, my research enabled me to have a pedigree showing that the descendants of George G. Foley of Springfield, Ohio, descend also from Brian Boru, king of Ireland, investigated, accepted, and registered by the Chief Herald of Ireland at Dublin Castle. Some of you received photostatic copies of this registration.

This year, Volume V of Blood Royal in America published this line. I take pleasure in sending each of you a Xerox copy of this entry. Our descent comes through Thomas Dudley, governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony. Several other entries in Volume V show different lines in Governor Dudley's ancestry, which are shared by all his descendants. I have included two of these additional lines for your information.
One shows descent from Henry I, king of France, the other from Henry II, king of England.

I am also enclosing a chart showing the descent of George G. Foley from Governor Dudley through four different lines. This chart also shows his descent from John Winthrop and Simon Bradstreet, who also served as governors of Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Sincerely yours,

David M. Foley

OCCUPATION: Lawyer

SIBLINGS: David Michael (1937), Alice Theresa (1945)

MARRIED: September 4, 1965 to Mary Shepard Henerson (b. July 20, 1947) in Charlotte, North Carolina

CHILDREN: Brian Peter Foley (July 15, 1968 Charlotte, North Carolina), Douglas David Foley (February 25, 1971 Charlotte, North Carolina)

After graduation from law school, Peter established his own practice of law. He has served his country in many years such as: member of North Carolina General Assembly in 1971, member of Charlotte Civil Service Board, Instructor at Central Piedmont Community College, Assistant Solicitor, Superior Court member, Law Enforcement Committee member, and member of Chamber of Commerce. Peter was elected and served one term as Mecklenburg County Commissioner in 1972. He has since continued his law practice. His wife, Mary Shepard Foley, came from a law-oriented family as both her brother and father are lawyers. Peter semi-retired in 2003. His hobbies are sailboat racing and quail hunting.

BRIAN PETER FOLEY

DOB: July 15, 1968 in Charlotte, North Carolina

PARENTS: Peter A. Foley and Mary Shepard Henderson

EDUCATION: College (Chapel Hill, N.C.) Degree: Political Science

OCCUPATION: Sergeant of Charlotte Police Department

SIBLING: Douglas David Foley (1971)

MARRIED: Jennifer Jones; October 23, 1999

Brian was an accomplished photographer during college and won a national Kodak award for some of his work. In addition, he has always had a special interest in cars. Both fixing them and racing them through the Sports Car Club of America. He collects vintage firearms and German sports cars.

JENNIFER MARIE JONES

DOB: February 23, 1976

MARRIED: October 23, 1999, Charlotte, North Carolina

PARENTS: David Ellis Jones (b. Feb. 14, 1946 - Retired Military in Army Aviation) and Carlena M. Jones (b. January 9, 1948 - Teacher)

SIBLINGS: Mathew Ellis Jones (b. June 27, 1978)

DOUGLAS “DOUG” DAVID FOLEY

DOB: February 25, 1971

PARENTS: Peter A. Foley and Mary Shepard “Shep” Henerson

OCCUPATION: Banker

EDUCATION: College (Appalachian State, North Carolina – Computer Science)

MARRIED: Wendy Michele Eades Foley; September 30, 1995, Shiloh Methodist Church, Newton, North Carolina

SIBLING: Brian Peter Foley

CHILDREN: Claudia Rowan Foley (Named after Wendy’s Great Grandmother, Claudia McGee Eades) (b. April 9, 2001); Jacob Alan Foley (Middle name after both grandfathers (b. June 22, 2004)

Doug was in college for six years, where after studying anthropology for 3, and spending three summers on the Navajo reservation, switched major to Computer Science. He met Wendy at Appalachian. Wendy was the roommate of a former girlfriend. He is deeply interested in genealogy and music, especially traditional Irish and Bluegrass. Doug plays the guitar, Bodhran, Pennywhistle, and Mandolin. He is currently the inheritor of Great Grandfather, Walter Foley’s Mandolin, which is well loved and well played.

Doug says, “We Foleys have never had a great deal of money, but we have always had happiness. This stems from the fact that few of us are obsessed with money and realize that you may never get everything you desire, but you quite often will get what you need. Family is bound together not by money, but by good food, shared music, silly family traditions, and quiet Sunday afternoons with no television.” Also, Doug says “My grandfather, Neil David Foley once told me – Douglas, you’re a Foley, that means we have big hearts. We laugh when we are happy, and cry when we are sad. Foley men shouldn’t be afraid to cry, you just have to be prepared to beat the ever living tar out of anyone who laughs.”

WENDY MICHELLE EADES FOLEY

DOB: August 30, 1972

MARRIED: September 30, 1995; Douglas “Doug” David Foley

PARENTS: Walter “Alan” Eades (Manager of Hickory Steel Company b. May 29, 1949) and Wanda Harrison Eades (Customer Service b. July 19, 1950)

SIBLINGS: Christy Alicia Eades (b. March 25, 1975)

Wendy is an amazing cook, spending a good deal of her time, love and interest in the kitchen where she applies her deeply scientific mind to the chemistry of cooking.

Words of wisdom from Wendy, “The things that make us happy make us wise.”

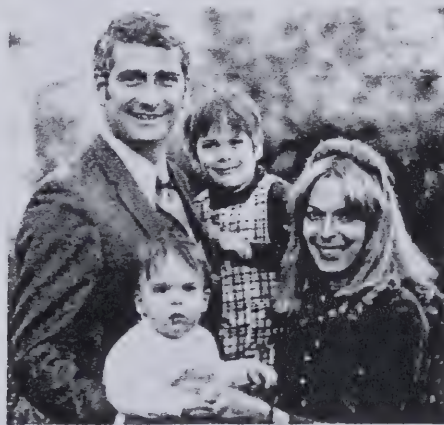

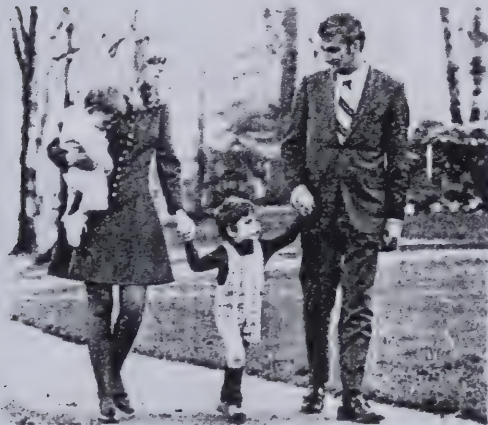

ELECT
FOLEY
MECKLENBURG COUNTY
COMMISSION

Peter A. Foley has served his county in many ways. Among those ways are:

1. Member, N.C. General Assembly, 1971.
2. Member, Charlotte Civil Service Board.
3. Instructor, Central Piedmont Community College
4. Assistant Solicitor, Superior Court.
5. Member, Law Enforcement Committee Chamber of Commerce.

Pete has practiced law in Mecklenburg County for seven years, and is active in church and community affairs. Pete and his wife "Shep" have two sons, Brian and Douglas, and live in the Steele Creek area of Mecklenburg County.

Pete's experience, his record of service and his continuing desire to be of service indicate that a vote for Foley is a vote for a better Charlotte and Mecklenburg County.

He died October 4, 1966 and is buried in Calvary Cemetery in Springfield, Ohio. He spent his summer at Indian Lake where his parents had a cottage.

A Personal Message

.. from Angela Lawarre — ACL President

There are few families today which have not encountered some problem. The Council of the Laity has planned an assembly (Sun., April 9, Immaculate Conception church, Dayton) with workshops that will touch on most of these difficult situations. We think there will be inspiration and help for all. We urge you to come. If you have no problems perhaps you will gain knowledge and understanding to help others. Come not later than 12:30. If possible stay through Mass at 5:15. Assembly registration, $3.

GEORGE "PAUL" FOLEY

DOB: June 24, 1920

BAPTISM: July 20, 1920 Pastor – Rev. Leo Walsh

SPONSORS: Michael and Rose O'Neil

DOD: October 9, 1926

AGE: 6

PARENTS: Walter A. Foley and Julia Lillian O'Neil

SIBLINGS: David "Neil" (b. 1910), "Mary Angela" (b. 1916), Donald "Walter" (b. 1924)

Paul was the second son of Walter and Lillie Foley. He died from diphtheria in 1926. The story of his short life was written by Louise Lawarre Collins.

TWO ANGELS

There were two pictures of angels in my Grandmother's living room. If you were ever there, you probably remember them. One was a painting, or at least a print. The other was a photograph. The painting was of a cherub, sweetly, nakedly plump, soft golden curls, and wings, dipping bare toes into a pond. Was she sitting on a bench? I think so, but perhaps I am confusing it with the other picture. That one was the photograph. It was definitely a boy.

He was sitting on a stool, one leg crossed over the other, little hand resting on an ankle. All dressed in white, as was fitting for an angel. Little white shorts, shirt and socks, and white shoes that buckled, more feminine than a boy would wear today. His curls were brown, not golden, and he didn't have wings. But he was an angel. Grandmother said he was.

Paul was born in 1920. My mother Angela was five. The day he was born was the first day she was ever allowed to go all by herself to buy an ice cream cone. They gave her a nickel and sent her off. When she came back there was a baby there. They told her they had found him on the window sill.

Grandma Foley said Paul was an angel even when he was little. She said that's why he died; because he was too good to live. I would ask her what she meant, and she would tell me about the tricycle. It was a birthday present when he was three or four. He was so excited! But another child wanted to ride it, too. So Paul let him ride first! He was happy to share! And it seems that's how he always acted. Always thinking of others first.

Then it was time for him to go to school; the time when most boys got to have short haircuts and wear long pants. But Grandma loved his long curls and couldn't bear to cut them. And his short pants were what pleased her. "All right, Mother," he would say. If it made her happy, it was what he wanted.

But Paul was not a very healthy child. He was always a bit frail. Then at four he had rheumatic fever, and it weakened his heart. When he got diphtheria at six, it was more than his little body could handle. He was waked at home, but callers could not enter the house to pay their condolences because it was such a contagious disease. So they laid him in his casket by the living room window. Grandma said long lines of people filed up onto the front porch to say good-bye to Paul, one by one walking past the window. Now he really was an angel.

In a photograph taken on the front porch when their youngest child Donald was born, Grandma is holding the baby, and Paul, then four, is smiling near to her. Grandma's hair is wrapped up in a bun on her head, very dark hair, even in the black and white photo. Another picture, taken about four years later, shows Grandma, with her hair now bobbed, and very gray. What brought about the change? Had she been coloring her hair before? Was it a dark hairpiece? Or had she simply gotten gray in those four years.

That's a question I have to wait to have answered until I get my "wings." But Paul died in that span of four years. And many people have said that his death really changed her.

Grandma lost her son, but she made him very much alive for me. I never thought of him as my uncle, or even as a little boy. He was an angel then, and he is an angel now, smiling sweetly in the photo that now hangs in my home. My Grandmother's angel.

DONALD "WALTER" FOLEY

DOB: November 7, 1924

BAPTIZED: November 30, 1924 at St. Raphael's by Rev. Daniel A. Bookley

SPONSORS: Paul and Nora Rogers

OCCUPATION: Sales Engineer – heating and air conditioning

EDUCATION: St. Raphael's schools 1930-1942; University of Dayton B.S. Business -1950

SERVICE: U. S. Navy 3 years – Aviation Machinist Made 3rd Class

MARRIED: Rosemary Walsh (b. Dec. 24, 1927) on August 26, 1950; St. Raphael's Church in Springfield, Ohio. Her parents are Frank Walsh (1885-1945) and Mary Leitchon (1887-1981).

CHILDREN: John Robert/Richard (b. 1951), Ellen Mary (b. 1953), Timothy James (b. 1956), Daniel Joseph (b. 1958), Michael Donald (b. 1961), Carol Marie (b. 1963), Janet Marie (b. 1966)

Donald is the youngest son of Walter and Lillie Foley. His childhood years were spent on Northern Avenue in Springfield. His first working experience was working at Robbins and Myers Corporation on parts for the Norden Bomb Site during summer vacation while he was a junior (1941) and senior (1942) in high school. After high school graduation he joined the U.S. Navy for 3 years in February 1943. He was attached to the Navy Blimp group as an Aviation Machinist Mate 3rd class. He served at Chicago Navy Pier, and airfields in Oklahoma, Rhode Island and Florida. He reported it as "tough duty". He was discharged April 19, 1946. After the war was over he went to the University of Dayton and graduated in 1950 with a B. S. degree in business. After graduation in 1950, he went to work for Radiant Engineering, a heating and plumbing company in Dayton. In 1953, he helped start an insulation business known as Brewer-Foley Insulation Company in Dayton with a friend Larry Brewer. He sold the business to Larry in 1972. He sold real estate from 1972 to 1974. In 1974 Don became a sales engineer for Butler Heating and Air Conditioning Company of Dayton. He is presently employed by Butler and semi-retired.

He considered the profession of selling as a wonderful experience. His life experiences have been centered around his wife and family and their activities. He says he considers himself one of the luckiest persons on earth to have such a wonderful wife, children and grandchildren.

Don and Rose have both been very helpful to the author in collecting the family data for this report. I thank them for their help and hospitality.

Rosemary "Rosie" went to St. Raphael's schools (1933-1945) and has been an Administrative Assistant, Secretary, and Homemaker. Rosie has been a busy woman all her life. She and Don have raised a fine family and she is a beautiful gracious hostess to all who visit them. Her interests also centered around her family, grandchildren and church.

Their children are: John Robert/Richard, Ellen Mary, Timothy James, Daniel Joseph, Michael Donald, Carol Marie, Janet Marie.

John Robert/Richard "Jack" Foley was born July 23, 1951. He attended Dayton Catholic Schools and the University of Dayton and received a B.S. in Math in 1973. He is a Claims Representative for U.S. Social Security Division in Marion, Ohio. Jack reports his interests are in math, playing chess and solving puzzles. He teaches Sunday School at Christian Missionary Alliance Church in Marion, Ohio. He married on June 6, 1981 at Marion, Ohio to Susan Jane Oliver (b. March 10, 1954), daughter of Edwin C. Oliver (b. 1923) and Helen Lucille Guterba (b. 1926). They had four children: Sharon Renne (Feb. 11, 1983), Ann Elizabeth (June 25, 1985), Laura Jean (b. July 16, 1988), Mark Andrew (December 28, 1992). Susan taught high school business before the children were born. She is presently a housewife and home school teaches her children.

Ellen Mary Foley was born August 3, 1953. She was educated at Dayton Catholic Schools, University of Pittsburg with a B.A.; Ohio State, Ashland, MA. She is a English Teacher at Pickerton Jr. High School. She married David Bruce Weibel (b. November 3, 1952) on June 28, 1975 at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Dayton, Ohio. David is a Mechanical Engineer at J.E. Gote Co., Columbus, Ohio. Ellen loves theatre and the performing arts. She has done community theatre and semi professional theatre, including several television commercials. She loves her role as a wife and mother to their three sons, David Brian Weibel (b. July 24, 1977), Kevin Foley Weibel (b. Dec. 9, 1982) and Colin Timothy Weibel (b. June 21, 1984).

Timothy James Foley was born August 14, 1956. He went to Catholic Schools in Dayton. He works in Maintenance at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. Tim has a perfect attendance work record since 1977. He is unmarried at this time.

Daniel Joseph Foley was born October 20, 1958 and was educated in the Catholic Schools in Dayton. He received a B.S. degree Business Administration and Finance. He works as a Computer Programmer for Nationwide Insurance Co. of Columbus, Ohio. He married Misook Choi (b. June 30, 1961 in Seoul Korea). Her parents are Kyu Hyun Choi (b. 1933) and Young Joo Lee (b. 1934). Daniel and Missok Choi were married April 30, 1990 in Seoul Korea. Their children are David Michael (b. November 2, 1991) and Nathanael (b. 1996). Dan is interested in hunting and fishing. He loves carpentry, computer programming and bible study.

Michael Donald Foley was born Feb. 12, 1961 and was educated in the Catholic Schools in Dayton, Ohio State University. He received a B.S. Mechanical Engineering in 1985. He is a sales engineer for Metalworking Machinery Systems of Indianapolis, Indiana. Mike married Trinda Sue Zimmerman (b. Dec. 9, 1959, Ft. Wayne, Indiana), daughter of Robert Zimmerman (b. 1927) and Ann Sproul (b. 1929). They married on December 17, 1988 at Lombard, Illinois. Trinda went to Ball State University and received a B.A. in Primary Education in 1982. She is a Teacher/Homemaker. Mike is currently selling stamping machinery in central and southern Indiana. He is interested in Bible study and spiritual things. Trinda is interested in athletics and played basketball and Lacrosse at Ball State University. She works part time for the Washington Township Board of Education – Education Social Services. Mike and Trinda had two children: Justin Michael Foley (May 11, 1991) and Gretchen Elise Foley (b. June 26, 1993).

Carol Marie Foley was born July 24, 1963. Carol attended Ohio State University and received a B.A. in English. She is a writer/homemaker. She married John Charles Honingford (b. May 25, 1962), son of Dr. Thomas Honingford (b. 1928) and Juana Florez (1928), on September 30, 1989 at Northern Seatre Catholic Church in Columbus, Ohio. John Charles Honingford works in Sales for Gimentech Pharmaceuticals. Carol and John were high school sweethearts and then went their separate ways for eight years. They reunited and married. Carol enjoys creative writing and keeping house. John and Carol lived in Columbus, Ohio for five years and Piqua, Ohio for one year. They moved to Half Moon Bay, California in 1986. John is teaching future salesman for Gimentech Pharmaceuticals. They have one child, Adam Christopher Honingford (Dec. 11, 1989).

Janet Marie Foley was born November 4, 1966. She attended Ohio State University and received her B.A. in Journalism/English. She is a Production Editor at Random House, New York City. She married Emmitt Patrick Maguire, son of Patrick J. Maguire and Rose McManus, on February 21, 1998. Janet has always been interested in traveling. While at Ohio State University, she and her sister Carol traveled to Ireland and attended Trinity College in Dublin. It was there she met Emmitt P. Maguire from New York City. She moved to New York City after graduation to work for Random House Publishing Company. She was able to combine her love of travel and books as she edits travel books. Emmitt and Janet live in New York City.

O'MEARA

EDWARD JOSEPH FOLEY

DOB: October 9, 1914 Toledo, Ohio

DOD: January 14, 1997

AGE: 82

PARENTS: Edward J. Foley and Mary Eugenia Davoran.

OCCUPATION: Accounting – Armour and Company

EDUCATION: St. Raphael's High School Springfield Class of 1931; 2 years Business College

MARRIED: Mary Eileen O'Meara (b. 1921), daughter of Matthew O'Meara and Mary McNichols on May 11, 1946

CHILDREN: Eileen Marie (b. 1947), Kathleen Ann (b. 1949), Maureen Lynne (b. 1951), Colleen Marie (b. 1957)

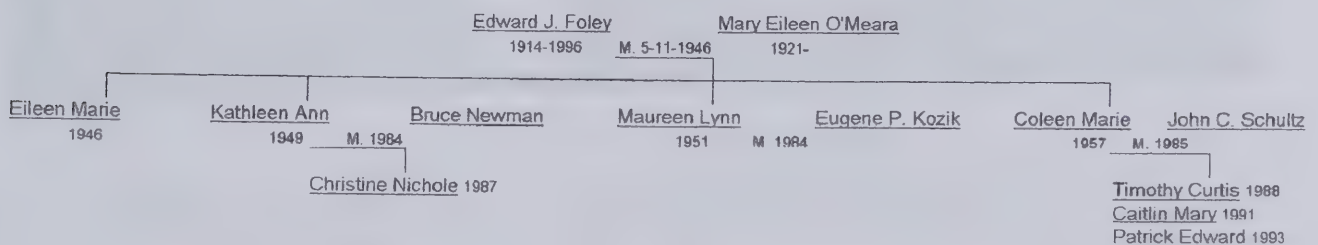

Ed was the eldest son of Ed and Mary Foley. He was just 7 years old when his father died. His childhood was spent in Springfield. Being the oldest son, he was taught to take care of his younger brother and sister. He attended schools in Springfield, was a good student and distinguished himself in academics. He graduated in 1932 during the depths of the Depression, so jobs were hard to find. He managed to find work and continued his education in night school. He chose accounting as a profession and worked for Armour Meat Packing Company in Columbus Ohio, Pittsburg Pennsylvania, LaGrange Illinois and Phoenix Arizona. Ed Jr. worked under his future wife's father, Matthew O'Meara in the Armour Accounting Department in Columbus. He met Mary through her father. They married in 1946 and had four daughters – all given Irish names. Mary had two years of college and was a private secretary and homemaker. The family later moved to Phoenix in 1955, where they presently live. Ed retired in 1979 and enjoyed the remainder of his life in Phoenix. He died of pneumonia on January 14, 1996. His obituary was reported in the Phoenix papers. He is buried in Phoenix. The names of their children are: Eileen Marie, Kathleen Ann, Maureen Lynne, Colleen Marie.

Eileen Marie Foley was born February 15, 1947. She went to a community college for one year and became an Underwriting Assistant for Scottsdale Insurance Co.

Kathleen Ann Foley was born February 4, 1949. She received a BA in English and became a Personnel Administrator at Chapman Autoplex. She married Bruce Newman on Nov. 16, 1984 and divorced in 1993. She has one child: Christine Nichole Newman (b. 1987)

Maureen Lynne Foley was born August 7, 1951. She received BS in Elementary and Special Education and an MS in Education and is Second Language Certified. She became a Kindergarten Teacher at Martin L. King School and was Administration Certified. She married Eugene Preston Kozik (b. 1942) on November 16, 1984.

Colleen Marie Foley was born in 1957. She received a B.S. in Journalism and is a Communications Specialist at Motorola Company and is also a homemaker. She married John Curtis Schultz (b. 1957) on Feb. 9, 1985. They had three children: Timothy Curtis (b. April 13, 1988), Caitlin Mary (b. March 17, 1991), Patrick Edward Schultz (b. May 23, 1993).

DOB: March 20, 1919

DOD: 1978

AGE: 58

PARENTS: Edward Joseph Foley and Mary Eugena Davoran.

OCCUPATION: Private Secretary/Homemaker

EDUCATION: Catholic Schools – Springfield, Ohio – Sacred Heart High School Class of 1937

MARRIED: September 17, 1938; Donald Norris

CHILDREN: Mary Ann (b. 1949), Ellen (b. 1951), Kenneth (b. 1953), Edward (b. 1955), Martha (b. 1956)

SIBLINGS: Edward Joseph Foley, Jr. (October 9, 1914), Robert Eugene Foley (Feb. 12, 1917)

Mary Margaret was known as “Sis”. She was the youngest of Ed and Mary Foley’s children and was a baby when her father died. She was a good student and excellent in all things she did. She was a great wife and mother and raise 5 fine children. She died in 1978 of pneumonia and complications and is buried in Columbus, Ohio.

She was born March 20, 1919 in Springfield, Ohio to Edward Joseph Foley and Mary Eugena Davoran. Margaret had many health problems as a child, which contributed to bronchitis, the lung disease which finally took her life on September 22, 1978 in Columbus, Ohio. Margaret, Sis or Sissybell as she was called by her brothers and family members, was a very intelligent woman with a great sense of humor. She had to be to raise five children in the fifties. She married Donald Norris on September 17, 1938 with twenty dollars between them. After waiting and praying for ten years they were finally rewarded with the first of their five children. When it rains, it pours! Margaret and Don always lived on a very tight budget, but Margaret or Marg, as Don affectionately called her, was always able to make something out of nothing. She was a fantastic cook and a guest was always welcome at her table, although sometimes with the whispered admonition, “F.H.B. (family hold back!). Margaret loved words, could quote poetry she learned as a child, and was an avid crossword puzzle fan. Many are the nights she would be sitting at the dining room table working the puzzle, waiting for a child or two to come in, while Don worked the night shift as a printing pressman. Margaret and Don took their first real vacation in the winter of 1975 to Las Vegas and Phoenix to visit their two daughters. Margaret kept a diary of their trip, a hilarious commentary on their adventures on the road. Margaret’s first love was always her family, but she also had many friends, some from her childhood days. She was a trusted confidant for many people – if you told her a secret, it would go with her to the grave, as her Aunt Helen used to say. She was a woman of incomparable strength, uncompromising values, full of love and compassion and laughter.

MARRIED: September 17, 1938; Margaret Mary Foley

CHILDREN: Mary Ann (b. 1949), Ellen (b. 1951), Kenneth (b. 1953), Edward (b. 1955), Martha (b. 1956)

March 24, 1921); Mildred Fay Norris (b. May 28, 1923 stillborn)

Donald was born November 8, 1908 to George Emory Norris and Lucy Edith Learned in Millfield Ohio in the southern part of the state. Donald was the second oldest child and the only boy after his brother Kenneth died as a child. Perhaps being the only male with four sisters influenced him, or perhaps it was his gentle nature, but Don was always a champion of the female gender, chivalrous, a true gentleman. He was an accomplished dancer and was always in demand as a partner. His mother, Lucy, had been a school teacher and she played the piano. From an early age, Don loved music. He learned to play the guitar beautifully and even played on the radio as a young man. Don had to quit school in the tenth grade to help support his family, but the lack of formal education didn't show in his articulate speech and beautiful manners. He suffered an accident when he was sixteen years old with an embossing machine at Central Table Manufacturing Company where he worked, and lost the fingers of his right hand back to the first knuckle. This put an end to playing tennis, which he loved and at which he excelled. He was still able to golf and play guitar, and taught himself to bowl left-handed.

When he met Margaret Mary Foley, it was true love. Even though she was ten years younger than he, and a Catholic while he was not, she was the one for him. He courted her for three years, converted to Catholicism, and married the love of his life. Don continued to work as a printer at Herr Printing and then National Graphics. In spite of his handicap, Don was adept at fixing things and enjoyed tinkering in his basement workshop.

He was also a shade-tree mechanic and enjoyed doing car repair work with his sons. Don lost his soul mate when Margaret died in 1978. Fourteen years later, he succumbed to leukemia on December 12, 1992 in Columbus, Ohio at the age of 84. His life was all about family and music. He fostered in all his children a love of music and love of working with wood and making things work. He will always be remembered for his gentle strength and kindness.

OCCUPATION: Patternmaker, Foundry Owner

MARRIAGE: Jane C. Schooley; November 27, 1948 by Rev. A. M. Quinlisk; Immaculate Conception Church, Auburn, Indiana

CHILDREN: Kathleen Jane b. February 4, 1950; Mary Margaret b. December 21, 1951; Ellen Elizabeth b. November 15, 1953; Stephen George b. June 23, 1955; Sheila John b. August 9, 1957; Sarah Ann b. May 25, 1959; Patricia Louise b. February 5, 1962; Carolyn Sue b. March 21, 1967

John Leo was the only son of George L. and Sarah C. Bailey Foley. He was four years old when the family moved from Bryan, Ohio to Auburn, Indiana. He attended grade school and high school in Auburn. During his high school years he worked at his father's pattern shop doing apprentice type work. When the United States became involved in World War II, all males were subject to the draft at age 18. After high school graduation he went to St. Joseph's College for two semesters before being called into the service. He was sent to the Air Force basic training facility at Miami Beach, Florida. From there, he was sent to Texas A & M College for further training. The next base was Brooks Field, Texas, near San Antonio where he remained for a year. He was then sent to Victoria Air Force Base for special training and then back to Brooks Field. After the atomic bombs were dropped over Japan in August of 1945 and the war was soon over. After the war was over, the Air Force training program was stopped. John remained at Brooks Field until November when he and his training group were sent to Randolph Field Texas and given honorary discharge. After a trip to Mexico, he returned to Auburn and went back to St. Joseph's College for the spring semester. Returning to Auburn for the summer, he again worked at his father's pattern shop. He returned to the fall of St. Joseph's College where he continued his education for another year. During the summer of 1946 he had met a vivacious red-haired lady named Jane C. Schooley. She was attending Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana which was only 50 miles from St. Joseph's College. John returned to Auburn after completing the spring semester in 1947 and went to work at the pattern shop full time.

John and Jane were married November 27, 1948 in Auburn. They built a new home in Auburn and lived there five years. John's father, George, became ill in 1950 and John took charge as general manager of G. L. Foley Pattern Company. That same year John and Jane welcomed their first child, Kathleen Jane who was born February 4, 1950. About this time, John became a member of the Auburn Junior Chamber of Commerce. In 1951, John became a partner with George at the pattern shop. On December 21, 1951 John and Jane welcomed their second daughter, Mary Margaret. In 1952, a new office was built on for Foley Pattern Company and the aluminum foundry division was added in 1953. A third daughter, Ellen Elizabeth joined the family on November 15, 1953. John was elected President of the Auburn Jaycees in 1953. They were busy years for the growing Foley family. The family also bought two old cottages at Adams Lake near LaGrange, Indiana for summer vacations. In the spring of 1954, they bought an old historic home in downtown Auburn and sold the small house on the south side of town. In 1955, their son, Stephen George was born. The pattern business was good and the factory grew. John was President, General Manager and Sales Manager during those growing years. In 1957, the family welcomed, daughter, Sheila John on August 9, 1957. Two years later, on May 25, 1959, daughter Sarah Ann joined the growing family. The pattern shop was incorporated in 1961 with G. L. as Chairman and John as President. Daughter Patricia Louise arrived on February 5, 1962 and daughter Carolyn Sue arrived on March 21, 1967.

John and a group of former Jaycees were asked to join a community effort to build a community swimming pool in 1964. He was elected Vice President of the Community Pool Association and served until 1968. The pool was built with community donations for $135,000.00. Due to the political distrust, the City of Auburn would not accept the pool into the city park system. In the fall of 1967, John was persuaded to run for City Councilman and was elected. As City Councilman, 2nd district, he was able to have the pool accepted into the city park system. John was also Park Commissioner and in charge of the park and pool facilities. He also served as Police and Fire Commissioner and was a member of the Auburn Board of Works. It was a very busy time. In 1971, John was elected Mayor of Auburn. He served as Mayor from 1972-1976. Some important things accomplished during that time included: street repaving, electric utility modernization, new water lines, new school sidewalks, the start of the west side commercial district, and the purchasing of new police and fire trucks. It was fun and exciting time for John. In 1974 the Auburn, Cord, Duesenberg Museum was started and John was on the Board of Directors. During this political time, the pattern shop was transferred from a tool shop into and aluminum foundry and machine shop. The pattern business had gradually been taken over by the aluminum foundry and that trend continues to the present.

After his service at City Hall, John returned to the pattern shop. He served as Parade Chairman of the local DeKalb County Fair Association from 1977-1987. He served on the Board of Directors of the local YMCA (1970-1988) and served as President of the YMCA from 1985-1987. In 1978 he was appointed a DeKalb County Aviation Commissioner. He served as Commission Secretary from 1979-2000. In 1977 he joined the Auburn, Cord, Duesenberg Festival Committee and served as Traffic Chairman from 1977-1985. In 1977 his son, Stephen George, had graduated from Indiana University and joined Foley Pattern Company, Inc. Daughter, Ellen joined the team in 1984. Daughter Patricia joined the staff in 1985 and worked as Quality Manager until 1993. The new management team brought a new vitality to the business and a program of equipment replacement was started. Computers became an integral part of the business and the methods used to make the tooling were radically changed. John retired as an active manager in 1991. Ellen was named President and Stephen was named Vice President of Manufacturing. This team has worked well together. In 1992 Foley Pattern was honored by receiving the Half Century Business Award from the State of Indiana.

In 1988, John and Jane built a new home on a wooded 8 ½ tract east of Auburn and currently live there. John is semi-retired, works at the factory part time and enjoys country living with Jane. He recently retired from the County Aviation Board, but still gets involved in small civic projects. He was awarded the Sagamore of the Wabash, one of the highest citizen awards given by the Governor in January 2000. All the children of John and Jane Foley have graduated from college, married well, and have presented them with fifteen grandchildren. They have been very fortunate.

Jane was the sixth child of Bob and Betty Schooley. She was the first red-headed child of her family. She has two red-headed younger brothers. From an early age she exhibited skills in schoolwork, music and communication. She worked during her high school years at a drug store and was planning on studying Pharmacy at Purdue University. She did attend Purdue University for one semester, but due to the unexpected death of her father, she was forced to withdraw from college.

With her marriage to John in 1948, her attentions turned to domestic chores. With the births of her children from 1950 through 1967, both Jane and John were kept busy. When their youngest child was old enough, Jane returned to college. She attended Indiana-Purdue University at Fort Wayne and graduated in 1980 with a B. S. in Psychology and Social Work. She went to work at Northeastern Mental Health Center in Kendallville, Indiana as an Administrative Assistant. In 1982, she returned to college to get her Master's degree in Social Work. She completed her degree at Indiana University - Indianapolis in 1984. Her next project was to start an area home for victims of domestic violence. She found a group of interested citizens and started Family Shelter, Inc. A home was purchased in Garrett, Indiana and remodeled to fit the needs of the shelter. She managed this facility until changes in state funding caused it to close. Jane then went into private practice under the name Foley Foundation and counseled victims of domestic violence. She was very successful with her counseling programs. During this period she also worked with other area counseling agencies. In 1985 she chose to retire and close up her counseling services. She now is busy managing her home and attending to her many duties as wife, mother and grandmother.

Governor declares Foley a Sagamore of the Wabash

By SHIRLEY GIFFORD

AUBURN — Former Auburn Mayor John Foley received two distinct honors at a special reception recently.

Foley said he wasn't altogether surprised when his friends and peers from the DeKalb County Board of Aviation Commissioners honored him upon his retirement after 22 years as the board's secretary.

But he never expected the other award.

From Gov. Frank O'Bannon came the coveted and prestigious Sagamore of the Wabash designation, given to only a handful of distinguished men and women from the Hoosier state.

According to a description from the governor's office, the term "Sagamore" originated with American Indians from the Northeastern part of the United States in describing a lesser chief or a great man among the tribe to whom the chief looked for wisdom and advice.

The Sagamore of the Wabash is now the highest award the governor of Indiana can bestow, and is a personal tribute to someone who has administered distinguished service to the state or the governor. Over the years, the appointment has been conferred on astronauts, presidents, ambassadors, artists, musicians, politicians and ordinary citizens.

Past Sagamore of the Wabash recipients from DeKalb County are Judge Harold Stump, Dean Kruse, Bob Wilder, Norman Gerig and John Martin Smith.

At Foley's reception in Kruse Auction Park, several friends and former coworkers "stood up and said some nice things about me," Foley said when describing the evening. He received a certificate from state Rep. Dennis Kruse congratulating him on his retirement and commending him for the impact he's made on his community.

Foley received a plaque from O'Bannon. He also received a special Sagamore of the Wabash lapel pin and a warm letter from the governor explaining that the pin was given so "that all may know that the great state of Indiana holds you in the highest esteem." Foley was commended for his "humanity in living, loyalty in friendship, wisdom in council and inspiration in leadership."
